Retiring Old Glory

Tim Goodwin, a Boy Scout with Troop 85, makes retiring tattered flags his Eagle project

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

I've been waiting for someone to step forward and take on this project," said Bill Oerly, a committee member for both Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, of the flag retirement ceremony held at Antioch VFW Post 4551 as part of Tim Goodwin's Eagle Scout project. "For three years, since I was the commander of the VFW, I've been wanting to see this happen," Oerly added. "Tim was finally the right person to come along and take on this project."

Goodwin, a Boy Scout with Fox Lake Troop 85, had fulfilled all the requirements to become an Eagle

Scout when he was 12 years old, but decided he wasn't ready. Now 14 years old, he said, "This is a really big thing, and it was a little bit overwhelming to think about two years ago."

He orchestrated a daylong event in which about 275 flags were properly retired, fifteen flags per ceremony over five fires.

"We had 202 flags at the beginning of the day," said Goodwin. "People brought in another 40-45 today, and we retired 21 miscellaneous POW-MIA flags." Some of the flags were 48-star flags.

Goodwin, himself, was there to help those participating in a retire-

Judge allows neighbors to intervene in proceedings

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Judge Margaret Mullen ruled that a group of homeowners whose property neighbors the site of the proposed Neumann Homes development should be allowed to intervene in the proceedings to determine, in part, the legality of the 1992 "Settlement Agreement."

The developer petitioned for a summary judgement about the legality of this document, as it is the basis for densities sought. Neumann Homes has submitted three different proposals each seeking upwards of 1,200 homes on 634 acres.

Since Neumann Homes first petitioned to develop the land owned by the Anest brothers, this agreement, drawn up between the village and the Anests to prevent the de-annexation of the property, has come under question. Residents charge that this agreement broke village ordinance, as public hearings were unpublished, and that this action nullifies the agreement.

Newton Finn, attorney for the homeowners, said the case of the homeowners is two fold: whether

Village approves $12.5 million budget

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

One month into fiscal year 2002-03, the Village of Antioch approved a $12.5 million budget.

"This is the best budget we've ever had," defended Mayor Taso Maravelas when trustees Barbara Porch and Dorothy Larson asked that the vote be postponed so that the two could further review the budget.

"We're not criticizing," said Larson. "We just got this, and want to have a little more time to look it over."

Administrator Mike Haley explained that when the money for projects coming from other sources than the regular revenues received by the village, the budget is actually less than last year's budget.

"When you subtract off the $1.5 million EPA loan, the $400,000 motor fuel tax for road repair, the $245,000 from the senior fund and the $100,000 for the skate park, we're under where we were last year (by nearly $500,000)," he said. "That's even with budgeting in $900,000 for legal fees for the Deercrest and Neumann Homes lawsuits."

Haley said there would be no money in the budget for new vehicles or anything seen as non-essential.

"I had to cut 8 percent across the board so expenditures would equal revenues," he said. "Then when I thought about what we might need for legal fees, I cut vehicles, non-essential training and things like travel in order to balance the budget."

Though Porch and Larson still protested voting, not on the merits of the budget but because they hadn't had a chance to read through it thoroughly, Haley stressed the importance of approving the budget.

"We need this approved," he said. "We're at the end of the first

Sheriff's Dept. schedules safety check

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

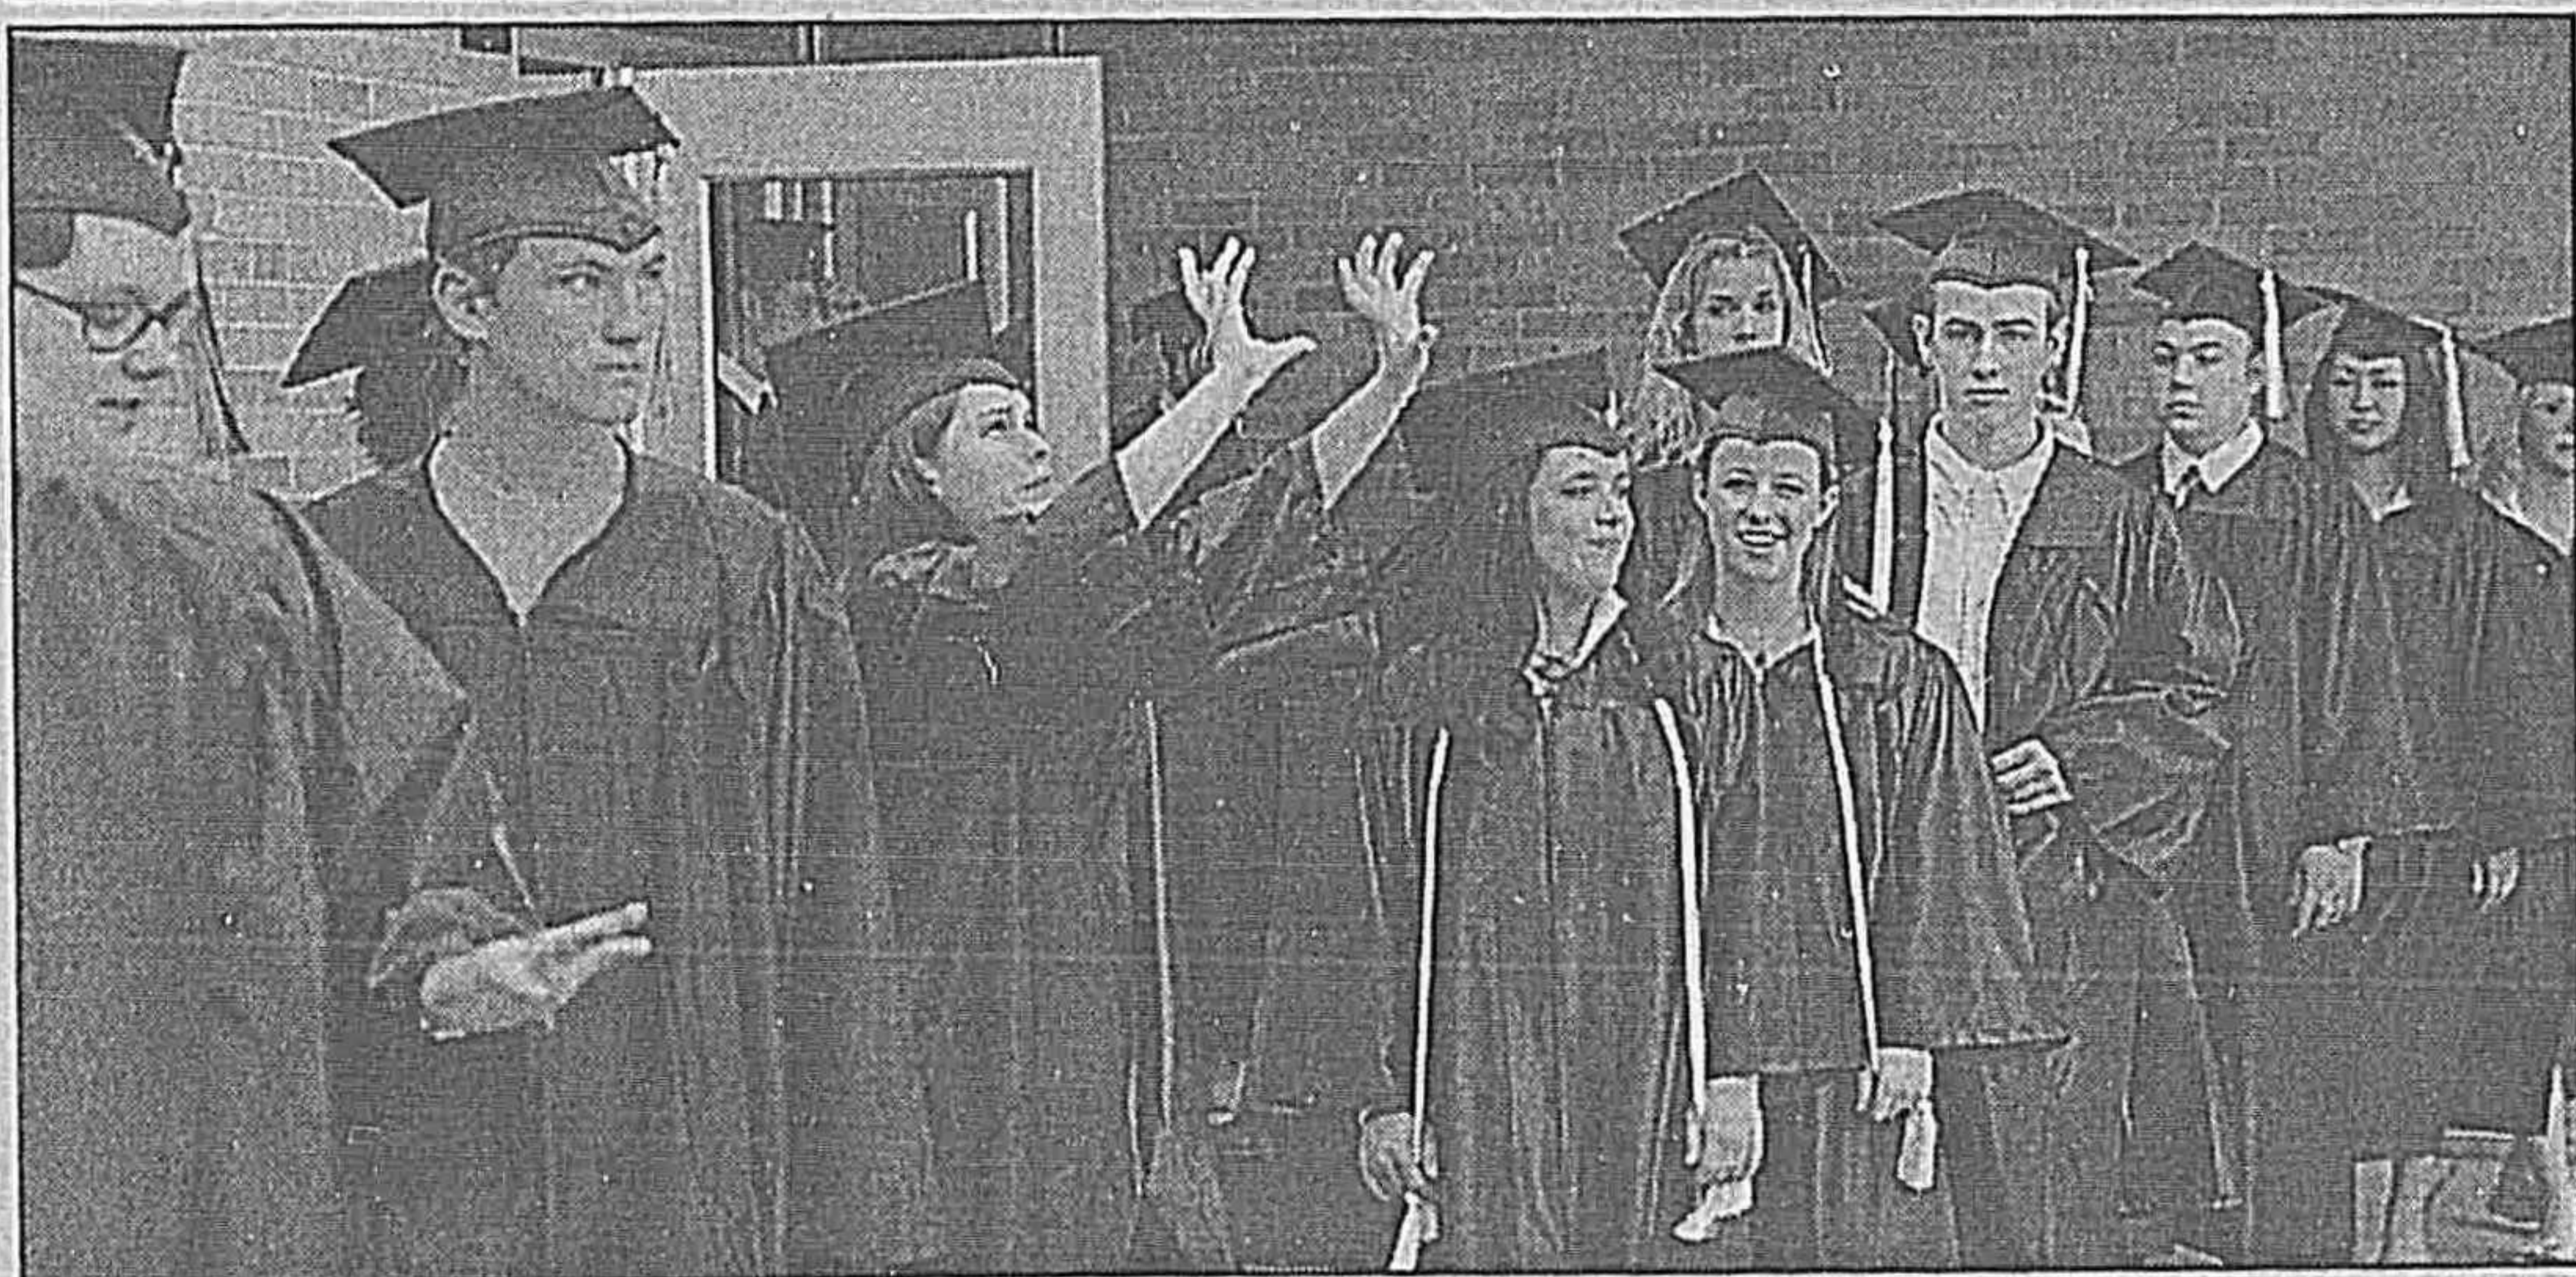

For those driving around Antioch Township between 8 p.m. on June 8 and 1 a.m. on June 9, special care should be taken to avoid "risk taking behaviors." The Lake County Sheriff's Dept., working in conjunction with the Illinois State Police, will be stopping vehicles for obvious violations as well as making random stops as part of a roadside safety check program.

"Education and enforcement is the two-pronged focus of the roadside safety check," said Chief Fred Heidecke. "There's no trickery involved and this is to be done with a sense of fair play, but drivers should be prepared to suffer the consequences if violations are found."

According to Sheriff Gary Del Re, officers working the roadside safety check will be watchful for motorists who are operating unsafe vehicles, driving with suspended or revoked driver's licenses, driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol or who are in violation of the seat belt and child passenger restraint laws.

"This is a safety motivated program," said Heidecke. "With the good weather, there is an increase in traffic and alcohol consumption. Drivers should be especially vigilant to avoid unsafe driving behaviors."

Heidecke also made an appeal

Vehicle code brings revenue to village

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The cash-strapped Village of Antioch approved an ordinance adopting the Illinois Vehicle Code, an action that will bring additional revenues to the municipality.

"All violations (DUI, speeding, etc.) will be municipal violations," explained attorney Donald Anderson. "The fines for these violations will then go to the Village of Antioch and not the State (of Illinois)."

Though the code has been in effect for years, Antioch hadn't previously adopted it. Revenues will be collected for any violation occurring within village jurisdiction.

When Trustee Barbara Porch asked why the village wasn't doing this 10 years ago, Mayor Taso Maravelas laughingly said, "Come on. We're the new kids on the block."

Clean up day June 15

The Village of Antioch has reinstated "Clean Up Day" and scheduled it for Saturday, June 15.

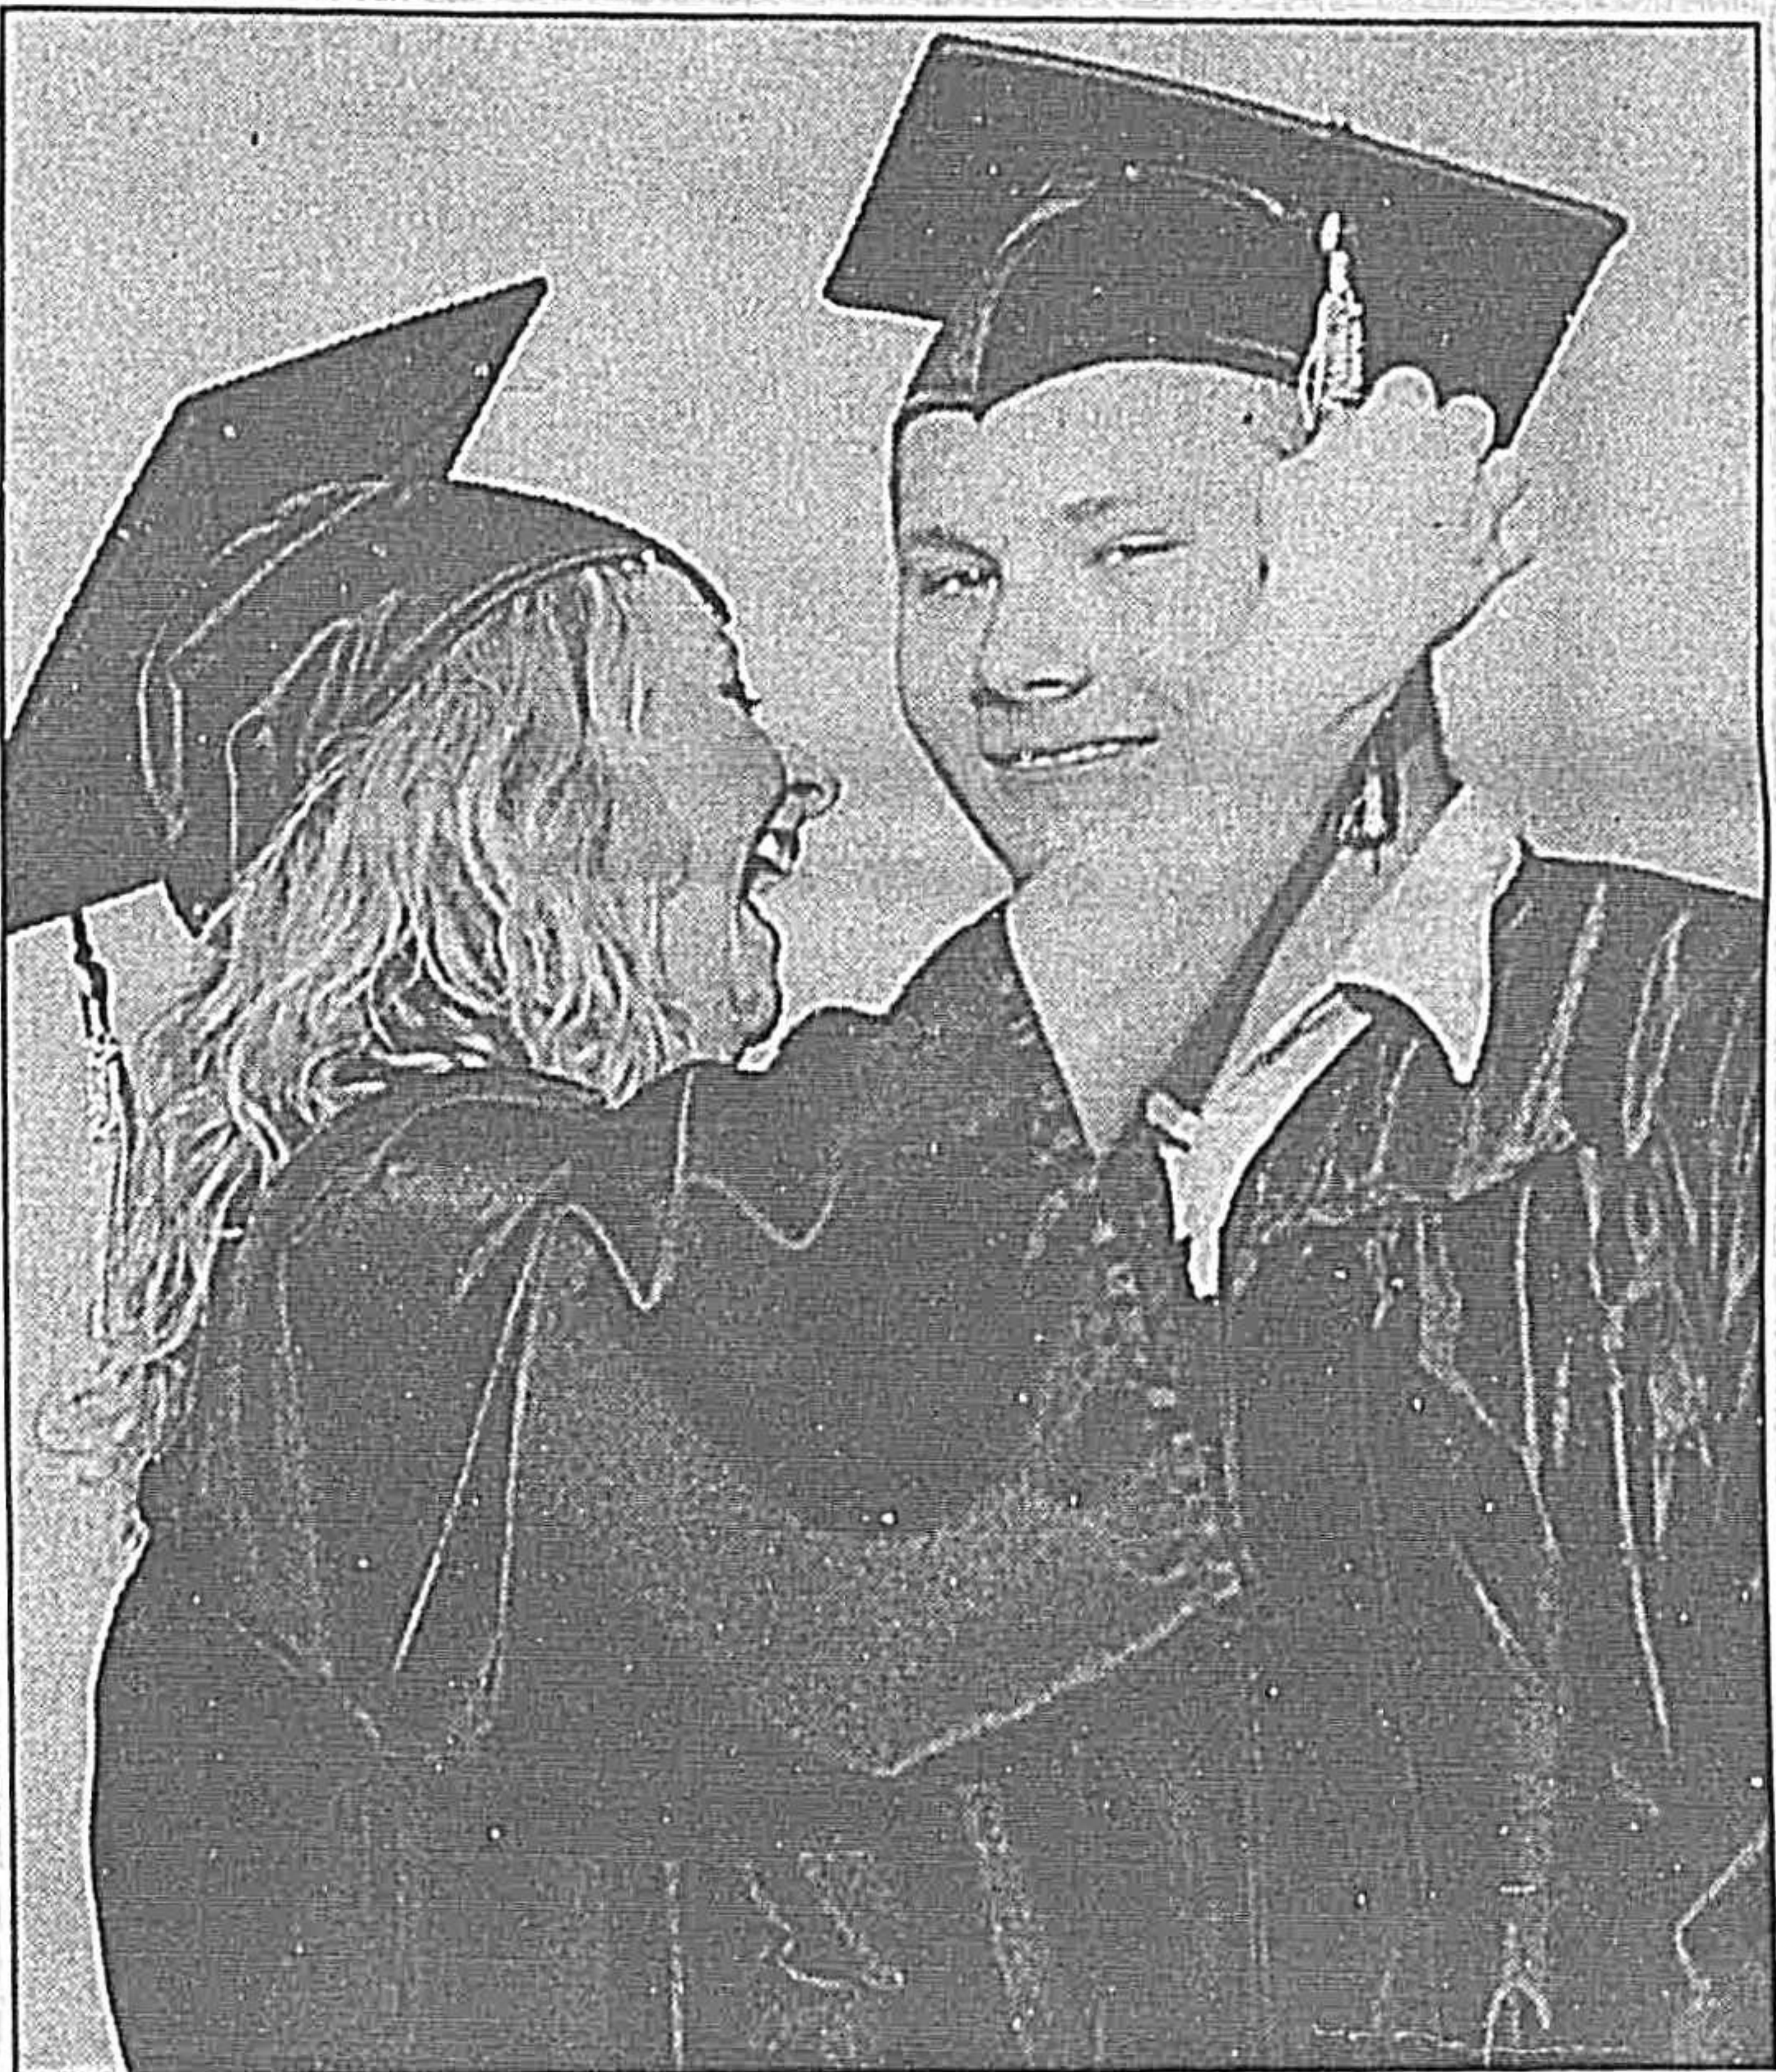

Items must be ready for pick up by 6 a.m. No return trips will be made.

The following items will not be accepted: heavy, large motor vehicle parts, tanks, barrels, tires, building debris such as drywall, lumber, trees, large limbs or branches, yard waste, and appliances. Other items that will not be picked up include construction site refuse, refuse generated by commercial or industrial activity, paint, paint residues, oil or solvents.

Additionally, waste should be dry and nothing over 4 feet long.

For more information, call Waste Management at 847-395-2020.

Counseling services for co-habiting couples

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

"It's a tragedy what's happening to the institution of marriage in this country and the high divorce rate," said Rev. Wayne Landgrebe of the Antioch Pastoral Counseling Center. To address the needs of those most vulnerable to divorce, the center is offering special counseling for cohabiting couples.

"Studies have shown that the divorce rate is 10 percent higher than the already staggering average of 60 percent divorce rate after five years for those who have lived together," explained Landgrebe. "The chances of a successful marriage dramatically increases with premarital counseling."

With 41 years in the ministry and 21 years as a psychotherapist, Landgrebe said he has a strong program for pre-marital counseling. He is using an inventory, or test, created by the University of Minnesota to aid in helping couples pinpoint their strengths, potential problem areas and current problem areas.

"Most couples don't know what their (relationship) strengths are," he said. "These get ignored because they don't see them as their strengths. These areas aren't fostered."

According to Landgrebe, understanding these assessed areas helps the couple gain tools to improve their relationship.

The Antioch Pastoral Counseling Center is currently offering a free initial visit with no obligation. For more information, call Landgrebe at 847-863-4474.

VFW Post honors vets, flag, heroes

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

As every year, the Ladies Auxiliary of Antioch VFW Post 4551 handed out poppies to those who came for the Memorial Day ceremony. The difference this year was that those poppies had black tags instead of white and read, "Sept. 11, 2001. We remember."

"These are special poppies that were made up just for Memorial Day. We aren't taking donations for these poppies," said Carolyn Gatz, president of the 5th Dist. Ladies Auxiliary.

Many of the prayers and presentations by the VFW Post, Ladies Auxiliary, American Legion and the different levels of both Girl and Boy Scouts focused on the flag as well as veterans and the heroes of Sept. 11.

Members of the Gantz family, all involved in Scouting, Travis, 7; Marissa, 9; and father Duane took turns at the microphone reciting favorite patriotic poems and added insight into a pledge often recited without additional thought. As Travis recited the Pledge line by line, his father explained that it represents that our country is "A land forged by the hot steel of raw courage. A man in pursuit of an honest life will not be denied opportunity and that the doors are open to all."

Marissa recited "In Flander's Fields" by John McCrae that tells about the significance of the poppy. "We are the Dead. Short days ago. We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow. Loved, and were loved, and now we lie in Flander's fields," she said.

Junior vice commander of the VFW, Bob Lindblad also paid special tribute to the flag. "It retains strength and character through our loyalty," he said. He said the flag holds special significance to members of the VFW who "carried Stars and Stripes into foreign lands."

Former post commander, Bill Oerly, said, "We are honoring the deceased vets as well as those who are at war now."

New post commander Glen Rappanos thanked Oerly for getting him involved in the VFW. "I'm younger than many of the vets you see here. I've only been part of the post for the past year. I didn't understand the importance of it before."

Rappanos added that the VFW would continue to grow strong with younger vets from Desert Storm as well as those who are fighting now.

Lindblad expressed the sentiments of many: "Thank God we are Americans."

Main St. Custard celebrates year of treats

If anyone has missed trying the frozen custard at Main St. Custard House, now is the time to give it a try.

On June 15, the business will celebrate its first year with special deals on custard, sandwiches and coffee (Novel Coffee was incorporated into the business).

K.C. Dieck, owner of the shop, learned the method used to create a product touted "best in the Midwest." She learned the methods of Leon's in Milwaukee and now makes up her own creations and combinations, a different one featured each day of the month in addition to vanilla and chocolate.

With the addition of coffee and coffee specialty drinks, the hours have been expanded to include early morning hours. Summer hours are 6 a.m.-10 p.m., 11 p.m. on weekends.

In honor of Antioch

Community High School across the street from the custard shop, Dieck renamed what is Leon's version of the banana split the Sequoit Split. "In Milwaukee, a banana split has marshmallow and strawberry on it. Since it stays with the school's red and white colors, I renamed it," said Dieck. "We still serve a regular banana split here."

Other specialty sundaes include the turtle sundae, s'mores sundae and brownie sundae delight in addition to cups, cones, root beer floats and "thick as a brick" shakes. For those looking for something with more substance, a variety of hot dogs, barbecue beef and chicken, Italian beef and chips are served.

Members of Antioch Community High School's JILG (Jobs for Illinois Graduates) classes held a successful bake sale at the State Bank of The Lakes to help pay for an end of the year event to celebrate the accomplishments made as a class. The class raised over $2,500 for charity and donated over 300 service hours.

The class newsletter said, "This year's sale was a success due to the generosity of the community and the support of the bank personnel."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Tack evidence

Some people in Antioch area absolutely right—we do not need Wal-Mart. Let me take you on a shopping trip that I did today.

An Antioch True Value after looking at their selection, I bought two boxes of white thumbtacks, 40 tacks per box at 89 cents a box.

Next stop was Piggly Wiggly. After picking up some mustard, I passed the school supply section. They also had thumbtacks, white, 40 per box, 49 cents a box. I bought two more boxes.

Curiosity got the best of me, and Antioch Ace Hardware was called. Their price for 40 white is 99 cents. A call to Wal Mart in Round Lake was made. They are selling white thumbtacks, 80 to a package for 79 cents.

I wish I had waited till the weekend to buy my tacks. One, I could have saved money by buying my tacks at Wal Mart and two I wouldn't be upset with the two hardware stores in town for their high prices. If the mark up is so great on an item so small, what happens when I need a more expensive item? And will I find it in Antioch?

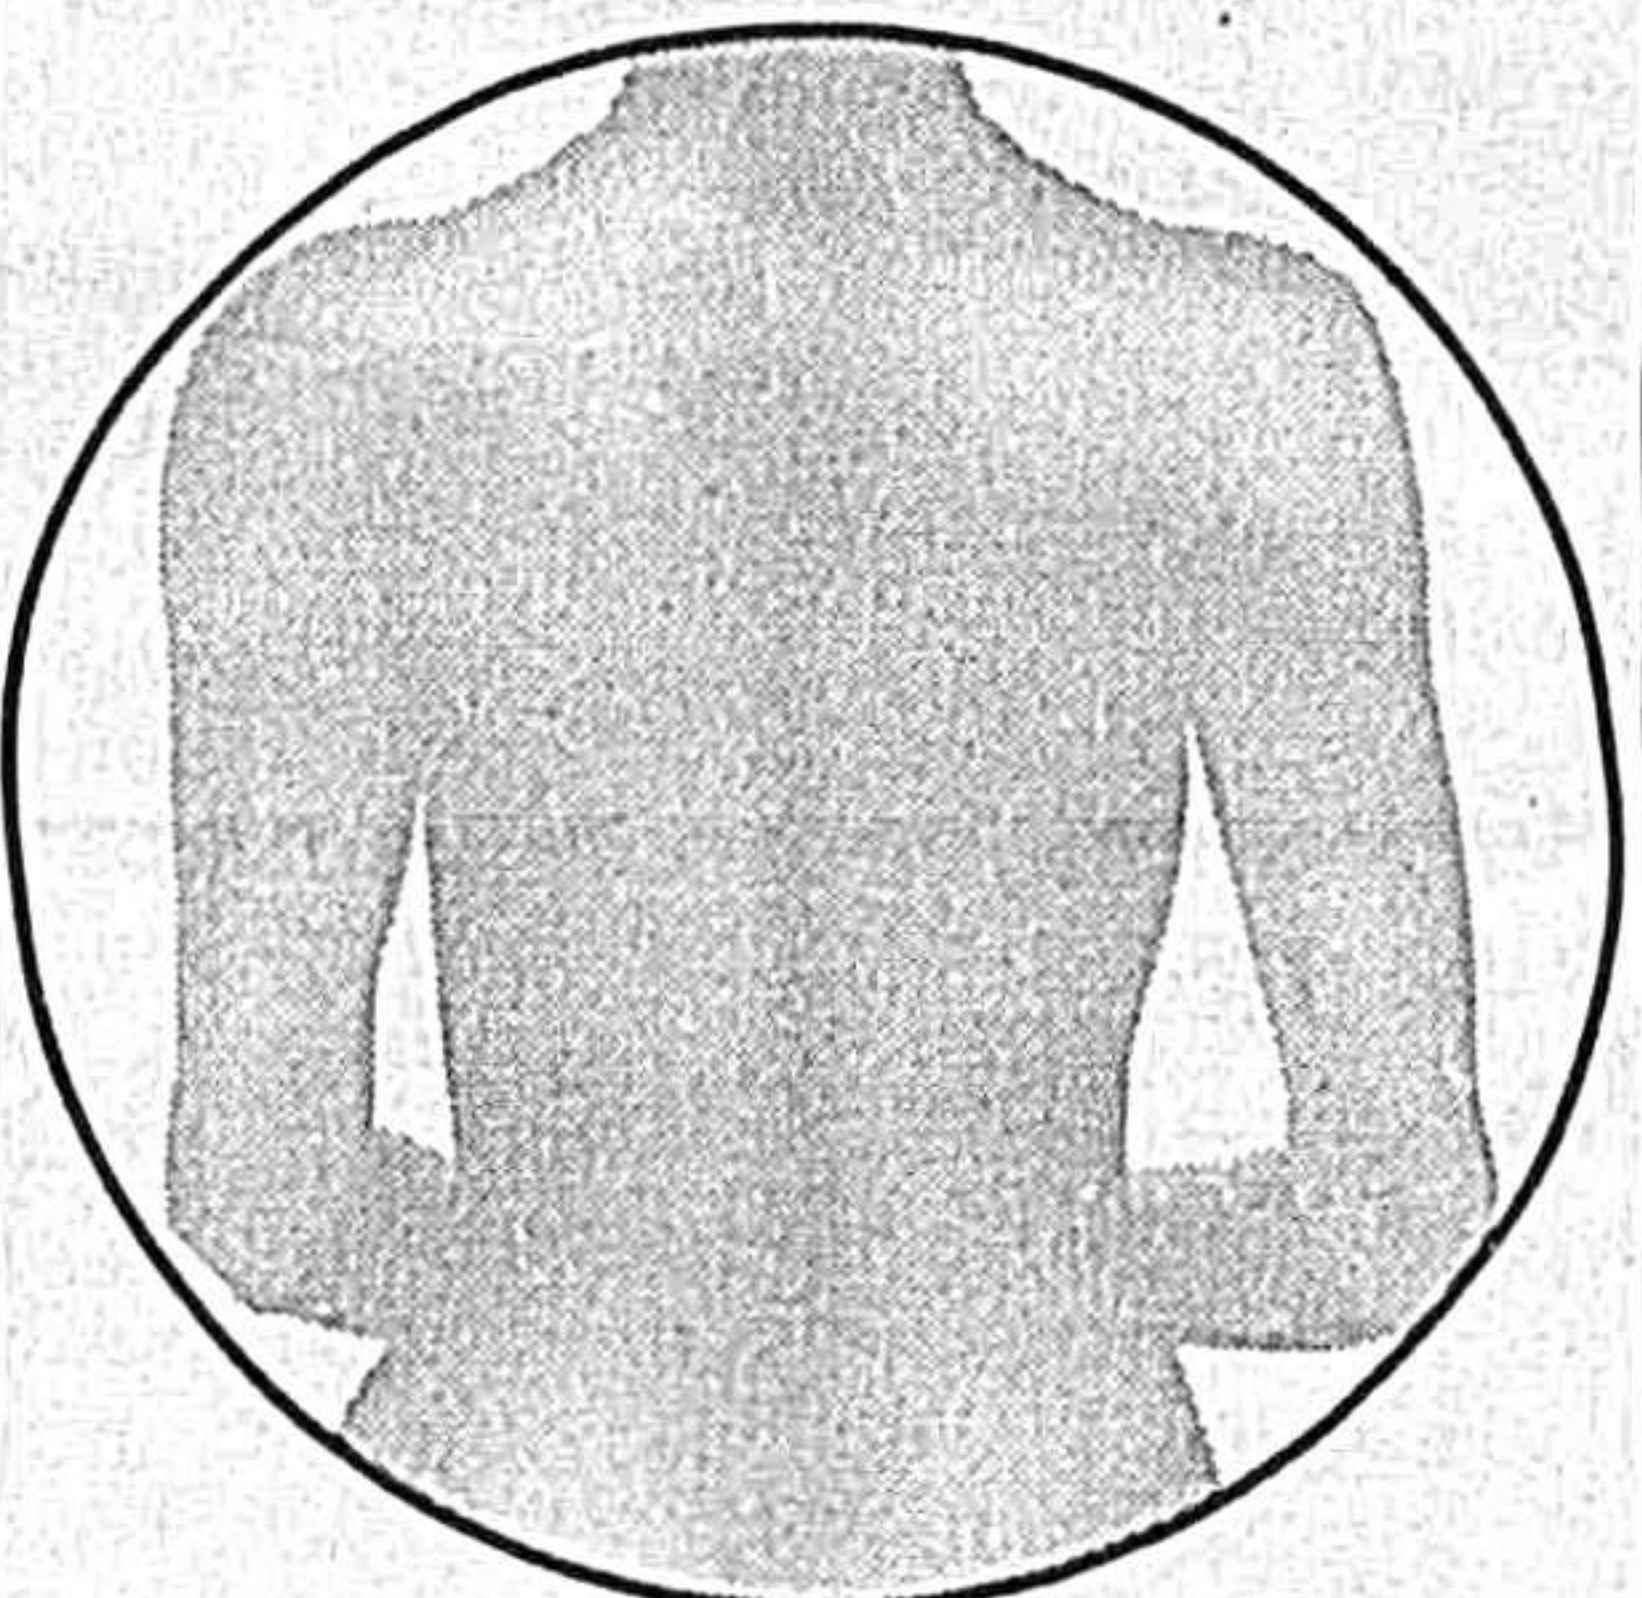

We need a Wal Mart in Antioch for the average employed person in town. I would like to keep my money in Antioch, but like in weeks past, I will be going to Round Lake or Gurnee over the weekend and shopping there.

Chorus guest drive begins

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Women are invited to sing along with the Westosha Lakes Chorus, a chapter of Sweet Adelines International. The guest drive begins on June 6 from 7-9:30 p.m. at the Christ Lutheran Church in Paddock Lake, Wis. and will continue on with subsequent Thursday night meetings at the same time.

"Absolutely any woman who likes to sing is welcome to come join us," said Debra Maki, one of the founding members.

The Westosha group began with five members and has since grown to 30 members. "We do a lot of community singing engagements," said Maki of the group that often breaks into smaller quartets or mother/daughter combinations.

The chorus got its start a little over a year ago and is eager to continue to grow and share the Barbershop art form with other women. Preparation for the fall cabaret is now beginning.

Maki said the group sings in a variety of different styles including straight barbershop, contemporary, country/western and patriotic songs. Polly Merrill directs the chorus and brings years of Sweet Adeline experience to the rehearsals.

Christ Lutheran Church is located near the intersection of Highway 50 and Rte. 83.

For more information, call Maki at 262-279-5767 or Polly Merrill at 262-862-6020. For an Illinois exchange, call Dede Umland at 847-356-8356.

ment ceremony for the first time while his brother Danny did most of the official "calling" during the ceremony.

Don Goodwin, Tim's father and Scout Master, read appropriate passages during the ceremony while Tammy, Tim's mother, ran the event's registration.

One person Tim assisted with the ceremony was Village of Antioch Trustee Dorothy Larson. "I brought a couple of flags and was able to help with one of the ceremonies," she said. "It was one of the most moving things I've ever been a part of. The scouts did a really wonderful job."

Tim explained the procedure for properly retiring a flag. "There are several different retirement ceremonies that can be used, but there are certain things that have to be done. With an American flag, you have to cut out the field (stars) and place it on the fire to burn first, and then you burn the stripes."

As part of his 100-hour project, Tim researched the flag and proper retirement procedures and created a book "Our American Flag" (39 pages) that was given to those who attended the event.

The poem he selected for the opening page "I Am the Flag of the United States of America" expressed why a flag deserves respect when retired. "...I stand for peace, honor, truth and justice. I stand for freedom. I am confident. I am arrogant. I am proud..."

In addition to poems and the lyrics of several patriotic songs, Tim compiled information about Flag Day, created a timeline with various "flag facts," provided information about the history and meaning of the "Pledge of Allegiance," and directions for the proper care, display and folding of the flag.

Tim's official Eagle ceremony should take place this fall. "With luck, we'll be able to have it here at the VFW Hall for him," said Oerly.

"I really want to thank my parents for all of their support and Mr. Oerly, who did so much to help me," said Tim.

JUDGE

the settlement agreement is valid, and whether annexation requires the land to be developed as per the Comprehensive Plan.

He said, "We are going for more than the legality of the Settlement Agreement. We are also challenging the annexation of the property."

"The annexation agreement says that the property is to be developed in conformance with the Comprehensive Plan. The Comprehensive Plan says one-acre lots in that area. As I read it, it means that the property should be developed with a maximum 634 homes."

The hearing for the summary judgement is scheduled for June 13.

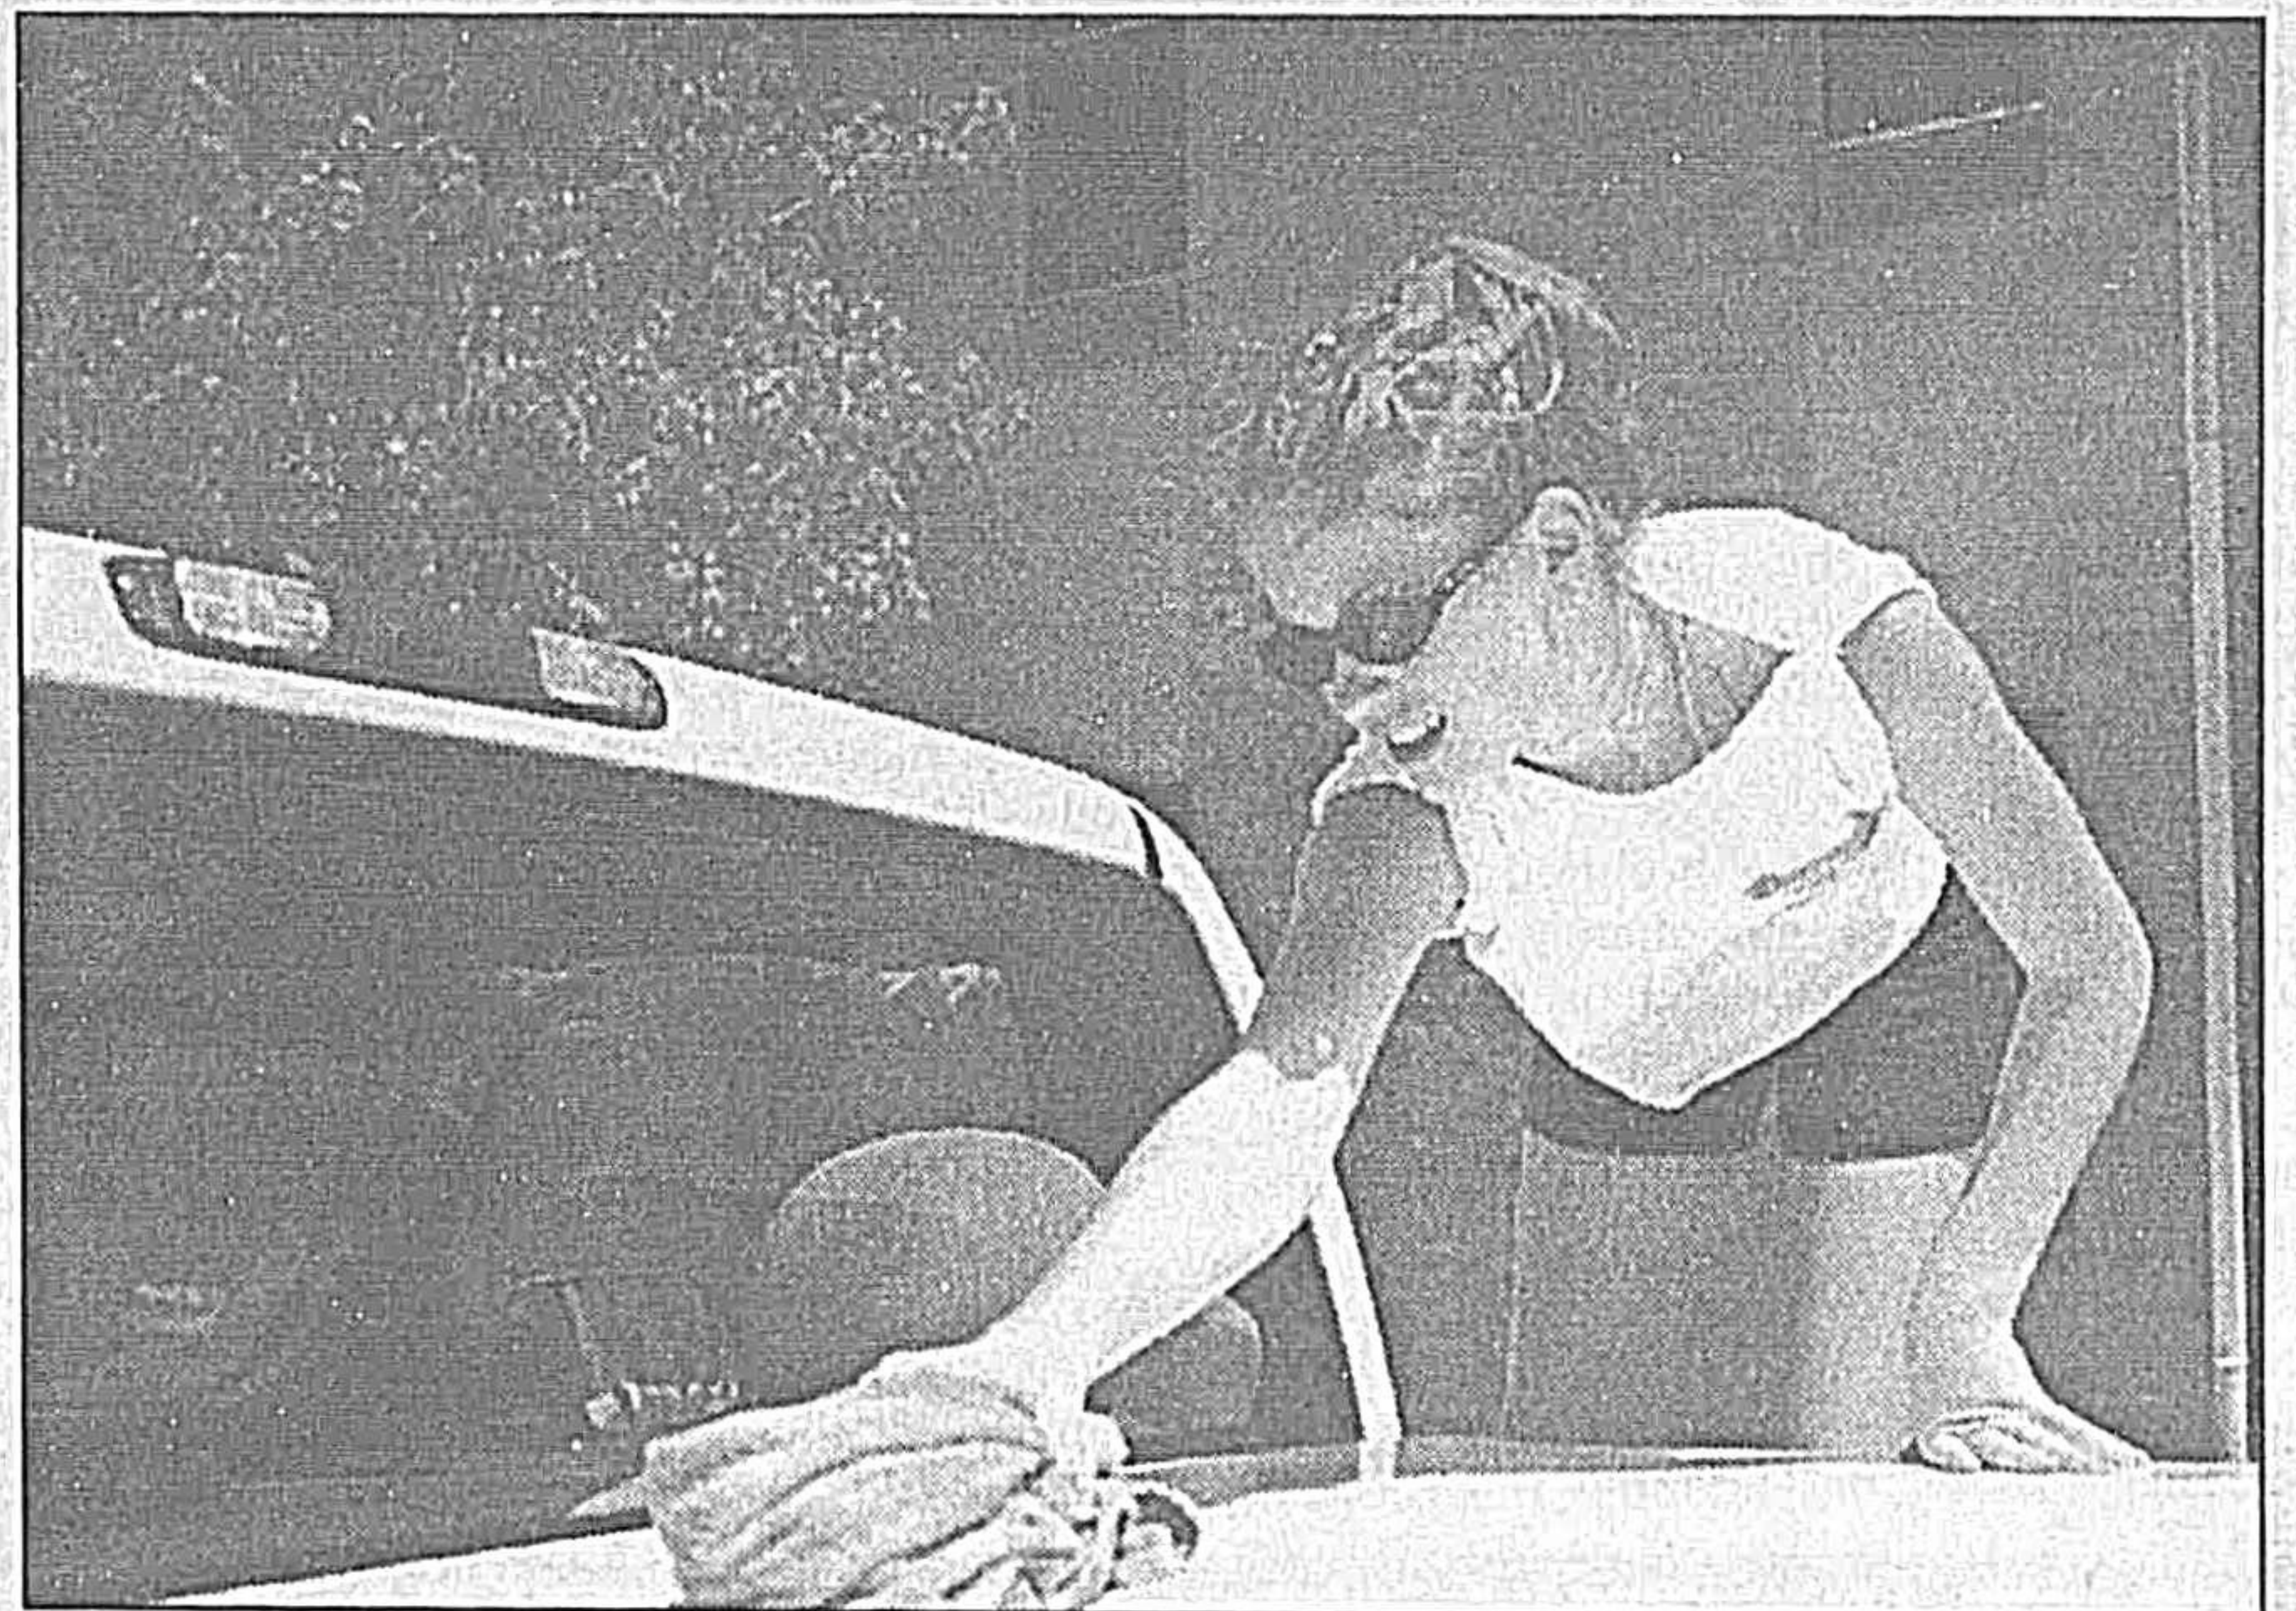

"At this time, the judge will be able to either dismiss the whole thing or decide in favor of one side or the other," said Finn.

SAFETY

to common sense when dealing with children, animals and anyone dependent on a caregiver for transportation.

"Children should never, ever be left in a car unattended whether it's running or not," he said. "Too many things can happen. Beyond that, people need to be aware of how the interior of a car can get, and how quickly this can happen. It can be life threatening for an animal left inside."

The roadside safety check is part of a continuing effort by all law enforcement agencies in Lake County to keep the roadways safe. Funding is provided by a grant from the United States Dept. of Transportation and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

Firemen hope residents use big address numbers on homes

It could happen any time of the night.

You are awakened by your spouse who is complaining of chest pains and shortness of breath. A call to 911 summons the paramedics. The 911 dispatcher's voice is calming, and reassures you that help is on the way.

But once in the neighborhood, firemen or paramedics cannot immediately locate your house due to hard-to-read or non-existent house numbers.

This situation happens too frequently, and Fox Lake Fire Department is taking measures to reduce it.

"Sometimes, people do not have numbers on their houses at all," said Lt. Rich Good of the Fox Lake Fire Department.

Lake County has adopted the B.O.C.A.

(Building Officials Code Administration) requirements for house numbers. They must be a minimum of four inches high, reflective, and cannot be in written form. This is because a number such as forty One Zzero Seventy Eight is harder to read than 41078. Fire officials state that placement of these numbers on your home can help insure a quick response, and peace of mind.

"House numbers can be obtained at any hardware store. Prices vary depending on type, and material, but can a price placed on someone's life," Good said.

The Fox Lake Fire Department staff may be reached at 847-587-3312. Questions regarding public safety, education, first aid, and CPR classes may be directed to Good.

High school raises money for cancer

Nearly $1,000 was raised at a fundraising concert held at Antioch Community High School (ACHS), sponsored by the National Honor Society (NHS), for the benefit of the American Cancer Society.

"Thanks to the efforts of Alex Whitaker and Frank Vanderwall, the auditorium at ACHS rocked with students and families," said advisor Pam Pleviak. "The efforts of all NHS members resulted in the chapter raising over $8,000 for the American Cancer Society this year."

Ben Korom, NHS president added, "The concert was great fun, and sure did end our year on a high note."

LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS

June 7-13, 2002

Another show comes to an end. The band members look at each other knowing that the people listening were moved or inspired in one way or another.

Fact is, the Lake County alternative hard rock group LyZ has inspired many listeners over the last eight years.

"But tonight they were really on—they sounded tight and were as sharp as I've ever seen them," said manager Jim Edwards of Kenosha shortly after a show at Annie's Second Chance in Spring Grove over Memorial Day weekend. That's where LyZ joined forces with Kanker, Pete Berwick and The Renegades, and Ether to help raise money for a local woman battling cancer.

Edwards and Christine Finnigan, also of Kenosha, are painting contractors that have been in charge of managerial duties and booking the shows for LyZ the last two years.

According to both, it was the sound just like at Annie's that initially drew them to the band.

"I was out watching them play and just latched on," said Finnigan. "They're powerful and give you much more than just music. They really reach out to the audience."

Those audiences have covered mostly Lake and McHenry counties with an occasional visit to the Kenosha area. Summer bashes and parties, and local taverns and eateries mostly make up the band's year-round schedule. One of their biggest venues to date has been a couple of visits to the legendary Brat Stop in Kenosha, which included a stop last summer for The Battle of the Bands.

Lead singer Eugene LaFlamme of Antioch joined the band three years ago and has been around for 17 benefits. Overall, LyZ has played over 30 benefits since the group formed.

"The benefits really touch you because you know you're helping someone," said LaFlamme, a lead singer most of his music career.

In most cases, it was the right place, right time that led to LaFlamme joining the group.

"I was playing a reunion (with former band Swift Kick) and Russell Shook approached me. They were looking for a lead singer and wanted me to audition," he said. "LyZ was starting to play original music and that's what I really liked."

It was the Shook brothers, Russell, Stan and Brian, who were responsible for LyZ's entry to the music scene. Russell has since left the group while Stan and Brian Shook remain. Brian writes most of the lyrics and plays bass while Stan shares lead guitar duties with James Conner of Antioch. Conner played with the groups Roxx and Simple Sunday before joining LyZ just over a year ago.

"I had known Eugene since we were kids," said Conner, also of Antioch. "They (LyZ) were looking for a lead singer and he (Eugene) knew I was a decent musician."

Conner's theatrical and sometimes acrobatic antics on stage are just one of the features LyZ displays in providing the best in live entertainment.

Meanwhile LaFlamme frequently walks rails and visits the crowds while Conner and Brian Shook complement each other beautifully on the lead guitars.

"I think we have a lot of power in the rhythm section—it really moves you," said Brian Shook, who resides in Genoa City, Wis. Stan and Brian actually didn't play together for some time because of their different styles.

Pronounced 'lies,' Lake County band has sights on 'big stage'

"The dynamics now are terrific. We all work together and have the same common goal in mind—creating an ambience that will touch everyone in the audience."

And if you're looking for another source of energy, LyZ has one of the best drummers around in Round Lake's Devin Ferrall. Again, right time, right place. LaFlamme saw Ferrall playing at an open jam a couple of years ago and really liked what he heard.

"I used to play with Eugene and LyZ was looking for a drummer, so it was a good fit," said Ferrall, whose travels have included stints with southern rock group Zero Tolerance, XES and local band Dirty Looks.

"I really like the chemistry of the band. Everyone is doing their own part and their doing it well. Brian's writing allows us to put the pieces together. The choreography is excellent too with our rhythm section."

LyZ released its first CD, Open House, a couple of years ago. A second CD is in the works. While at Annie's over Memorial Day, demo CDs for the upcoming album were available.

LyZ has several cuts that could be labeled 'signature' songs. The band opens its shows with "Bad Situation," an upbeat piece that grabs the audience right off the bat. About 80 percent of the group's material is original.

"We also do a few cover songs, like the song 'One' by Creed," said LaFlamme. "It's a popular song that a lot of our listeners can identify with. And it's always cool to look out and see them singing along."

LyZ plays plenty of its own in-your-face, smashmouth songs like "Zaire," "Forget About It," and "Monster."

But the band has somewhat of a gentle side as well.

"The song 'Abuse' is slower cut that relates to all of the abuse that goes on in the world," said Brian Shook.

LyZ's epic song is definitely "In The End," a song about breaking up with a past loved one.

LaFlamme also writes a song or two here and there. His latest is titled "Bittersweet," which will be on the new CD.

Father's Day Events

Museum free to all dads on Father's Day

If ties are a bit tired and cologne a bit cliched, try treating your father to something different this Father's Day and take him to the Milwaukee Public Museum, 800 W. Wells St. in Milwaukee, Wis.

All fathers receive free admission to the Museum on Father's Day with the paid admission of a child ($4.50).

On June 16, fathers can stand face-to-face with two life-sized Dromaeosaurs in "Exploring Life on Earth," mingle with a blue Morpho butterfly in the Puelicher Butterfly Wing, walk the "Streets of Old Milwaukee" or experience an authentic tropical atmosphere in "Rain Forest."

For more information on Museum activities, call the Events Line at 414-278-2702.

Museum admission is $6.75 for adults (18-59); $5.50 for seniors (60-plus); and $4.50 for children (4-17). Museum hours are 9 a.m.-5 p.m. daily.

Volo Museum offers special Father's Day event

On Father's Day, June 16, Volo Auto Museum unveils the rarest Shelby ever made — the million dollar '67 Shelby GT-500 Convertible Prototype.

The event

This dramatic event marks the first time in its 35-year history this awesome car has been seen by the public. Greg Grams, managing director of the Volo Auto Museum, describes the Father's Day event, "This fabulous car is emerging from a time capsule. Never seen, never photographed, this unique icon of muscle car history is going to be revealed to the public, and to our Shelby-driving guests, for the first time ever. It's going to be an awesome day—and a Father's Day my sons and I will never forget."

The $1,000,000 Shelby

This one-of-a-kind GT-500 convertible, the rarest Shelby ever built, has a 428-cubic inch Cobra Jet engine with dual quads, putting out 410 horsepower. The only convertible prototype, it sports an automatic transmission, candy-apple red finish, black interior, white convertible top and air conditioning.

The mystery history

This Shelby prototype, serial #67413C9A00139, was ordered in August 18, 1966. It was delivered to Shelby American along with the coupe affectionately known as "Little Red," a car that was publicized to the max.

Our "mystery" Shelby GT-500 convertible was not photographed, not publicized and, most interesting, not destroyed in the crusher after six months as per Ford's policy. Informed sources maintain it became Carroll Shelby's personal rapid transit.

In February of 1968, disguised by refitting to '68 trim specs, it was sold into obscurity. After extensive research, we have returned the car to its original prototype state. And it will go on permanent display in the Volo Auto Museum. Yet, as Grams puts it, "This unveiling day is going to be a party, a celebration of the discovery of one of history's most unique automobiles."

Volo Illinois Auto Museum is easy to find. From Chicago, take I-94 to Rte. 120 and go west 14 miles. From the north, take I-94 to Rte. 21 south, then west on Rte. 120 14 miles.

For further information, contact Greg Grams at 815-385-3644.

Colorful amphibian makes unique Father's Day gift

Don't delay. Leap into action and get your dad a special Father's Day gift from Brookfield Zoo — a Share the Care package from the zoo's Parents Program. This year's featured animal is the blue poison frog, a striking amphibian that takes an active part in parenting.

Although small in size (about two inches long), this species has a big heart when it comes to caring for its young. Unlike many other frog species, the male blue poison frog assists the female in tending to the small clutch of five to seven eggs and carrying the newly hatched tadpoles on its back.

Other adaptations that help with parenting include a skin that is sticky with mucus, which mainly helps to hold in moisture, but also aids tiny tadpoles that hold on tight when being carried. The toe pads also have the mucus that is very helpful in clinging to leaves and branches while transporting offspring safely from place to place. The most obvious adaptation of the blue poison frog is its bright coloration, which serves as a warning signal to predators to stay away because of the deadly poison secreted through its skin.

This particular species lives in the southern part of Suriname, South America, near streams or ponds. At Brookfield Zoo, visitors can view blue poison frogs in the Reptile House.

For your $45 contribution, which goes toward the care of Brookfield Zoo's blue poison frogs, your dad receives a silk tie with a subtle pattern of blue frogs on a green background, a 5-inch by 7-inch color photo of a blue poison frog, a personalized certificate, blue poison frog fact sheet, window decal, and an invitation to a special evening in August. (A $25 package excluding the tie is also available.) A card with your personal message can accompany the gift.

To order a blue poison frog Share the Care package for your dad this Father's Day, call Brookfield Zoo at 708-485-0263, ext. 341, or order on-line at www.BrookfieldZoo.org.

Brookfield Zoo is known throughout the world for its innovative, naturalistic, multi-species exhibits, its international role in animal population management and wildlife conservation and its devotion to helping people develop a sustainable and harmonious relationship with nature. The zoo is located off First Avenue between the Stevenson (I-55) and Eisenhower (I-290) expressways, just 14 miles west of downtown Chicago. The zoo is also accessible via the Tri-State Tollway (I-294), Metra commuter line, and PACE bus service.

LYZ

"That's a touching song about all of the homeless people in the world," he said.

Overall, the band is very diverse when it comes to its material.

Now, the only question is, will others pick up on it?

"The ultimate goal is to play at a big arena or festival somewhere," said Edwards. "In this business, it's a lot of not what you know, but who you know."

In addition to the booking efforts by Edwards and Finnigan, Red Eye Productions and Dan Stone from Blizzard Productions helps with getting the gigs for LYZ.

The band will play shows throughout the county for the next year before muscling its way into Wisconsin.

"We'd like to build a whole new following up in Wisconsin. There's a good audience up there, one I think we can really reach out to," said Brian Shook. "We're hoping to get a deal with a major recording company soon. Bottom line, though, is to sell music, wherever we play."

So far, there's plenty of support throughout the county where that's concerned.

Barbie, G.I. Joe at Discovery Museum

By LYNN GUNNARSON DAHLSTROM
Correspondent

When I was growing up and playing with Barbie dolls, my Barbie was never really interested in Ken.

Sure, the Ken doll my mom purchased for me was tan, blond, blue-eyed and smiling. Sure, he had nice clothes, a good job and a fancy sports car. But my Barbie was looking for something more.

My Barbie fell for a man in uniform. Her dream date was the G.I. Joe action figure I confiscated from my brother.

Why?

G.I. Joe would use a mirror to reflect the sun and send a Morse code signal to get himself off Spy Island. Ken would use a mirror to admire himself.

G.I. Joe worked to save America through exciting action adventures in the Army, Air Force, Marines, Navy or Special Forces. Ken worked on his tan.

G.I. Joe was muscular. Ken was toned. G.I. Joe was pliable, bendable, and had Kung-Fu grip. Ken was stiff, stuffy and hard to move.

G.I. Joe had a scar and was manly. Ken was, well, Ken.

When it comes down to it, "Ken couldn't protect Barbie. G.I. Joe could," said my wise, six-year-old daughter (who inherited all of my gently-used Barbies, accessories, and my brother's G.I. Joe action figure).

The folks at the Lake County Discovery Museum also decided Barbie and G.I. Joe would make a good match. The Museum's latest exhibition is called Barbie® & G.I. Joe®: From Dream Cars to Battle Scars.

The exhibition, which runs through September 1, features two of America's most enduring toys and a wide sampling of their accessories (including the Barbie Camper).

Visitors can learn of the history of Barbie (created in 1959 by Ruth Handler) and G.I. Joe (introduced in 1964 by Larry Reiner) and see changes in the toy's appearance and dress through the years. You can also view footage from vintage TV commercials and an entertaining video of doll and action figure collectors filmed by students from Libertyville High School.

Ken does show up — in a minor role — in a display case and in some video clips. The main stars of the show, however, are Barbie and G.I. Joe.

Tim and Ruth Burlini of Spring Grove brought their son Dominick, 5, and daughter Giana, 3, to the exhibition. Ruth Burlini said that the exhibition is "perfect to have something for girls and boys. G.I. Joe is much more of a guy thing. You'd give your son a G.I. Joe to play with but not a Ken doll."

Ruth acknowledged that she played more with baby dolls growing up — not Barbies. "But my daughter loves Barbies. She gets hand-me-down Barbies from her cousin."

Tim Burlini added, "The exhibit is really neat — to see the originals up to the current G.I. Joes." He admits, "My brother and I were terrible with our G.I. Joes growing up. We'd cut them up. Shave their hair off and add extra scars to their faces."

The Lake County Discovery Museum is located in Lakewood Forest Preserve on Route 176 at Fairfield Road, east of Wauconda. Gallery hours are Monday - Saturday 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Sunday 1 - 4:30 p.m. Admission is $5.50 for adults, $2.50 for youth ages four - 17, and free for children three and under. For more information, call 847-968-3400 or visit www.lakecountymuseum.org.

SPECIAL EVENT

Ela Fine Arts Show and Lecture

Splashes of color in lead crystal vases, glasses and paperweights magically change as you look at them because of a special process used by Austria-trained glassmaker Raimundas Lapsys, whose works will be on display at the Ela Fine Arts Show on Saturday, June 8, at Deer Park Town Center.

Dichroic coatings, plus the old-world engraving and sand carving depicting such creatures as fish and polar bears, as well as flowers and winter trees, combine for one-of-a-kind art pieces and other glassware by Lapsys and his wife, Raminta, of Wheeling.

They will be joined by almost 60 other artists at the second annual juried exhibition and sale sponsored by Cultural Arts Connection (CAC). Show hours are 10 a.m.-4 p.m. at the shopping center, located on Rand Road (U.S. 12) between Long Grove and Lake-Cook Road. Also on display will be paintings, sculpture, fiber art and jewelry.

New this year is a free art lecture at 1 p.m. the day of the show in Barnes & Noble at Deer Park Town Center. Featured speaker will be the Rev. Michael Komechak, curator of art at Benedictine University and St. Procopius Abbey in Lisle. He will discuss five prints from the school's collection, focusing on technique, style and what to look for in choosing art to purchase.

Jeweler Peter Brenner of West Dundee likes to create designs that are unusual, but wearable. He incorporates non-traditional elements, like plexiglass or exotic woods. "It's kind of like I dare customers to wear the jewelry," said Brenner of his rings, pins and pendants which are anything but mass-produced in style.

On Sunday, June 9, the focus on culture shifts to dance, drama and music with the annual Ela Festival of Arts from noon-8 p.m. in Paulus Park in Lake Zurich. Also a CAC-sponsored event, the festival begins with a children's parade and ends with a concert by Chicago's Trippin' Billies, a Dave Matthews tribute band. Admission is by donation.

Life in the theater rules in 'The Royal Family'

Life in the theater can be as consuming as the most demanding of careers and as addictive as the strongest narcotic. If there was any doubt about this premise, "The Royal Family" drums it home loud and clear - and with a great deal of humor and insight.

Written by George S. Kaurman and Edna Ferber, "The Royal Family" is loosely based on the life of the first family of the American stage, the Barrymores, who were outraged when it was first staged on Broadway in 1927. Chicago's Steppenwolf Theatre, under the direction of Frank Galati, is giving this comedy a smart revival.

All the action takes place in three acts in the plush New York duplex of the Cavendishes. The impressive set, designed by James Schuette, features an elegant, sprawling living room whose wood-paneled walls are lined with paintings and tapestries. A magnificent divided curved staircase converges on a small second-floor balcony.

Doors leading to the library, dining room, front entrance and upstairs bedrooms are all visible and widely used by a steady stream of servants, visitors and family members. The central character is Julie Cavendish (played by Amy Morton); she's a performer in her prime, but instead of life getting easy she finds herself fending off one "crisis" after another.

Among them: a brother (David New, great with a comic turn) shows up on the lam from a breach-of-promise incident in Hollywood; her daughter (Sally Murphy) wants to back out of a new play in order to get married; an old beau (Christopher Innvar) has made his fortune in South America and now wants to pick up where they left off years ago; and her frail mother (Lois Smith), a stage veteran, wants to make an improbable comeback. There's also demanding relatives (played by B.J. Jones and Rondi Reed) who want money or a part in Julie's next play and a wily agent (Alan Wilder) who knows what buttons to push to keep her interest focused on the theater.

CRITIC'S CHOICE by Tom Witom

The eccentric family has meals at odd hours (breakfast can be well past the noon hour), and there's the occasional fencing duel on the stairway. Theatricality is inbred, so stage entrances and exits are common, sighs of exasperation are exaggerated while a romantic kiss will send the recipient in a swoon, arms up and body sliding slowly down a wall.

What remains constant, however, is the dedication to the eternal verity: "the show must go on." No matter what happens - weddings, social commitments - nothing's going to upstage the precedence of the next all-important curtain call.

See "The Royal Family" through June 16. For ticket information call 312-335-1650.

Holocaust Film Series at museum

Families can learn about the Holocaust and World War II during a Holocaust film series now under way at the Milwaukee Public Museum.

The 12 films in the series, which run through Oct. 13, were selected by Museum educators for their educational content and are appropriate for visitors ages 8 and up except where noted.

The film series runs in conjunction with "Remember the Children: Daniel's Story," a special exhibition at the Museum through Oct. 21. "Daniel's Story," created by the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum, Washington, D.C., uses walk-through environments and "please-touch" components to tell the story of the Holocaust and how one boy survived. Visitors will experience life in Germany before Nazi occupation; how life changed when Nazis took power and began persecuting Jews; and how families were destroyed.

All films shown at 1 p.m. in the first-floor Owen J. Gromme Lecture Hall, except where noted. The exhibition and films are free with paid Museum admission.

Museum admission is $6.75 for adults (18-59); $5.50 for seniors (60 and older); and $4.50 for children (4-17). Museum hours are 9 a.m.-5 p.m. daily.

Home of Sparrow quilt finds home

Barb Hills, Home of the Sparrow supporter of Barrington will be taking home the "Cherry" quilt donated to Home of the Sparrow, a transitional shelter for homeless women and children.

The Algonquin Quilters Guild donated the exquisite king-size quilt, made with brilliant greens and reds.

The raffle drawing for the quilt took place at Home of the Sparrow's administrative office in McHenry May 13. Home of the Sparrow board member Bob Powers was present for the drawing. Representing the Quilters' Guild was Sue Stanek and Sharen Bell.

Home of the Sparrow's comprehensive program moves women and children out of homelessness by teaching self-discipline, independence and self-reliance. Women stay with Home of the Sparrow's program up to two years. Financial budgeting, parenting skills and job search assistance are just a few ways Home of the Sparrow is helping individuals establish successful lives.

Home of the Sparrow relies heavily on community support. If you would like to know more about Home of the Sparrow's program, have a representative speak at your organization or are interested in volunteering, call 815-344-5171 or visit www.homeofthesparrow.com

Helping hands

Enough" depicts what many women would like to do about spousal abuse. For a woman who has been slapped around, punched and verbally abused, this might be a four star film because it captures the emotion of moving out of the role of a victim and getting even. For those of us without that level of emotional attachment to the subject, the movie is seen for what it is, an upgraded version of a made-for-cable film on the Lifetime Movie Network.

Slim (Jennifer Lopez) is a waitress, working with her buddy Ginny (Juliette Lewis) in a local diner. When Robbie (Noah Wyle) is making progress with a pick-up routine, Mitch (Billy Campbell) who is sitting in the next booth, comes to her rescue. We are told "how they met" and in quick succession, they are married, buy the house of their dreams and have a baby who is now about four years old. Mitch has been a player all the time, but when Slim challenges Mitch on his adultery, he tells her, "I make the money, so I make the rules," accompanied initially by a slap and then a punch that knocks her to the floor.

It's never too late

Slim eventually decides to move out and leaves town, trying to avoid men that Mitch has sent to find her. With the help of spousal support groups and her estranged father, she starts to rebuild her life. Of course, eventually, Mitch finds her and he is inclined to get her out of his life and gain full custody of their child, Gracie (Tessa Allen), without a custody hearing. Mitch is the kind of guy who believes that "If I can't have you, then nobody can." When Slim realizes that the law is on the side of the abuser, she decides to do unto others before they do unto her, which in this case means kill him before he kills her.

She goes into training for 30 days and becomes a martial arts expert in the time she has before the custody hearing. Once she comes out into the open and Mitch knows her whereabouts, he can have his goons make her disappear, permanently. The trailer tells you most of the story, so there's no surprise at the hand-to-hand combat at the end between Slim and Mitch.

The film missed a great opportunity to say something more than women should file police reports for spousal abuse and that "enough" should come sooner rather than later. Both "Enough" and "Insomnia," which came out the same day, deal with serious moral and social issues. "Insomnia" gives you something to think about while you are being entertained and "Enough" has many of its events staged to the point of being almost comical.

The easy knock on the film is that the story is predictable. More serious criticism poses that Mitch is a bad guy with no redeeming values and Slim becomes a person who can kill with her hands and feet in 30 days, as if she were a Green Beret or Navy Seal with more than a year of military training. When she's ready to go one-on-one with Mitch to take him out, as much as you want to buy into the reality of what is happening, it's simply not credible.

Were it not for the acting by a likable cast in a polished production, "Enough" would have been a candidate for a movie that skips a theatrical release and goes straight to video. The story of "Enough" is one that is still waiting to be told.

Opening this Week

Bad Company: An action comedy about a Jersey City hustler (Chris Rock) who fills in for his twin brother who was killed in the line of duty as a CIA agent.

Hopkins

Anthony Hopkins, Garcelle Beauvais, & Kerry Washington co-star.

Divine Secrets of the Ya-Ya Sisterhood: A "chick flick comedy" that stars Sandra Bullock, Ellen Burstyn and Ashley Judd. A daughter moves away because of her mother's eccentric behavior. When she is about to be married, she does not invite Mom to the wedding. After the mother sends her diary full of her memories from the 1930s, a dialogue opens up. Based on the best selling novel of the same name.

Lady and the Duke (Music Box): Unique perspective on the French Revolution that uses CGI to bring the vistas of Paris, circa 1790s, back to life. A romantic period piece.

Mule Skinner Blues (Facets): Documentary of six eccentric residents of a trailer park who parlay an encounter with a music video crew into 15 minutes of fame.

Still Playing

CQ Set in Paris in 1969, the filming of a science fiction movie set in the year 2000 is in trouble. The director's judgment is clouded by his obsession with the actress who plays a secret agent.

Insomnia Christopher Nolan's Oscar-nominated, timeline bender "Memento" has only nipped the tip of this filmmaker's talent, proven by his remarkable remake of the 1997 Norwegian thriller "Insomnia." Oscar winners Al Pacino, Robin Williams and Hilary Swank star.

Son of the Bride (Landmark Century) A 42-year-old man, living in the shadow of his parents, focuses on the goodness in humans who are far less than perfect. When he has a heart attack, he reexamines the relationships with his ex-wife, both of his parents, his daughter and his girlfriend.

CLC's new exhibit features encaustic painters

Encaustic paintings by four Chicago-area artists Catherine Keebler, Linda LaFontsee, Kathleen Waterloo and Ginny Krueger Woltzen will be on display through June 28 in the Robert T. Wright Gallery at the College of Lake County. Encaustic is from a Greek word "enkaustikos," which means "to fuse or to burn in." The Greeks have practiced encaustic painting as far back as the fifth century B.C. The technique involves a beeswax and resin-based paint, which is kept molten on a heated palette. It is then applied to a hard or soft surface, and then fused with heat to form an enamel-like finish. Recently, there has been a resurgence of its use. Encaustic's visual and physical effects, along with its range of texture and color, make it highly suitable for contemporary painting. The exhibit is partially funded by grant from the Illinois Arts Council. The gallery hours are 8 a.m.-9 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. on Fridays from June 10-28. For more information, call Steve Jones, exhibit coordinator, at 847-543-2240.

Lake County Extension to offer Equine Education series

The University of Illinois Extension office in Lake County is offering a series of workshops for horse owners. Two faculty members, recognized as experts, will provide the training. The three workshops and dates are as follows: "Horse Behavior and Horse Handling," June 13; "EPM and the West Nile virus: Equine Dentistry," July 18; and "Horse Feeding Problems and Solutions," August 15. The June workshop will include a live demonstration and will be held at the Lake County Fairgrounds. The other two workshops will be held at the Extension Office.

All workshops are from 7-9 p.m. Fees for the workshops are $10 per session or $25 for the entire series if paid in advance. Payment at the door is $15 per session. Pre-registration is required. To pre-register, call Lake County Extension at 847-223-8627.

Swedish Glee Clubs in concert

12 clubs join at VHHS

Twelve Swedish Glee Clubs from the Midwest will join together in a Grand Concert in Vernon Hills High School auditorium on June 14 at 8 p.m. The concert will be the highlight of a four-day singing convention of the American Union of Swedish Singers (AUSS), Central Division, of which the 12 choruses are members. The convention is hosted by the Waukegan Swedish Glee Club.

Preceded by gathering music played by the Celebration Brass Quintet from 7:30-8 p.m., the massed chorus, numbering about 200, will sing songs in Swedish and English relating to the theme, "Honoring Our Roots, Spreading Our Wings." The men's chorus will alternate with the women's chorus, and the final two songs will be sung by mixed voices. The finale, "America the Beautiful," will feature all voices and the Celebration Brass Quintet.

At the midpoint of the program, soprano Marguerite Karl will present vocal solos. Well known for her promotion of Swedish music, Karl has been honored by King Carl Gustav of Sweden.

Tickets for the Grand Concert are $10, children under 12 are free and can be purchased by calling Ed and Betty Nelson at 847-662-4560.

Flashback weekend at Pops Highwood

Those who prefer their oldies on the sultry side won't want to miss the first-ever 'Flashback Weekend' at Pops Highwood, 214 Greenbay Road, Friday, June 14 and Saturday, June 15. Featured will be the Motown sound of Gerald McClendon Band, swing tunes of the '40s and '50s with Leslie Byers and the '60s sound of the Turnstyles.

McClendon, known for his gritty and passionate style, will perform both evenings at 8:30 p.m. on the smoke-free jazz side.

Leslie Byers backed by the swinging Jazz Cats, Byers will give the audience ample opportunity to dance on the club side floor.

"The Champagne of Bands," or so the Turnstyles call themselves, should fit in quite nicely at Pops with their mix of blues and rock n' roll. This St. Louis based band is branching out to the music scene in the Chicago-land area.

The cover charge for this event will be $7 all weekend.

Free parking is available. For reservations and information, call 847-266-1313.

Blast off to a 'Space Station'

Blast off into outer space and rendezvous with the world's most accomplished astronauts in "Space Station," a large-format film opening Friday, June 14 at the Humphrey IMAX Dome Theater at the Milwaukee Public Museum.

From the earth-shaking rocket launch at Kazakhstan to close-up views of three space walks, "Space Station" offers an unprecedented look at astronaut life some 220 miles above the Earth's surface.

Get an authentic look at life on the International Space Station. Learn how astronauts shave and shower in zero gravity orbiting the Earth at 17,500 miles per hour.

"Space Station" is the story of 16 nations building a laboratory in outer space—a permanent facility for the long-term study of zero gravity, and a step toward an internationally sponsored trip to Mars.

Tickets are $6.75 for adults (18-59), $5.75 for seniors 60 and older and $5.25 for children (4-17). Children three and under seated on an adult's lap are free. For more information call 414-319-4629.

HOROSCOPE

ARIES – March 21/April 20

Someone is breathing down your neck this week, Aries, but you can handle the pressure. Not one to buckle under stress, seek out the companionship of a new friend.

TAURUS – April 21/May 21

Preaching is no substitute for experience, Taurus. Don't say a word unless you can back up your advice with evidence. A family member is troublesome on Tuesday.

GEMINI – May 22/June 21

Live by the rules that you'd prefer others follow. If you've been having lofty ideas, there bound to come to fruition, this week Gemini. Stay patient until the weekend.

CANCER – June 22/July 22

As much as you want to support others, Cancer, you come first. Set aside some time to shuffle your priorities this week for more "you time." You are given a rare opportunity that shouldn't be wasted.

LEO – July 23/August 23

Serve others before you serve yourself, Leo. Remember that humility is one of the easiest ways to show what a good person you are. Keep health a main priority for the weekend.

VIRGO – Aug 24/Sept 22

These days your sense of fun is tame but satisfying. Virgo. A romantic partner prefers the expected rather than surprises, and you have no problem complying.

LIBRA – Sept 23/Oct 23

It's time to think ahead and set up a plan for the future. You can't live day to day or by your strong intuitions. Romantic possibilities seem strong and on the horizon.

SCORPIO – Oct 24/Nov 22

It's time to think ahead and set up a plan for the future. You can't live day to day or by your strong intuitions. Romantic possibilities seem strong and on the horizon.

SAGITTARIUS – Nov 23/Dec 21

When life gets serious this week, Sagittarius, your focus shifts to the responsibilities demanded of you. Always perceptive, you maintain control in every situation. You'll resume fun times shortly.

CAPRICORN – Dec 22/Jan 20

You're the reasonable authority this week, Capricorn. Whether at work or even at home you're collecting dues from those who owe you from past generosity. Don't let it go to your head.

AQUARIUS – Jan 21/Feb 18

Document all of your actions and save all of your receipts this week. You're living in a fog, Aquarius, and you may need some evidence to indicate where you've been and where you're headed.

PISCES – Feb 19/March 20

Too much is far better than not enough, so live life to the fullest this week, Pisces. There are many obstacles but they don't slow you down much. Just keep focused on your goal.

The wonder and beauty of life

Photographer Michael Brown of Antioch captures "the wonder and beauty of life" using an antique Super Graphic camera. This 40 to 50 year old camera is completely manual. Certainly it is slower to operate than a modern automatic camera, but an amazing image quality is obtained. This makes it his tool of choice for his fine art photography.

A Step-By-Step Process

Michael's camera is reminiscent of those seen in old movies. It is a big camera with an accordion-like bellows mounted on a sturdy tripod. Michael drapes a dark cloth over his head in order to view and focus the image on the ground glass. The image he sees is upside down and backward. While under the dark cloth he uses a magnifying glass to make sure the image is in critical focus. When everything is perfect he uses a hand held light meter to determine the exposure time required.

Next Michael places a single 4" x 5" sheet of color film in the camera and releases the shutter with a cable release. One frame of film is 12 times larger than a 35mm film negative. The large negative allows Michael to create pictures with extremely fine grain and exquisite detail. This enables him to make enlargements up to five feet wide with great detail! After processing the film, he color balances each of his fine art photographs. He may darken or lighten certain areas of the image to make the most beautiful and expressive print possible. Michael may work for weeks on printing certain images before achieving the desired look in the finished print. He personally selects the mat and frame for each finished photograph. His wife assists him in the matting and framing of the photographs.

History of a fine art photographer

Michael Brown grew up in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. His interest in photography began in high school where he took photography classes. Michael has been a part-time photographer for over 25 years, specializing in fine art photography for the last five years.

NEWS-WORTHY

Sharon Westbrook

His wife Nancy and daughters Sarah, age 10, and Robin, age 6, enjoy accompanying him to art shows.

Michael and his family travel about four weeks during each year. Trips to the Grand Tetons, the Canadian Rockies, the Smoky Mountains, Oregon, and Maine have provided Michael opportunities to capture very vivid color landscape photography.

It is not uncommon for Michael to shoot his pictures very early in the morning or late in the evening. He has been known to drive to Lake Michigan at 4 a.m. to get in a prime moment of photography. These are the incredible moments of life that his pictures reveal!

Galleries and Shows

Michael Brown's fine art photography is shown at the Deer Path Gallery in Lake Forest, the College of Lake County Gallery in Grayslake, and the Whitefish Bay Gallery in Door County, Wisconsin. He will be displaying work at the Antioch Fine Arts Foundation Gallery.

The Antioch Arts and Craft Show was the first show Michael ever participated in. He has since exhibited at about a dozen shows in the Midwest. He won the "Best of Show" award at the Prairie Arts Festival in Schaumburg last year. This award is one of many awards he has received. He is thankful that his photography has been selected for special recognition.

Michael enjoys meeting people and sharing the story behind his pictures.

You can check out some of his art on his website, www.michaelbrown.com. Better yet, stop to see him and his photography at the Antioch Arts and Craft Fair on June 15 & 16.

FOOT NOTES

Dr. Lee M. Tisa, Podiatrist

FACTS ABOUT BUNIONS

Both men and women can develop a bunion. A bunion is a swelling or enlargement of the large toe joint on the inner side of the foot. The deformity usually develops gradually and continues to develop until it will cause pain from shoes rubbing against the enlarged bone. There may be swelling, redness and a deep aching pain associated with the bunion joint causing a bursitis.

Bunions develop from a weakness in the bone structure of your foot. Because the instability of the bones and ligaments which form various joints and arches in your foot, the joints have a tendency to move out of proper alignment. There is also a strong hereditary tendency to develop this deformity. Bunion deformities can be seen in very young children as well as the adult population. Bunions are not caused by improper shoe gear, but are significantly aggravated by improperly fitting shoes which place an unusual degree of pressure at the bunion joint. As the bunion becomes more severe, the joint moves out of proper alignment and eventually arthritis will damage the joint. Several treatment options are available which help in controlling the cause of the bunion deformity so that symptoms do not arise or become more severe. These include alteration of shoe gear, prescription orthotics. If the bunion deformity becomes progressively worse, surgery may be recommended. If you are suffering from this condition, feel free to contact Dr. Lee Tisa for a no-cost consultation to discuss your condition.

Their turn now

Once again, the wheel turns. Many senior baseball players from the area will carry their talents off to the collegiate diamond next year.

But waiting in the wings is a host of seniors-to-be looking to step in.

They'll get a good chance to showcase their talents at the Northwest Suburban Baseball Tournament June 15-16 at Stevenson High School.

The event will feature at least one player from every team representing each of that school's respective conference. For instance, catcher Scott Wold will represent Grayslake High on the Fox Valley Conference team.

Each conference will play against neighboring conference teams. Altogether, there will be eight teams, or conferences, represented.

"It's a great chance for all of them to get exposure and for scouts to follow-up," said Tournament Director Harvey Foster.

In between two games on both days, players will be in the spotlight where they will demonstrate their hitting and fielding abilities. All players will get a chance to show off their speed as well with a 60-yard dash scheduled for June 15 from 1:30-2 p.m.

"These will all run in between games," said Foster. "In case a prospective scout misses a player playing in a game, that player will be the only one on the field performing various drills. It's kind of like a combine with a try-out camp type of atmosphere."

Under the rules, scouts can have contact with the kids during the summer while college coaches can write letters but can't make physical contact with them until after July 1.

Before each game, there will be extensive pre-game warm-ups, another chance for kids to get noticed.

Each game will be nine innings. The first day will feature the NSC and FVC playing each other at 10 a.m. That will be followed by the Upstate Eight Conference taking on the ESCC. Then, on the second day, the ESCC will kick things off when it tangles with the NSC at 10 a.m. Wold and the Fox Valley boys will then play the DuPage Valley Conference team shortly thereafter.

As far as line-ups are concerned, the North Suburban Conference will have a slew of players. Scheduled to compete include: from Warren, third baseman Jesse Cass and catcher Ross Jensen; from Grant Community High, pitcher-first baseman C.J. Walleck; from Mundelein, pitcher-infielder Mike Nilles, pitcher-infielder Clay Kovac, and outfielder Nick Yoder; from Vernon Hills, catcher Justin Mooney; from Antioch, right fielder Scott Coles; and, from Libertyville, outfielder Jimmy Lewis, pitcher-catcher Alex Gavlick, short stop Ben Engstrom, and pitcher Matt Doud.

Coaches representing the NSC include Jay Czarniecki from Vernon, Paul Petty from Antioch, and new Libertyville head coach Jim Schurr.

Carmel High School will have two players representing the East Suburban Catholic Conference. They include pitcher-shortstop Ryan Myers and pitcher-catcher Sean Walker. The event is now in its fifth year.

Congratulations to Round Lake's Mike Kintis. Kintis, no stranger to national competition where driving a golf ball is concerned, qualified for the next level after taking first at the local qualifier held at Green Valley Driving Range in Roselle. The National Long Drive Competition is sponsored by RE/MAX.

Kintis' best drive was 372 yards, 2.5 feet. There is a series of local qualifiers throughout the summer with winners from each earning a trip to the regional level in September. From there, top qualifiers move on to the national stage, scheduled for Oct. 15-19 in Mesquite, Nev. For a piece of the $325,000 purse.

Kudos also goes out to College of Lake County freshman golfer Kurt Kubicek, who competed in the NJCAA National men's golf tournament last week in Phoenix, AZ. Kubicek fired a 72-hole total 333 after rounds of 88-82-84-79. In the team standings, Skyway Conference rival Waubesa Community College finished 17th in the 18-team field.

Too bad it had to end

By MIKE KRIZMAN
Correspondent

Antioch's run at a sectional title in Barrington ended prematurely when the bats suddenly went silent.

Last Wednesday's 4-1 sectional semifinal loss to Prairie Ridge ended the season for the Sequoits, who managed only two hits on the afternoon.

Prairie Ridge starter Nick Hall had a no-hitter going until the sixth inning. He then managed to shut down an Antioch rally in the seventh to pick up the victory and advance his team farther than any other in school history.

Hall's fastball was clocked at 90 mph for much of the contest.

"We actually hit guys that threw hard this year," Antioch coach Paul Petty said. "But he (Hall) had the ability to control the game from the mound. Early on he didn't fill up the zone well, but when a kid throws that hard, it cuts down your time to be thinking up there."

Antioch's regional title game two days earlier was scheduled for Saturday instead of Monday. Had the game been played Saturday, Petty would have sent senior Chris Malec to the mound. Senior Shawn Schuler pitched against Prairie Ridge, but was down 2-0 after one inning.

"Even if Malec pitches you still have to hit and we didn't do that," Petty said. "I have all the confidence in the world in Shawn."

"When you spot a team two runs and they have a pitcher on the mound that throws hard it's tough to battle back. We didn't test him (Hall) that often."

Petty was happy with his team's defense, which had only one error on the afternoon.

"I was pleased with our defense," Petty said. "That was a question mark coming in."

Prairie Ridge scored in the top of the first inning with a RBI each from Greg Grabowski and Judd Thompson.

Grabowski picked up two more RBI with a single in the fifth inning to make the score 4-0.

Malec broke Hall's no-hitter in the sixth inning with a single to left field. Schuler drove in Trent Domel in the seventh, the only run the Sequoits gained all day.

Antioch ended their season with a 25-9 record.

Along with a baseball game, Antioch seniors were to graduate that evening. Petty believes it wasn't a distraction though.

"We talked about it quite a bit and I asked the kids 'where could you feel more proud than walking across the stage in a baseball uniform?'" Petty said. "That would be the end to a great four years of high school."

Prairie Ridge eventually went on to lose the sectional title game to Mundelein, 10-9 in eight innings.

Youth gymnasts are G.I.J.O. tough

By ROB BACKUS
Staff Reporter

For five years, area youth gymnasts have competed in the Greater Illinois Junior Olympics (G.I.J.O.). And for the last five, Grayslake's Gymnastics Factory has taken home the top prize.

This year, 238 girls from 17 gymnastics clubs across the state ranging in ages 5-13 competed in G.I.J.O. hosted by the Gymnastics Factory at All-Star Gymnastics in Vernon Hills.

"The meet ran smoothly and all of the girls performed well," said Joanne Docherty, a coach at Gymnastics Factory. "We had both USA and G.I.J.O. judges, which will get the girls prepared for the next level."

The meet included girls at levels four and five. The Gymnastics Factory took first place as a team with a total score of 178.9, five points ahead of second-place St. Charles Gymnastics.

Gymnastics Factory also took first-place in two of the seven age groups at level five.

Libertyville's Lauren Bowles took first place in the level five, age nine group with a score of 35.725, seven-tenths of a point ahead of Lisa Bradley, also from the Gymnastics Factory.

"I'm very happy with my performance," said Bowles, who has been involved in gymnastics for almost two years. "I want to thank my coaches for helping me and pushing me forward to another level."

Gymnastics Factory took five of the top-6 places in the level five, age nine group as Maggie DeMaegd (3rd, 34.525), Regan Wilson (4th, 34.325) and Shelby Pflug (T-5th, 34.125) also finished in the top-5.

Gymnastics Factory's other place-winner, Kayla Pomerence, took first in the level five, age 13 group.

"I wanted all 10's, but that doesn't happen," said Pomerence, a Hainesville resident. "But I'm still really happy with my performance."

Top Grayslake Gymnastics finishers included:

Level 5—Seleste Mosley (2nd, age seven, 34.875); Morghan Burhman (2nd, age eight, 34.325); Callen O'Keefe (4th, age eight); Charlie Shepherd (8th, age nine, 33.8); Courtney Knowles (age 10, 33.050); Anne-Marie Kick (3rd, age 11, 35.125); Anna Hoskins (6th, age 11, 34.2); and, Maddie Ogrino (7th, age 11, 33.8).

"Our gymnasts worked really hard for these honors," said Docherty. "They put 10 hours a week into their practice and they all did hard work and had dedication and it showed. We were very proud of all our 14 girls at the factory."

Although it was their first year at G.I.J.O., Round Lake Beach's American Eagle Gymnastics also fared well.

Despite failing to finish in the top-10 as a team, several of American Eagle's 11 participants did well.

"I think they did a great job," said Jenny Cucchione, a coach at American Eagle. "They worked really hard and got the skills they worked for."

Top American Eagle finishers:

Level 5—Ashlee McCarten (T-1st, age 11, 35.35); Elizabeth Hitt (9th, age 12, 32.95); Chrissy Pucci (11th, age 12, 30.85).

Level 4—Alli Kimac (8th, age 8, 34.325); Paige Ohren (12th, age 10, 32.9); Raquelle Anderson (19th, age 10, 29.6); Katrina Jodlowska (20th, age 10, 29.25); Breanna Hoist (9th, age 11, 32.15); Kristen Schmeg (11th, age 11, 30.5); Alyssa Watts (13th, age 11, 27.25); Anna Jodlowska (12th, age 12, 31.5).

"It felt good to do so well," said Kimac, who has been going to American Eagle for a year-and-a-half.

While pleased with her own team's performance, Docherty was also pleased with every team at the meet.

"The girls from all gyms showed great sportsmanship by cheering for all teams and members from other teams as well," said Docherty.

Grayslake Hockey Club holding fund-raisers

That's right! There is hockey going on during the summer around these parts.

Grayslake Community High School's hockey club just finished up its inaugural spring season.

But that doesn't mean the guys aren't preparing for the fall campaign, when it will compete in the Metro Northwest Division.

The club is planning a car wash fund-raiser for June 15 from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. at the Grayslake Fire Department. All proceeds generated will go towards the Grayslake High Hockey Club.

Presently, Grayslake has around 30 kids that make up a Green and a White team competing in a junior varsity division. Kevin Klausner coaches the Green while Scott Harris guides the White squad. Players reside mostly in the Grayslake and Antioch areas.

Grayslake's schedule featured 12 games involving some 13 teams, with the top-7 earning playoff berths. Both have experienced success so far.

According to Grayslake Hockey Club

President Bob Kugler, both teams look to earn a trip to the playoffs, which started this week.

In its latest competition at the Chicago Wolves sponsored Memorial Day tournament, the Green team finished second while the White made it to the final round before finishing fourth.

Park City officer tracks children down in Mexico

By STEVE SKINNER
Staff Reporter

After missing for nearly three months, two children, a girl 15-months-old and her 4-year-old brother, were finally reunited with their distraught mother at O'Hare Airport. Other family members were on hand to welcome the children home, and although the mother was glad to have her children home, the reunion was understandably emotional.

If it were not for the extraordinary efforts of Park City Police officer David Alarcon, these children might still be missing.

The mother, Maricela Servin, 30, reported her children missing in mid-March when her husband, Jose G. Arroyo-Diaz, 31, of the 2700 block of Butrick in Waukegan, failed to return the children after taking them for a weekend visit. The couple had been separated for almost four months at the time.

When Diaz did not return the children home on March 24, she began calling family members to find out if any of them knew where they might be. After two days of waiting, hoping the father took the children on a short trip or something, Servin finally called police to report the children missing.

Servin, who speaks English, was so upset that she preferred to speak in Spanish. Officer Alarcon, fluent in Spanish, was called in to assist on the case. Immediately the Park City police began their investigation and contacted the Tornado Bus Company in Waukegan. Tornado runs a direct shuttle from Waukegan to Mexico.

The bus company allowed the police to look at their logs and police discovered that Arroyo-Diaz had boarded a bus for Mexico on the day

Student gets governor to honor heroes

By CHRISTY BLANDFORD
Staff Reporter

Vollmer

Warren Township High School junior Stephanie Vollmer refuses to give up when she has an idea. When she decided firefighters and police officers deserved recognition for their heroic acts, she took her idea all the way to Springfield, persuading Gov. George Ryan to dedicate a week on their behalf.

Working from an idea she formulated for a class, Vollmer began to seek support at the state level for her "Everyday Hero Project," which honors public works employees, including police, fire and emergency medical workers.

Vollmer decided that after the events of Sept. 11, a week recognizing the heroic acts of public works employees was necessary.

Finally, art auction is here

By JEFF ZACHARY
Staff Reporter

Neither rain nor wind nor cold weather will stop future Picasso's and Michaelangelo's from displaying their work this coming weekend.

An Art in the Woods Auction to benefit Lake County Schools will be held on Sunday, June 9, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. in the Hart Woods area of the Round Lake Area Park District.

In case of bad weather the auction will be moved inside the park district's gymnasium.

All high schools in Lake County have been asked to participate and any schools that does will share in the proceeds.

The auction is being sponsored by CUBE (Communities United for Better Education) and is being organized by Round Lake Area Schools Community Unit District 116 school board member Ann Welk.

"The goal of the auction is to raise awareness of the problems with funding of schools in Illinois, and to help schools keep their programs until a funding solution is reached by the State," said Welk.

CLC job fair reflects downturn

Some employers leave early, job seekers deflated

By DENYS BUCKSTEN
Lake County Editor

It's once again an employer's job market. Things are back to the "We've got your resume, we'll call if something turns up." Young graduates, who as underclassmen had seen upperclassmen parlay new degrees into $60,000 a year jobs, are coming up empty-handed.

JobMarketPlace 2002, held May 30 at the College of Lake County in Grayslake, drew 115 employers and nearly 3,000 job seekers, but some employers were seen closing down booths just after 4 p.m. at the 1 to 6 p.m. event.

The job fair was sponsored by IETC Partners and Career Resource Center, Executive Placement Consultants, Lake County Area Vocational System, Lake County Education to Career Partnership and Salem Services, Inc.

According to Bill Tate of Manpower Inc., which has been a mainstay at the fair over the years, the agency's latest quarterly survey of employers indicates where the market is headed.

"Three months ago there were encouraging signs (for job seekers) when 20 percent of the firms surveyed reported hiring intentions, and 13 percent saw the need to trim personnel. A year ago at this time, 33 percent said they would add workers and seven percent predicted cutbacks."

Lake County employers are still more bullish on hiring than other northern Illinois firms, according to Manpower's third quarter survey of hiring intentions.

Somewhat typical of the job seekers with technical degrees was Shirley San Pedro of Gurnee. San Pedro, 25, lost her job as an industrial engineer this year when the Grayslake firm she worked for closed its doors.

As the fair wound down late in the afternoon, San Pedro said she had come up with no promising leads. San Pedro, who lives with her parents, said "I came here willing to take anything. I was looking for administrative assistant jobs."

Terri Berryman, director of career and placement services at CLC, expressed mild dismay at some of the companies leaving early, in defiance of a commitment to stay until the end of the afternoon.

May Joyal Simmons, assistant director of nursing at Rolling Hills Manor in Zion, said the firm had openings for professionals, such as dietitians, LPNs and RNs, "but there were no applicants."

On the other hand, said Simmons, the non-professional job openings, like dietary aides, activity aides, drew "a lot of applications. It was a good job fair for us."

Historically, during economy downturns, police departments and military recruiters report an increase in applications.

The job fair had police representatives from Chicago, Mundelein, Lake Zurich, Mundelein and the Lake County Sheriff's Department.

Dan Schmidt, of Mundelein's Crime Prevention Unit, said "We've been hurting for people the last four years. But today we were getting a decent amount of people coming up to talk to us. We were hoping for 30 by the end of the day, and we had 15 stop by in the first hour."

Staff Sgt. Shayne Fisher, a recruiter for the U.S. Army in Round Lake Beach, said interest was high at the job fair. As always, the Army touts its own education in many technical fields as giving young people (up to 35) a leg up on high-paying jobs when they get out.

With the Army, said Fisher, "They come with us on a two, three, four or six year enlistment, get excellent training in a field like pharmaceuticals, and when they get out, step into a high paying job with someone like Abbott (Laboratories in North Chicago)."

Fisher said U.S. firms recognize that a person coming out of the military will likely have no drug problems, has learned leadership and has had in-the-field training, as well as classroom training.

he was to return the children. By the time a police report was filed he was already in San Luis Potosi, Mexico.

Because this was a suspected parental abduction, police must wait 15 days from the date the suspect was last seen in order to get a warrant issued. Once a warrant was in hand, Park City contacted the FBI and the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children. Typically this is where the FBI and the Center for Missing Children would take over the investigation.

"We did things a little differently," said Alarcon. Because Alarcon is fluent in Spanish, he contacted the authorities in Potosi Mexico and they began an investigation. Police chief Michael Luff and Mayor Steve Pannell gave the case top priority.

Within days, the state police in Potosi called Alarcon and informed him that Diaz had gone to the state of Guanajuato, where he had family. "As soon as I got that information, I contacted the state police in Guanajuato," said Alarcon. Guanajuato state police began their investigation and discovered the suspect had fled to the state of Mexico and was just outside of Mexico City.

It seemed authorities were always one step behind Diaz and his family members in Mexico were not being cooperative.

"We received great cooperation from the Mexican police and they were extremely helpful," said Alarcon. The Mexican police had gone so far as to put the pressure on family members to reveal the whereabouts of Diaz. At one point they had some Diaz family members under constant surveillance, according to Alarcon.

Meanwhile, Alarcon stepped up his efforts and kept calling many of the family members, as did the children's mother. "All we cared about was getting the children back safely," said Alarcon. The phone calls and the pressure from Mexican law enforcement worked.

"The father dropped both children off at the home of one of the mother's uncle's home in Guanajuato. The uncle in return contacted local authorities, which then contacted Park City police. Unfortunately the father fled before authorities could capture him and he is still on the loose in Mexico."

"We have an arrest warrant for parental kidnapping, a class IV felony which carries a prison sentence of 3 to 7 years. If he returns, he will be arrested," said Alarcon.

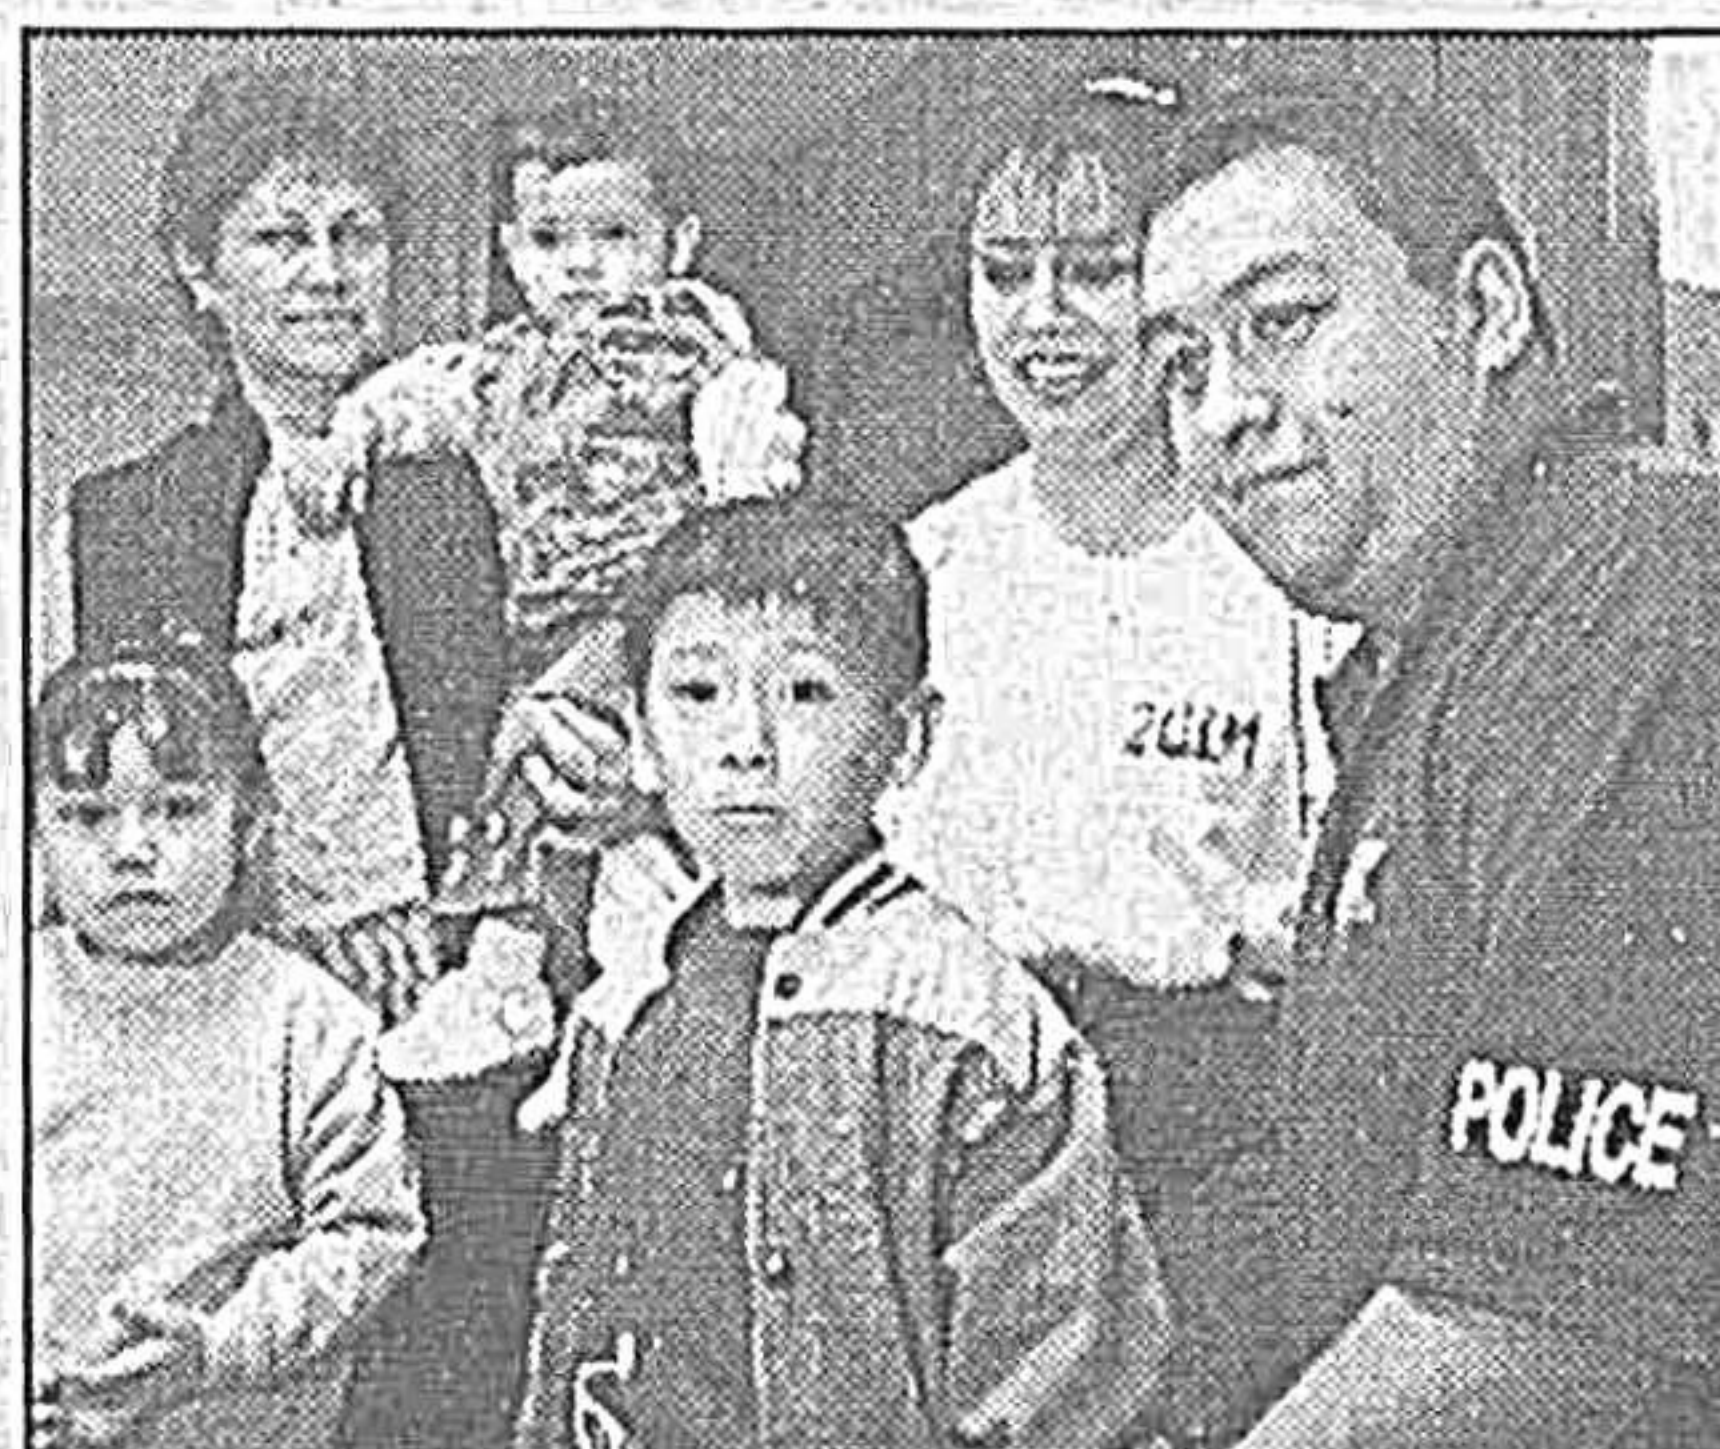

The aunt picked up the children and flew into Dallas, Texas. When they got off of the plane, an immigration officer was waiting. The officer escorted the trio to immigration, helped with the forms and walked them to the line to go through customs.

Afterwards, the officer escorted the trio to the plane bound for Chicago. "They were just so very helpful."

"It is important for the people of Park City to know that as small as this community is, we take care of our people."

When the plane arrived in Chicago, Officer Alarcon and Chief Luff were waiting at the gate. They escorted the aunt and two children to a waiting area where the mother and other family members were anxiously awaiting for their arrival.

"It's cases like this that shows that the Park City police department is dedicated to serving their community," said Alarcon.

Officer David Alarcon of the Park City Police Department helped recover Jossie Arroyo, 4, center, and his sister Danila, 15 months, held by her grandmother Maricarmen Servin, after they were abducted by their father. ## Del Re accused of racketeering

Zion tow truck operator, Roger Whitmore, filed a 23-page civil lawsuit in 1999 alleging that current Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re engaged in a racketeering and shakedown scheme, which began with his bid for election for Lake County Sheriff. The lawsuit was filed under the Racketeering Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (RICO) and offers details of the scheme, which includes extortion and bribery.

Whitmore's suit claims that Del Re received bribes in the form of campaign contributions from two towing services and that he was forced to contribute $250 to Del Re's campaign. He further alleges that Del Re threatened towing operators with reduced business if they did not contribute, claiming Del Re sent letters inviting towing operators to purchase fund-raising tickets.

Part of the lawsuit alleges that Max Johnson's Auto Center of Beach Park would make legal campaign contributions and a direct cash payment to Del Re in exchange for more towing area. The suit alleges further that monies were paid by Johnson on June 10, 1998. On August 26, 1999, the towing area was shifted to Johnson.

It is alleged that Johnson personally delivered payments before the April 1998 election, and a second installment payment was made in June of 1998.

The suit claims Johnson's activity in the bribery scheme lasted 17 months.

The suit also names Del Re's fund-raisers Thomas Chrichton, Jack Alan Diamond and Nick Gountanis in the suit alleging they helped to solicit and negotiate the sale of towing territories in exchange for campaign contributions.

Last month, Federal Judge Joan Gottschall ruled that the lawsuit could indeed proceed to trial. In her ruling, the Judge felt the allegations, that there was a group enterprise with a pattern of racketeering and conspiracy to carry out a scheme, were arguable in civil court.—By Steve Skinner

Flag waving back in style

There was a time in the not too distant past when displays of patriotism and old-fashioned flag waving were considered square and "uncool." The U.S. Supreme Court recognized burning of the American flag as an "expression of free speech."

Thankfully, those days are past, although protection of those who would desecrate the national emblem still is the law of the land. The events of Sept. 11, terrible as they were, ushered in a new era where patriotic displays and expressions of love of country no longer are mocked or ridiculed. For that we can be thankful.

What a thrill it was to see large and enthusiastic crowds turn out to take part in Memorial Day observances. Memorial Day followed the year's first event for an opportunity to express patriotism, Armed Forces Day, May 18. Coming up soon are Flag Day June 14 and Independence Day July 4. This year the anniversary of the birth of our nation falls on a Thursday. We hope the significance of Independence Day doesn't get lost in the fervor to kick off a long weekend.

Sadly, the community notes that the annual July 4 celebration at Great Lakes Naval Training Center, a big and meaningful commemoration, has been cancelled this year for security reasons. Visiting the base for July 4 festivities had become an annual "must attend" for thousands of Lake County families.

Let the drummers drum and the bands play. Our flag is being flown again proudly, without reservation or shame. Flag waving is back in style.

Tough DUI laws getting tougher

Aggressive enforcement by Lake County police departments helps Illinois maintain its reputation as a leader among the "get tough" states dealing with driving while under the influence (DUI).

Although third in population, Lake County logged the second highest number of DUI arrests with 5,584 in the year 2000, the latest figures available. This compares to DuPage County, the second most populous with 4,939. Lake County was in third place with 158 "Use It & Lose It" zero tolerance violations in 2000. The law took effect Jan. 1, 1995, where drivers under age 21 caught with even a trace of alcohol in their systems will lose their driving privileges.

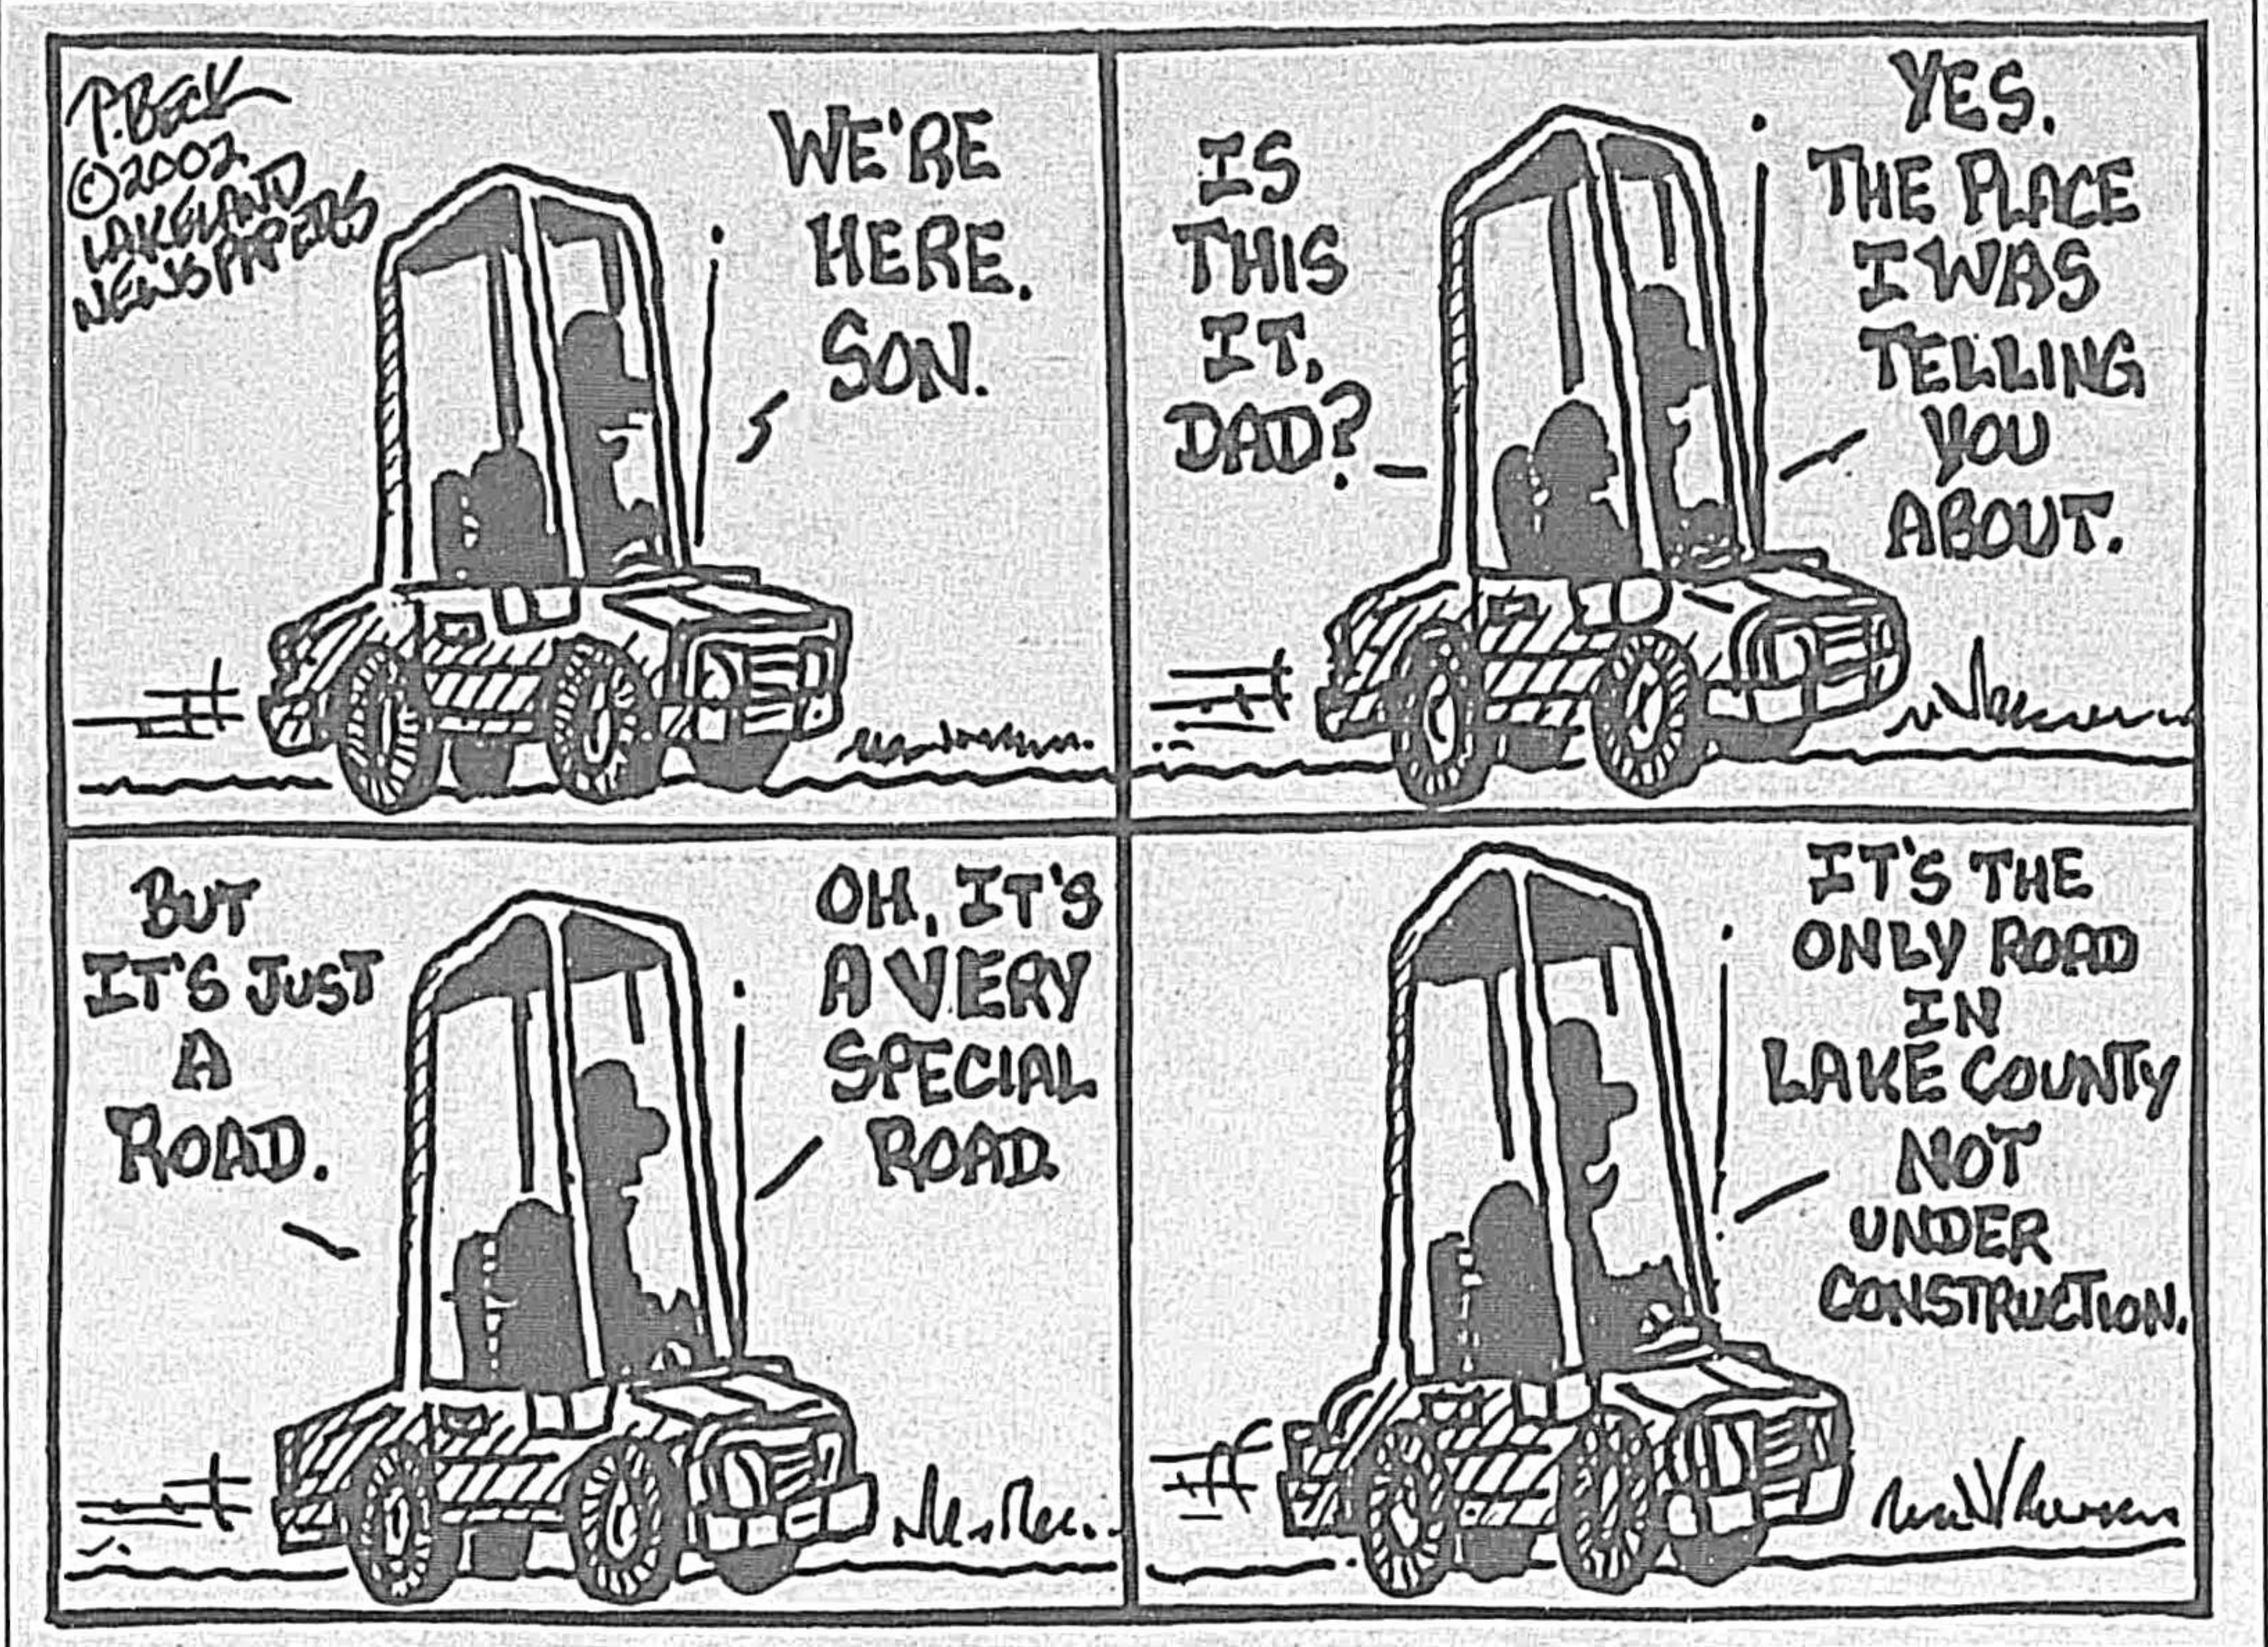

Even harsher penalties were enacted by the General Assembly this spring. "If you disobey the law, you're going to face jail time," declares Sec. of State Jesse White. Some of the new legislation includes:

- Creation of a two-tier DUI system. Mandatory minimum sentencing requirements for individuals who drive at double the illegal limit of alcohol. (.16 blood alcohol concentration and above).
- Penalties for driving drunk with a child under age 16 in the vehicle regardless of blood alcohol level. Penalties include mandatory minimum sentencing requirements.
- Installation of blood alcohol level device on the vehicle of any person convicted of two alcohol-related incidents within 10 years when the offender is applying for driving relief.
- Individuals who commit a DUI for the fourth or subsequent time during a period in which the driver's license is suspended or revoked for a prior DUI conviction are guilty of a Class 1 felony, punishable by four to 15 years of imprisonment.
- Any person who has been sentenced to prison for reckless homicide will not begin serving the 24-month driver's revocation license revocation period until release from prison.

Legislators are to be commended for targeting the most dangerous drivers and repeat offenders by increasing jail time and immobilizing the offender's automobile. The new laws and accompanying enforcement procedures are in tune with the times.

VIEWPOINT

How MCI gouged county serviceman

If you haven't checked your telephone bill lately, do it. Now. You're sure to find a surprise or two. The phone companies know that customers only notice the bottom line, write a check and mail it off. So they slide in extra charges. Those extra charges amount to millions in additional profits.

Ameritech is notorious for adding "little extras." That's how the company makes money to offset competition from the resellers who are riding the crest of deregulation.

MCI is one of the worst. Their favorite tactic is playing games with tariffs, taking legitimate calls and skyrocketing the charges.

Jean Chase informed this column of MCI inflating an overseas call to her son who is on National Guard service in Germany to $831.11—14 times the rate that should have applied. MCI chided the young soldier for failing to sign up for an International Calling Plan that would have cost nine to 17 cents per minute.

Besides checking on the personal well being of the Lake Villa serviceman, the Chases needed to check on some loose ends involving his income tax filing, left undone in the haste of the call to active duty. They were flabbergasted at the cost of the call.

"The people of America need to know that MCI has no problem gouging those who have been sent to protect and serve our country. This gouging is as anti-American as anything I have seen," Mrs. Chase declared.

Mrs. Chase said MCI service representatives remained uncaring when she told them of her plan to make the rate gouging public. "If they are doing this to my son, be assured they are gouging all the other men and women who are protecting our country," she told Viewpoint.

Taking my own advice, I called AT&T about a couple of minor charges on the household phone bill. I learned that our household is getting dinged $1.50 per month for the "convenience" of having the local and long distance charges combined on one statement. Oh? I also learned that as a telephone user I'm contributing to Universal Connectivity, a fund used to subsidize phone service to low income families and rural areas. AT&T explained that in making the monthly charge it merely is recovering its costs.

we pay add up to big money for the phone company. And they want more.

Let corn grow

At least for now, county officials sheepishly will turn to more pressing matters while farmer Scott Peterson keeps tabs on his corn crop on Winchester Road on land owned by the county. Peterson was taken to task by several County Board members for planting this season without benefit of a formal agreement on land he has been leasing from the county for years. The lack of a lease for 2002 came to light when a group of farmers who compete with Peterson for contract farm lands claimed he was pulling a fast one.

Know how to ask

Vernon Hills Mayor Roger Byrne, who knows a thing or two about dealing with developers, says getting financial aid and concessions is a matter of negotiation. "You have to ask," maintains Byrne, who explained that Vernon Hills got $7 million from the owners and developers of posh Gregg's Landing for improving a stretch of Butterfield Road.

Let freedom ring

The bell in the historic downtown Antioch grade school building will toll July 4 though the cooperation of the Antioch Fire Dept. A broken rope had silenced the bell for a long time until Fire Chief Volling sent over the big ladder truck so a new rope could be attached. It takes a village to raise a bell.

Reforestation works

Grayslake officials are doing their best to reforest, voting to raise a tree planting or replacement donation from $100 to $200 per tree. The tree program operates on a 50-50 basis. More than 450 new trees have been planted in the past two years. The program is designed to fast-track tree growth in subdivisions devoid of mature trees.

Lake County ranks No. 1— in real estate taxes

It was recently reported that Lake County now ranks No. 1 in the State of Illinois in property taxes paid per capita.

To some, that may come as good news, knowing that their property values are so high. I'm sure that the large-scale developers look at it that way. It's more profit for them. For property owners looking to sell their property, they stand to receive a big return on their investment.

But, to other property owners, particularly long-time settlers with no intentions to sell their homes in the near or distant future, the statistic doesn't come as good news. It means that they can expect to pay high real estate taxes "through the nose" for years to come.

High property tax bills are very "taxing" on seniors and anyone living on a fixed income. After paying those high tax bills and the essentials of life, like food and medicine,

SEEING
IT THROUGH
John S. Matijevich

"there's still some month left after the end of the money."

I have not checked to see how Lake County ranks in the nation on its property tax burden. For some years, it ran right behind DuPage County among the very highest in the nation, and now we have even surpassed that rich collar county. I'm not sure that we can be proud of that rise to "the cream of the crop."

The property tax statistic escalates the debate as to whether growth brings more tax obligations.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Issues breakfast wins plaudits

Peter "Pete" Karlovics, Republican chairman of Warren Township, Lake County's banner GOP territory, is pleased that a monthly issues breakfast meeting is catching on.

Topic of the last meeting was educational funding. Karlovics, an attorney, presented two dozen persons attending each with a full packet of information. The material included background on school choice and vouchers.

Karlovics said the purpose of the breakfast get-togethers is to ground Republicans on issues of the day and provide ideas for debate. He said Warren Republicans would like to see other GOP organizations pick up the issues format.

Karlovics is Warren's new Republican chairman, taking over from Ken Arnold who led the Gurnee area to the top GOP turnout in the county in the last general election.

Arrange Bureau hearing

Gurnee's inquiry into village support of the Lake County Convention and Visitors Bureau will come to a head at a meeting at 7:30 p.m., Monday, June 24. In a Congressional hearing-like setting, Bureau President/CEO Gail M. Svendsen will be asked about agency funding and how Gurnee's annual financial contribution is used. Originally an arm of county government, the Bureau became self-funded in the 1990s.

Making recovery

Libertyville Township supervisor, F.T. "Mike" Graham is on the road to a full recovery after suffering a stroke. Initially hospitalized at Condell Hospital, Graham has been undergoing intensive rehabilitation at St. Therese Hospital. He suffered the stroke April 28. While at St. Therese, Graham has been inspired by actor Kirk Douglas' book "My Stroke of Luck," detailing Douglas' stroke and recovery. Graham says he's fortunate that his stroke was not severe.

Geo-challenger

Wadsworth Trustee Glenn Ryback goes out of his way to say nice things about State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karls (R-Zion). But he still will contest her in the November election as a slated Democratic candidate. Ryback, a real estate broker, lost a bid for a County Board nomination in the 2002 primary, being defeated by Mark Stricklin of Beach Park. Ryback is taking his challenge into the redrawn 31st Senatorial District, which includes Lindenhurst, Lake Villa, Antioch, Wadsworth, most of Grayslake, Winthrop Harbor, Gurnee and Zion.

Don't blame city

Zion Mayor Lane Harrison is dismayed that citizens are blaming the city for an increase in the tax bill they just received. Harrison said he's been working overtime explaining that the hike came from the quadrennial reassessment and passage of a school tax referendum. Lane is taking the opportunity to tell how downtown streets are being repaved and trees replaced with bond revenue. No taxes!

New tax opponents

Legislators representing Lake County with one exception didn't buy into the notion of signing a pledge to "oppose and vote against any and all efforts to increase state and local taxes." The pledge is a project fostered by Tax Accountability, a political action affiliate of National Taxpayers United of Illinois (NTU) which claims 10,000 members. The lone exception is State Rep. Susan Garrett (D-Lake Forest). Democratic State Rep. Jack Franks of neighboring McHenry County signed. One of the most intriguing signees was Senate President James "Pate" Phillip of DuPage County. There were 35 signers from both political parties.

Graduations unleash the new lions

As a commencement speaker, humor columnist Art Buchwald likes to tweak graduating classes with lines such as this: "We left you a perfect world. Don't screw it up."

Graduation season is coming to a close this weekend. Every spring some 8 million young Americans don gowns and mortarboards to celebrate their completion of high school or college. Often they are hot and uncomfortable in their trappings and just want the thing over with so they can party hearty.

But, alas, many commencement speakers are long on wind and short on wit. They weren't listening to the late Congressman Tip O'Neil, who once told an audience: "I will be brief. A graduation speaker is like a corpse at an Irish wake; you're supposed to show up but not say much."

There is a trend, fortunately, for schools to take this task once performed mostly by pompous pedagogues and turn it over to entertainers, like Buchwald. Or baseball's Yogi Berra, who advises: "When you come to the fork in the road, take it."

Or Bill Cosby: "I don't know the key to success,

THE PFARR CORNER

but the key to failure is trying to please everybody."

Along with this year's graduation season came a new book by editor Peter J. Smith, "Onward! 25 years of advice and inspiration from America's best commencement speeches."

Among speakers he quotes are Alan Alda, Tim Russert, Hillary Clinton, Whoopie Goldberg, Steven King, Anna Quindlen and Bob Newhart.

Smith says Alda gave "a beautiful, graceful, very touching speech, one of the best ever," at Connecticut College. His daughter was in the graduating class so it also was a father's chat with his daughter.

"Commencement speeches on the whole are very boring," Smith says. "Brevity is very important and so is wit. Fifteen minutes should be the maximum length."

Here's other advice he offers:

"Once you're out in the world of work and faced with tough decisions: Rule No. 1, call your mother. Rule No. 2, call her again."

"Life is not going to be like college," Smith forewarns. "Life is going to be like high school." (How's that for irony?)

College education often is overrated. Woody Allen says, "It turns out that everything your mother said was good for you, milk, red meat and college, are bad for you."

In the news last week was 55-year-old movie mogul Steven Spielberg, graduating from California State University after dropping out in his junior year 33 years ago. He did okay without the diploma.

Actress Candice Bergen received an honorary degree from the University of Pennsylvania where she had flunked out in 1965 after her sophomore year. "I was not a focused academic candidate," she told the graduates. "School officials politely asked me to move on."

At George Washington University, William Rehnquist, chief justice of the Supreme Court, gave this advice to graduates: "Don't stop now. College courses aren't the only way. There are libraries, galleries, theaters and museums, and you don't have to pay tuition for them. You'll find the more things you're interested in, the more enjoyable your life will be."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Solving budget problems

When George Ryan started his term in office there was a $1.2 billion surplus. Now there is a $1.2 billion to $2.5 billion deficit after his pork budgets. Spending is up 36 percent over four years ago.

Various proposals have been made and rejected. Legislature adjourned early since they were getting nowhere. Democrat Senate leader Emil Jones says it's an income problem, not a spending problem. He wants to issue $2 billion in bonds based on the later receipt of the tobacco settlement. Others are talking income tax increase. Governor Ryan wants $150 million of new tax on users of cable television. They can't reach a solution because they are playing politics.

There is a $52 billion budget and a $1 billion to $2 billion deficit. Simple arithmetic says that a 4% cut on all accounts would make it balance. Is that too unfair or too complex?

Let's suggest an even better solution. Since the whole budget went up 36 percent, let's give a 2 percent to 10 percent cut to each line item according to how much it went up previously, achieving an overall cut of 4 percent. In addition, let's raise the tax on the riverboats- casinos such as Elgin, Aurora, and Joliet- that make an obscene $778 million EXCESS profit each year. This profit is due to the monopoly licenses conferred by the State. Let's take back $500 million each year. This would still leave them with $472 million net profit, far more than any competitive (non-monopoly) business.

This solves budget woes now and would allow toll free highways in your future. Explain that to those porkers.

Jack Roeser, President
Family Taxpayers Network

Capture sales taxes

I read your editorial of May 24, 2002, "Main St. fights Dr. Kevorkian," concerning the proposal to build a Wal-Mart store in Antioch, and have mixed feelings.

While I moved to Antioch to enjoy the rural atmosphere and the small town way of life, I also know that progress is inevitable. So what happens if Antioch doesn't allow Wal-Mart to open in Antioch? What happens is that Wal-Mart will open somewhere near Antioch (Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, or immediately across the state line in Wisconsin). Then, (in your words) Wal-Mart will suck the life out of (Antioch), but the sales and property taxes will go elsewhere. I don't think that's a good alternative.

Does anyone really believe that Antioch residents are only patronizing Antioch businesses? We're already driving to Gurnee Mills, Round Lake Beach, and Route 50 in Wisconsin, to shop and spend our money. Maybe it might be a good idea to capture the sales taxes locally. This is where our elected representatives have to make important decisions.

I doubt that Antioch can hold its rural character for very much longer, but I think that Antioch can choose an optimum solution.

Not again

I read, with great concern, recent articles regarding a federal racketeering lawsuit against Sheriff of Lake County, Gary Del Re. The lawsuit alleges that the Sheriff reduced the area of service of a local tow truck operator because he failed to support the Sheriff's political campaign.

I believe in the principle of "innocent until proven guilty" but I also believe in the old adage "where there's smoke there's fire." The Sheriff and his attorney have stated that the accusation is false, there is no evidence to support it and that the case will never go to trial. Apparently a Federal Court judge feels differently. As reported in the newspapers Judge Joan Gottschall has reviewed the facts and the evidence and determined that there are sufficient grounds to let the case move forward to trial. Although this does not mean the Sheriff is guilty it gives one pause.

Unfortunately this trial may take months or years to conclude. In the meantime we have to elect some public officials this year including the County Sheriff. It may not be fair but I will find it difficult to support another public official who is the subject of such serious allegations of wrong doing. Instead I will choose to play it safe and cast my vote for another viable candidate.

If you can't keep your record and reputation clean and above reproach don't come asking for my vote. Even if the allegations do not prove to be entirely substantiated how effective can the Sheriff be, in office, with a lingering veil of suspicion surrounding him? The office of Sheriff is too important to be compromised by this sort of thing especially if there are other candidates willing to step up to the plate and perform the duties of Sheriff honestly and morally.

Scrap income tax

Letter writer Steve Pannell, mayor of Park City, is correct when he points out that the state government might renege on its funding commitments to local governments ("Unwise cutting," May 24).

In fact, doesn't Illinois' budget crunch invite a re-examination of the basic assumptions that underlie our entire tax system?

Experience shows that if you subsidize something, you get more of it; if you tax something, you get less of it.

Income derives mainly from three sources: work productivity, investment, and savings.

So when we tax income, aren't we putting a perverse disincentive on work, investment, and savings?

Indeed, do income taxes make any sense at all, at any level—local, state, or national?

Most citizens are willing to pay directly for basic local services, through local taxes and user fees.

If the state took less of our income, wouldn't each citizen be more willing and able to pay directly for the services he or she uses?

How can local governments avoid being shortchanged by the state, if not by ending their unhealthy dependence on unpredictable disbursements from Springfield?

Wouldn't scrapping the state income tax be a good place to start?

Lame excuses

Do we really want to see people succeed in something they so strongly believe in, or are we so selfish if we can't have it, neither can they?

Did you know it takes thousands of signatures on petitions for independent or new party candidates to be slated on a ballot. Existing party candidates can be hand picked with no effort or only 10 percent of the independent's requirements for a primary.

When you encounter someone asking for signatures do you say "I don't know them," or "I need more information," or "I'm in a hurry," "I don't have time now," "I'm a Democrat," "I'm a Republican," "I don't agree with your philosophy," "I don't believe in politics." When you walk away after using one or more of these lame excuses you are hurting the democratic process. You are not being forced to vote for these people or endorse them. Gaining enough valid signatures is just the opportunity to have a dialog on issues, without the challenge there will be no discussion. There will be no choice. There will be no republic.

Your time is so important to you. The most valuable enterprise of humanity is to connect and listen to another. Please take a short moment and sign a petition for a third party or independent candidate. Allow them to follow their dream. You never know, you may appreciate that same dream yourself.

Wildlife adopts

Guess the world is going to the dogs and so is the land. I can think of worse things to look at than dogs romping around an open piece of land.

I have walked my dog at McDonald Wood Forest Preserve and the deer have stood a few yards away apparently not minding sharing their home with humans and canines. I also use the dog parks in Lake County and frequently see "wildlife" sharing this land.

This "beautiful and expensive piece of land" could have become commercial property, another housing development, or maybe a skate park, but lucky for the residents of Victory Lakes and the entire county it will be land we all can share.

Phyllis Rich may be surprised at how the wildlife adapts to the new dog park.

SEEING

As lawyers who have a solid case like to conclude, and given the county's No. 1 tax ranking, "I rest my case."

Libertyville Township Supervisor F.T. "Mike" Graham is known for a "you love him" or "you hate him" image, mostly based on his stands on open space and what he likes to call "over-growth." The "hate him critics" side with the large-scale developers, who argue that growth means progress. That has an appealing ring to it, and many people buy into that argument, thinking it will "better" their community. The "we love him crowd" argue that widespread growth has brought high tax bills, overcrowding, traffic congestion, infrastructure costs, and a multitude of problems.

On this issue, "I like Mike."

Lake County is a collar county. It has grabbed its "collar" and strangled itself. It has choked itself with high-density and over-growth. Don't blame it all on county government.

The large-scale developers have turned to cities and villages where it has been easier to get the zoning they need. In the end, Lake County is losing the character that we have long learned to appreciate. And the taxes—well, we are No. 1.

CRP levels predict risk of sudden death

Deadly plaques in the arteries can now be identified with a simple blood test, researchers report in one of the first studies of its kind. The study was published in today's rapid access Circulation: Journal of the American Heart Association.

Researchers examined the hearts of people who had died suddenly to determine if they had stable or ruptured plaques in their blood vessels. They also determined C-reactive protein (CRP) levels from post-mortem blood samples and used a special staining technique to look at CRP levels in the plaque itself. Researchers found that people who had sudden cardiac death had higher levels of CRP in their blood and in their plaque than those who died from non-cardiac causes.

It's exciting to think we may be able to detect the culprit lesion that might kill a patient.'

Renu Virmani, M.D.

"Our research provides the first indication that CRP is a risk factor for atherosclerotic vascular disease and sudden death," says lead investigator Renu Virmani, M.D., a researcher with the U.S. Armed Forces Institute of Pathology in Washington, D.C.

Scientists have known for some time that elevated CRP in the blood indicates damage to arterial walls. However, until now it has not been known that blood levels also correlate to levels within plaque and its vulnerability to rupture, says Virmani.

"This is the first time it has been linked to sudden death from cardiovascular disease," she says. "If circulating CRP levels are elevated, there are more vulnerable plaques. It is that simple. It is very important to identify vulnerable plaques in order to begin treatment."

C-reactive protein can increase 1,000-fold in the bloodstream in response to acute infection, trauma, burns, and other inflammatory conditions. It is also released into the bloodstream when blood vessels leading to the heart are constricted or damaged.

Virmani and her colleagues examined post-mortem blood samples and arteries from 302 autopsies of men and women lacking any inflammatory conditions other than atherosclerosis. These included 73 deaths from arterial blockages caused by plaque rupture or erosion, 71 in persons with stable plaque, and 158 controls - people who died of non-cardiac sudden death without any conditions associated with elevated CRP levels.

Along with CRP levels in plaque and in blood serum, the overall plaque burden on the heart, total cholesterol, diabetes, smoking history, and body mass index was determined for each subject. The number of "thin-cap" plaques per heart also was determined. These plaques, also called atheroma, are composed of cholesterol, lipid materials and lipid macrophages - large cells within artery walls that ingest other microorganisms, cells and foreign matter. Those with thin caps are the least stable and most likely to rupture unexpectedly. CRP levels were compared and subjects were stratified into highest and lowest quintiles.

"It's exciting to think we may be able to detect the culprit lesion that might kill a patient," explains Virmani. "There are people walking around with high CRP levels who have no idea they are at risk because all the other signs appear normal. CRP is the only abnormality that gives rise to heightened risk of sudden death once factors such as pneumonia and other conditions that raise CRP levels are factored out."

The researchers found the median CRP was 3.2 micrograms per milliliter (ug/mL) in acute plaque rupture; 2.9 ug/mL in plaque erosion; 2.5 ug/mL in stable plaque; and 1.4 ug/mL in the control group.

In the study, 52.8 percent of people whose plaque had ruptured had serum CRP levels above 3 ug/mL, compared with 20 percent of controls. About 39 percent of people with eroded plaques had levels above 3 ug/mL, and 35 percent of individuals with stable plaque had levels above 3 ug/mL.

Previous studies have shown that baseline plasma levels of circulating CRP can predict risk of future stroke and heart attacks. In unstable angina, elevated CRP levels are associated with poorer disease prognosis. This study shows CRP is also significantly elevated in patients with coronary artery disease, both with and without acute coronary thrombosis.

The only other predictor of sudden cardiac death besides CRP was cigarette smoking. About 70 to 80 percent of people with eroded plaques were smokers compared with 40 percent of people with stable plaque.

"In the future, all patients should have their CRP levels checked. That way we can intervene with lifestyle counseling and drugs like statins and aspirin," Virmani says.

The special staining of CRP used in this study is still an experimental tool and only a few large hospital laboratories can perform the procedure, says Virmani.

This research was supported in part by a grant from the National Institutes of Health.

Co-authors of the study are Allen P. Burke, M.D.; Russell P. Tracy, Ph.D.; Frank Kolodgie, Ph.D.; Gray T. Malcolm, Ph.D.; Arthur Zieske, M.D.; Robert Kutys, M.S.; Joseph Pestaner, M.D.; and John Smialek, M.D.

Health Department collects crows to test for West Nile virus

The Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center is now collecting a limited number of dead crows and blue jays to test for the West Nile virus (WNV). Citizens who would like to have them tested should contact the Health Department at 847-949-9925. To be considered for testing, birds should have no signs of decomposition, trauma, or obvious causes of death and should be dead for less than 48 hours.

WNV was identified in the New York City area in 1999. Since then, it has been detected in 28 states. Over the past year it was detected in Florida, Louisiana, Pennsylvania and Virginia, as well as Illinois. Six birds collected in Lake County in 2001 tested positive for the virus. A dead crow collected in northwestern Kane County was recently confirmed as the first bird in the Midwest to test positive in 2002 for the virus. However, there were no human cases of the virus in Illinois residents in 2001 and none have been reported this year.

"Positive birds are a warning sign that we should take precautions," said Dale

Galassie, the Health Department's Executive Director. "There is no vaccine for West Nile encephalitis, but the risk of becoming infected can be reduced in a variety of ways."

People get West Nile encephalitis from the bite of a mosquito that is infected with WNV. Following are some suggestions to limit exposure to mosquitoes:

- Don't allow stagnant water in your yard (such as in bird baths and old tires) or to pool in gutters and downspouts. One important breeding area often overlooked by homeowners is the backyard swimming pool.

- Make sure house screens are in good repair.

- Use mosquito repellent containing 25 percent to 35 percent DEET when it is necessary to be outdoors. Apply it sparingly to exposed skin or clothing, as indicated on the repellent label. Consult a physician before using repellents on young children.

- When outdoors, wear long pants and a long-sleeved shirt, socks and shoes.

- Horse owners should take precautions to minimize exposure to their animals to mosquitoes. A vaccine to protect horses from WNV became available last year.

WNV is not spread by person-to-person contact or directly from birds to people. A mosquito becomes infected by biting a bird that carries the virus. The infected mosquito can then transmit WNV to humans and to other birds and animals when a mosquito bite occurs.

While most people infected with WNV have no symptoms of illness, some may become ill, usually three to 15 days after the bite of an infected mosquito. The virus may occasionally cause serious complications. In some individuals, particularly the elderly, the virus can cause muscle weakness, inflammation of the brain (encephalitis), stiff neck, stupor, disorientation, tremors, convulsions, paralysis, coma or death.

If you have any questions regarding the signs and symptoms of the disease, call 847-377-8130. For information on mosquitoes, call the Health Department at 847-377-8002. Additional information about WNV can be found on the Department's Web site at: www.co.lake.il.us/health/WestNile.htm.

What's up with music today?

Hi Dr. Singer,

My son recently asked me for a certain music CD. He is in grade school so, of course, I looked for a parental advisory on the CD first. I didn't see one so I allowed him to get it. After getting it, I asked to see the lyric sheet as I would always do and I found that the lyrics on this CD were completely against the things I believe in and want to teach my son. I'm not sure why there wasn't a parental advisory on this CD. Consequently, I took the CD away from my son and did not allow him to listen to it. My son was upset about it. My problem is that my son doesn't know how to be in a bad mood and doesn't know about the depressing things this CD was preaching and I don't want him to know about those things. He was mad at me because he feels that he is the only kid in his class who doesn't listen to music with swear words in it. I'm o.k. with that and I wondered what you think about this. D.J.

Hi D.J.,

Tell your little man for me to "stand strong" against the peer pressure. Although I know peer pressure can be very strong and persuading, he should be proud to listen to music that is good and proud. If it is Mom and Dad's rule, than it must be! There is certainly plenty of music out there that is good and also doesn't have negative or depressing concepts in it. There are also plenty of groups that don't involve swear words in their music. Believe me, this won't be the last time in your son's life that kids around him will be doing something you don't want him doing. I would rather have him learn this lesson of strength and standing on your principles with music first than something else.

Regarding the music of today, it seems that many musical artists today feel it appropriate to make their listeners into their therapists. The venting of depressive concepts and lost lives in the music is incredible to me. I remember listening to music back in the 70's while growing up. I listened to anything from the music my grandmother listened to on Lawrence Welk (how's that for dating me) to

PARENT'S PLACE

70's new rock to disco to classical. Out of all the music I listened to back then, I do not remember any music that talked proudly about topics like murder, suicide, depression, drugs, hopelessness, etc. like I hear today. Today, I have to constantly change the radio station because I am disgusted by what the newest group has to say to us. One song in particular is discussing what happened to this person's group of past friends. Each story is more horrible than the one before it. I turned it off with a sour look on my face wondering why these people think that my entertainment should be about this tragedy. If tragedy has become cool, we need to really work on changing that. The older music was mostly about fun stuff and it made you feel good.

While we still listen to a variety of music, we always find country music to be very clean and fun. There is depression in some country songs, but it is more romantic than hopeless. The old joke I heard about country music is this: what happens when you play a country song backwards? You get your girl back, your truck back, your dog back and your smile back! Still, country sadness is cleaner than many other forms of music today.

Anyway, again, tell him to stand strong. You also need to stand strong. I think it's perfectly o.k. for you to set limits on your grade school child with regard to music. I think more parents need to do that. Good luck and keep rockin'!

A tomato a day keeps the oncologist away.

That may not be entirely true but it is true that tomatoes, along with many other foods, have been proven to have cancer fighting properties.

In fact, studies have shown that just five servings of fruits and vegetables daily can prevent as much as 20 percent of all cancers. The cancer fighting benefits of proper nutrition apply to those who have been diagnosed and treated for cancer as well.

But keeping proper nutritional habits can be very complicated, especially when challenged with the rigors of traditional cancer treatment. If you add in complications from an unhealthy liver, renal system, or diabetes, the proper roadmap for nutrition gets even a little more gray.

That is why consulting a nutritionist can be just what the doctor ordered. Your one-hour consultation is a phone call away. ## HEROES

"I thought why not have a week for the heroes of Sept. 11 to have something positive come out of it and learn something," Vollmer said.

Vollmer petitioned the State House of Representatives, and after gaining support at the state level, Gov. Ryan issued a proclamation in April dedicating the week of September 8-14 to honoring those in public works.

For the dedicated week in September, Vollmer's project calls for public work employees to visit K-8 schools and teach the students about their jobs and real-life experiences.

Vollmer said she hopes the special week teaches students of heroic acts of public works employees, as well as act as a "career day," where students can learn about their daily activities.

"From this, students can learn that these men risk their lives to save us and they're very interesting and intelligent people that need the recognition," Vollmer said.

Gurnee Fire Department Captain Tim Tanner, said he is excited about the week Vollmer enacted.

"I thought it was a tremendous accomplishment to have something like that go as far as it did and it really set an example for her classmates," Tanner said.

He said he enjoyed seeing Vollmer's excitement as well as the firefighters'.

"It was neat to see her excitement, too," Tanner said. "I had the impression she didn't anticipate it would go as far as it did."

Although Vollmer's idea has become reality in Illinois, she is working to have this week implemented at the federal level to show public works employees a level of nationwide gratitude.

"These people have risked their lives so others could live," she said. "They need to know how thankful we all really are."

State police give arrest figures

The Illinois State Police have announced enforcement figures recorded by District Two for the S.T.E.P. wave (Special Traffic Enforcement Program) in Lake County. The enforcement totaled 388 arrests and 12 written warnings encompassing 218 arrests for speeding, 85 arrests for failure to wear seatbelts, two arrests for child restraint violations, 27 arrests for operation of an uninsured motor vehicle, seven arrests for driving on a suspended drivers license and 12 arrests for no valid drivers license.

S.T.E.P. activity involves a combination of increased enforcement and public information designed to raise public compliance with traffic laws. A special emphasis was placed on occupant restraint during the wave.

The State Police will conduct failure S.T.E.P. waves along with their regular traffic patrols. Commander Emad Eassa emphasized the need for such details, stating "Traffic crashes remain the leading cause of death resulting from injury, especially for young children. Speeding is a factor in 30 percent of fatal collisions, claiming an average of 1,000 American lives every month."

The patrols are funded through a grant from the United States Department of Transportation/National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. The grant is administered by the Illinois Department of Transportation/Division of Traffic Safety.

Watercolors at Discovery Museum

Local artists display their masterpieces until July 31

By KATHERINE HAMILTON-SMITH
Special to Lakeland

Take a visual tour of Lake County and the world through the eyes of local artists at a special exhibit of watercolor art. Titled Lake County, Backyard and Beyond: Works by the Lakes Region Watercolor Guild, this colorful exhibit is on display at the Lake County Discovery Museum near Wauconda from June 1 through July 31, 2002.

Several distinctive works explore many different facets of watercolor art and are tied together by the artists' love for the technique and desire to share their skills with others. The 60-member Watercolor Guild is a not-for-profit organization formed in 1985 to enhance, enrich and further the interests of its members. The group holds member critique sessions, paint-ins (and paint-outs), demonstrations by guest artists, and exhibitions at local galleries, libraries, and banks.

Meet the members of the Lakes Region Watercolor Guild and learn about their work at an Artist's Reception, Sunday, June 9, from Former Warren grad and Gurnee native Jenny Burris capped off a brilliant sophomore campaign by being named the All-Midwest Conference North Division softball Player of the Year. Head Coach Kim Tatro was also named Coach of the Year.

Burris becomes the fifth Lawrence player since 1997 to win the honor. Burris ignited the Lawrence attack while batting in the lead-off position. On the season, she led the team with a .375 average, including .375 in conference play. Burris collected 10 doubles, a homer and four RBI. She was also a terror on the basepaths, swiping a Lawrence record 37 bases in 40 attempts. Burris finished second in the nation with 1.12 steals per game.

She had 12 of them in 13 conference games with the next closest being teammate Shannon Arendt with five.

Burris, who was a First Team All-conference and Second Team All-Great Lakes Region selection last season, led the league in runs scored with 13 and was second with seven doubles.

In the field, Burris handled all 65 of her chances flawlessly in conference play for a fielding percentage of 1.000. She finished the year with just three errors and an overall fielding percentage of .981.

COLLEGE SPORTS REPORT AREA ATHLETES MAKING THE GRADE

Former Devil Burris shines at Lawrence

The Vikings finished the 2002 season 18-15 overall and 9-4 in the MWC, marking the sixth consecutive year the team has posted a winning record.

College of Lake County Baseball

CLC baseball's season came to an end with a 38-14 overall record that saw the Lancers finish second in the Skyway Conference and third in the state tournament.

CLC's pitching was the strength of the team as the Lancers posted a school-record 3.34 team ERA for the season and held the opposition to three runs or less 31 times and one run or less 17 times.

However, the offense also fared well as CLC was not shutout all season in breaking seven school records.

Also a highlight of the season was the 900th career coaching victory for head coach Gene Hanson. Hanson's career record now stands at 929-365.

Several CLC players also received individual accolades, including: Russ Schaibly (JUCO All-American, 1st team All-Conference, 1st team All-State, Northern Illinois JUCO All-Star); Adam Donohoe (1st team All-Conference, Northern Illinois JUCO All-Star); Dave Paddock (1st team All-Conference, Northern Illinois JUCO All-Star); Tim Baum (1st team All-Conference, 1st team All-State); Alex Frank (2nd team All-Conference, 2nd team All-State); Chris Draska (2nd team All-Conference, Northern Illinois JUCO All-Star); and Jason Schuler (2nd team All-Conference, Northern Illinois JUCO All-Star).

Chris Ramig (2nd team All-Conference) and Danny Braswell (Northern Illinois JUCO All-Star) also received individual accolades as seven CLC players received college scholarships.

Augustana College Baseball

Senior first baseman Tony Nelson (Grayslake, Mundelein H.S.) has earned his second letter playing for the Viking baseball team. This spring, Nelson batted .208 with three RBI. On defense, he had a fielding percentage of .909.

Teammate, senior Reggie Hughes (Antioch, Antioch H.S.), also picked up his second letter. Hughes batted .300 with five home runs and 32 RBI. On defense, he recorded 192 put outs while having a .981 fielding percentage.

As a team, the Vikings finished 25-16 overall, including third in the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin with a 13-8 mark.

Men's golf

Senior Brian Sayers, a Libertyville native and former Libertyville Wildcat, picked up his fourth varsity letter while playing for the Vikings men's golf team. This spring, Sayers compiled an 18-hole average of 76.4 over 14 rounds. Highlights for Sayers included a top-10 finish in the CCIW meet and seventh-place effort in the Illinois State Intercollegiate Championship. His low round of the season came when he fired 73-73 at the Big Blue Classic. In that event, the Vikings broke a school record with their two-day total of 583.

Meanwhile, junior Dan Peters (Grayslake, Grayslake H.S.) earned his first letter. Peters averaged 87 for two rounds of competition.

Softball

Pitcher Michelle Kass (Mundelein, Mundelein H.S.) has earned Second Team National Fastpitch Coaches Association All-Great Lakes Region honors for the 2002 season. Kass emerged as the top pitchers for the Vikings, who finished the campaign 27-15 overall and third in the CCIW (College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin).

The freshman compiled an 11-6 record and a 1.23 earned run average in 20 appearances. She struck out 126 batters in just over 113 innings of work and was also Second Team All-CCIW. In addition, Kass had 13 complete games. Her strikeout total moved her to on the Augustana single season strikeout list. Her earned run average placed her fifth on the school list for a single season while tying for seventh in victories and just missed breaking into the top-10 in innings pitched for a season.

Kass was also named the team's Most Valuable Player for the 2002 season.

Teammate and Lake Zurich product Beth Nagel, a sophomore, finished the year with a .257 batting average. Nagel knocked in two runs while having a .976 fielding percentage with 119 put outs on defense.

Clarke College (Dubuque, Ia.) Women's volleyball

Mundelein native and former Mundelein Mustang Julie Stith concluded her senior campaign as part of the Crusaders women's volleyball team.

Elmhurst College

Men's golf

Former Warren Blue Devil and Wadsworth resident John Knobbe finished his freshman year with an 18-hole average of 81.9.

"John showed a lot of promise and as a freshman, his best is yet to come," said Bluejays head coach David Di Tomasso. This season, the team's best finish was second at the Eureka College Invitational.

Baseball

Former Antioch Sequoit and Lake Villa native Brad Groth was named to the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin's All-Conference squad. Groth, a sophomore shortstop, was also voted the team's Most Valuable Player, led the squad in runs (34), doubles (13), stolen bases (nine) and assists (98). He also ranked second in hits (42) and batting average (.316). His 13 doubles ranks third all-time for a season at Elmhurst. And just after his first two years, Groth's career assist mark of 216 has moved him into the third-place spot for on the all-time list. Groth was recently named the team MVP. He was also named Second Team All-CCIW, and was the Bluejays co-winner of the Golden Glove Award.

Wauconda native and former Wauconda Bulldog Ken Shipbaugh was voted the winner of the team's Hustler Award. University of Wisc.-Whitewater Women's track

Former Antioch girls track standout and Lake Villa native Cindy Allius set a team season-best in the triple jump with her leap of 33-4.25 in the Loras College Open in Dubuque, Ia. Then, at the carthage College Invitational in Kenosha, Aikus, a junior, placed fifth in the triple jump with a leap of 39 feet, 37 inches.

When a season is all said and done only four teams can say they finished with a win. The Lake Zurich girl's soccer team is one of them.

Although the Bears didn't win the state championship this weekend at North Central College in Naperville, they did manage a third place finish after a 3-0 shutout of Downers Grove South Saturday afternoon.

The biggest disappointment for Lake Zurich during the weekend tournament was a Saturday morning loss to eventual state champion Evanston in the semifinals. The Wildkits won 1-0 on a penalty kick by Marissa Brown midway through the first half after forward Rachel Wightman was fouled in the penalty area.

"It's killing me that we lost on a penalty kick," Lake Zurich coach Pete Ternes said afterwards.

Ternes and the Bears were hoping for calls on the Evanston side to even things out during the game. Brown knocked down Vanessa Lawson near the penalty area late in the game, but no call was made.

"I'm not one to scrutinize officials. They have a tough enough job as it is," Ternes said. "I just shook his hand after the game."

Lake Zurich had their chances. Freshman

Molly Uyenishi hit the crossbar twice after the penalty. But Evanston goalie Louisa Bigelow picked up 12 saves in the semifinal game.

"Both times we've played them their goalie kept them in the game," said senior Sarah Uyenishi.

Ternes agreed.

"Their goalie played a great game, she had a bunch of saves," he said. "Things just didn't fall our way."

The Bears quickly brushed aside the disappointment from the morning and took out their aggression on Downers Grove South that afternoon. Lawson, Amy Lomas and Molly Uyenishi each scored a goal in the shutout win. "We wanted to win our last game and show everybody we think we're the best team in the state," Ternes said. "It was two hours before the game and our players were already jumping around and getting hyped up."

According to the older Uyenishi, it was much sooner.

"It took us about 20 minutes after the Evanston game to get pumped up," said the Marquette bound Uyenishi. "We were able to end on a win and not a lot of people can say that."

The Bears opened the state tournament Friday afternoon with a 4-1 win over Lincoln Way Central. Jen Jeffers, Heather Lau, Liz Eng and Molly Uyenishi each had a goal apiece.

Invader track off and running

While many of the Waukegan Invaders summer track team were still running in elementary and high school sectionals and state meets, Coach Ken Almond's "little people" grabbed as much gold and silver as they could carry at the Bloomington Hero Invitational.

In the Midget boys and girls 11- and 12-year-old division, Gurnee's Jordan Davis captured first place in the 1,500 meter-run. The sprint medley relay team of Waukegan's Vincent Bell, Zion's Brandon Lewis, Davis, and Grayslake's Matt DeGroot finished second.

Also in the Midget 11- and 12-year-old category, Latasha Bland of Waukegan picked up a fourth-place medal in the 400 run.

In the Bantam boy's and girls nine- and 10-year-old group, Lewis was first in the 100-meter dash while Michael Taylor, also of Zion, was right behind in second.

Bell teamed with Lewis, Waukegan's DeShawn Towers, and Taylor in winning both the 4x100 and 4x200 relays.

Zion's Dominique Williams was fourth in the long jump and 100-meter dash.

In the PeeWee seven- and eight-year-old category, Perris Bell and Antonia Bland were winners in the 50 meter and 100 meter dash in the boys and girls divisions, respectively.

In the Youth girls, ages 13-14, Zion's Synquist Grover was first in the 100-meter dash.

The Waukegan Invaders will be competing throughout the summer.

Lady HoopStars win in Pleasant Prairie; stay unbeaten

In a tremendous team effort, the Northern Lake County Lady HoopStar sixth-grade swept its way to the tournament title in Pleasant Prairie over the weekend.

The paint area was dominated both defensively and offensively by Kelly Dones, who grabbed 30 rebounds for the Lady HoopStars. Dones converted many of those into points. She netted 44 over the three-game event.

Meghan Slack, Shana Shepherd and Erin Claxton banged the boards hard as well with 31, 27, and 24 rebounds, respectively. Guards Lori Shaw and Shepherd set up many scoring opportunities for the Lady Hoopstars, dishing out 11 and nine assists, respectively.

Quick hands resulted in many steals for the Lady HoopStars with Shaw having 10 and Green and Shepherd seven each.

Shepherd and Claxton also blocked five shots apiece. In addition to a strong performance at the foul line, Culp added five key steals defensively. Destinee Wells and Kelsey Armour made their presence known, grabbing at least one steal with each court appearance.

The girls will be heading to Waukesha (Wis.) for their next challenge.

Fifth-grade boys

Playing in its first AAU basketball tournament in Waukesha, Wis., the Northern Lake County HoopStars fifth-grade boy's travel team finished 1-3. The tournament featured teams from Illinois, Wisconsin, and Minnesota.

The HoopStars rallied from an 18-13 half-time deficit to win their first game 28-25 over the St. Mary's Warriors of Menomonee Falls, Wis. The team had key contributions from numerous players. Brandon Paul ignited the offense and defense with 14 points, 17 rebounds and five steals. Jake Anderson had four points, two rebounds, and two steals. Chad Clausen chipped in with two points, an assist, two steals and a block. Taylor Furmanski tossed in two points and also had an assist, rebound, and a steal. James Zotto made two free-throws, had two rebounds, and a block. Michael Brocious had two points, two assists, and a rebound. Scott Dehnke made two free throws and grabbed a steal.

The HoopStars then lost its next game to the Minnesota Magic, a sixth-grade AAU club team. The boys played hard for the entire game, even though the Magic were older and more experienced. Paul contributed 13 points, two rebounds, and three blocks. James Poliquin and Brocious each had three points. Poliquin also had two rebounds and a steal, while Anderson had three rebounds and added two points. Ryan DeRose added two points and a steal to the team's totals. Zotto and Anderson each had two points. John Androus provided support off the bench.

In game 3, the HoopStars faced Robert's Sporting Goods of Randolph, Wis. Trailing 25-21 at halftime, the team ended up losing a tough game 53-25. Paul led the team's scoring with nine points.

Playing in its final game of the tournament, the HoopStars lost 48-18 to the sixth-grade New Berlin Stars. Paul netted nine points to go along with two rebounds and two steals. Dehnke contributed four points, an assist, and three rebounds. Brocious made two free throws, while snagging two rebounds, a steal and a block. Zotto added two to the point total and had both a rebound and a steal. On the defensive side, Clausen contributed two rebounds; a steal, and a block and Poliquin grabbed two boards.

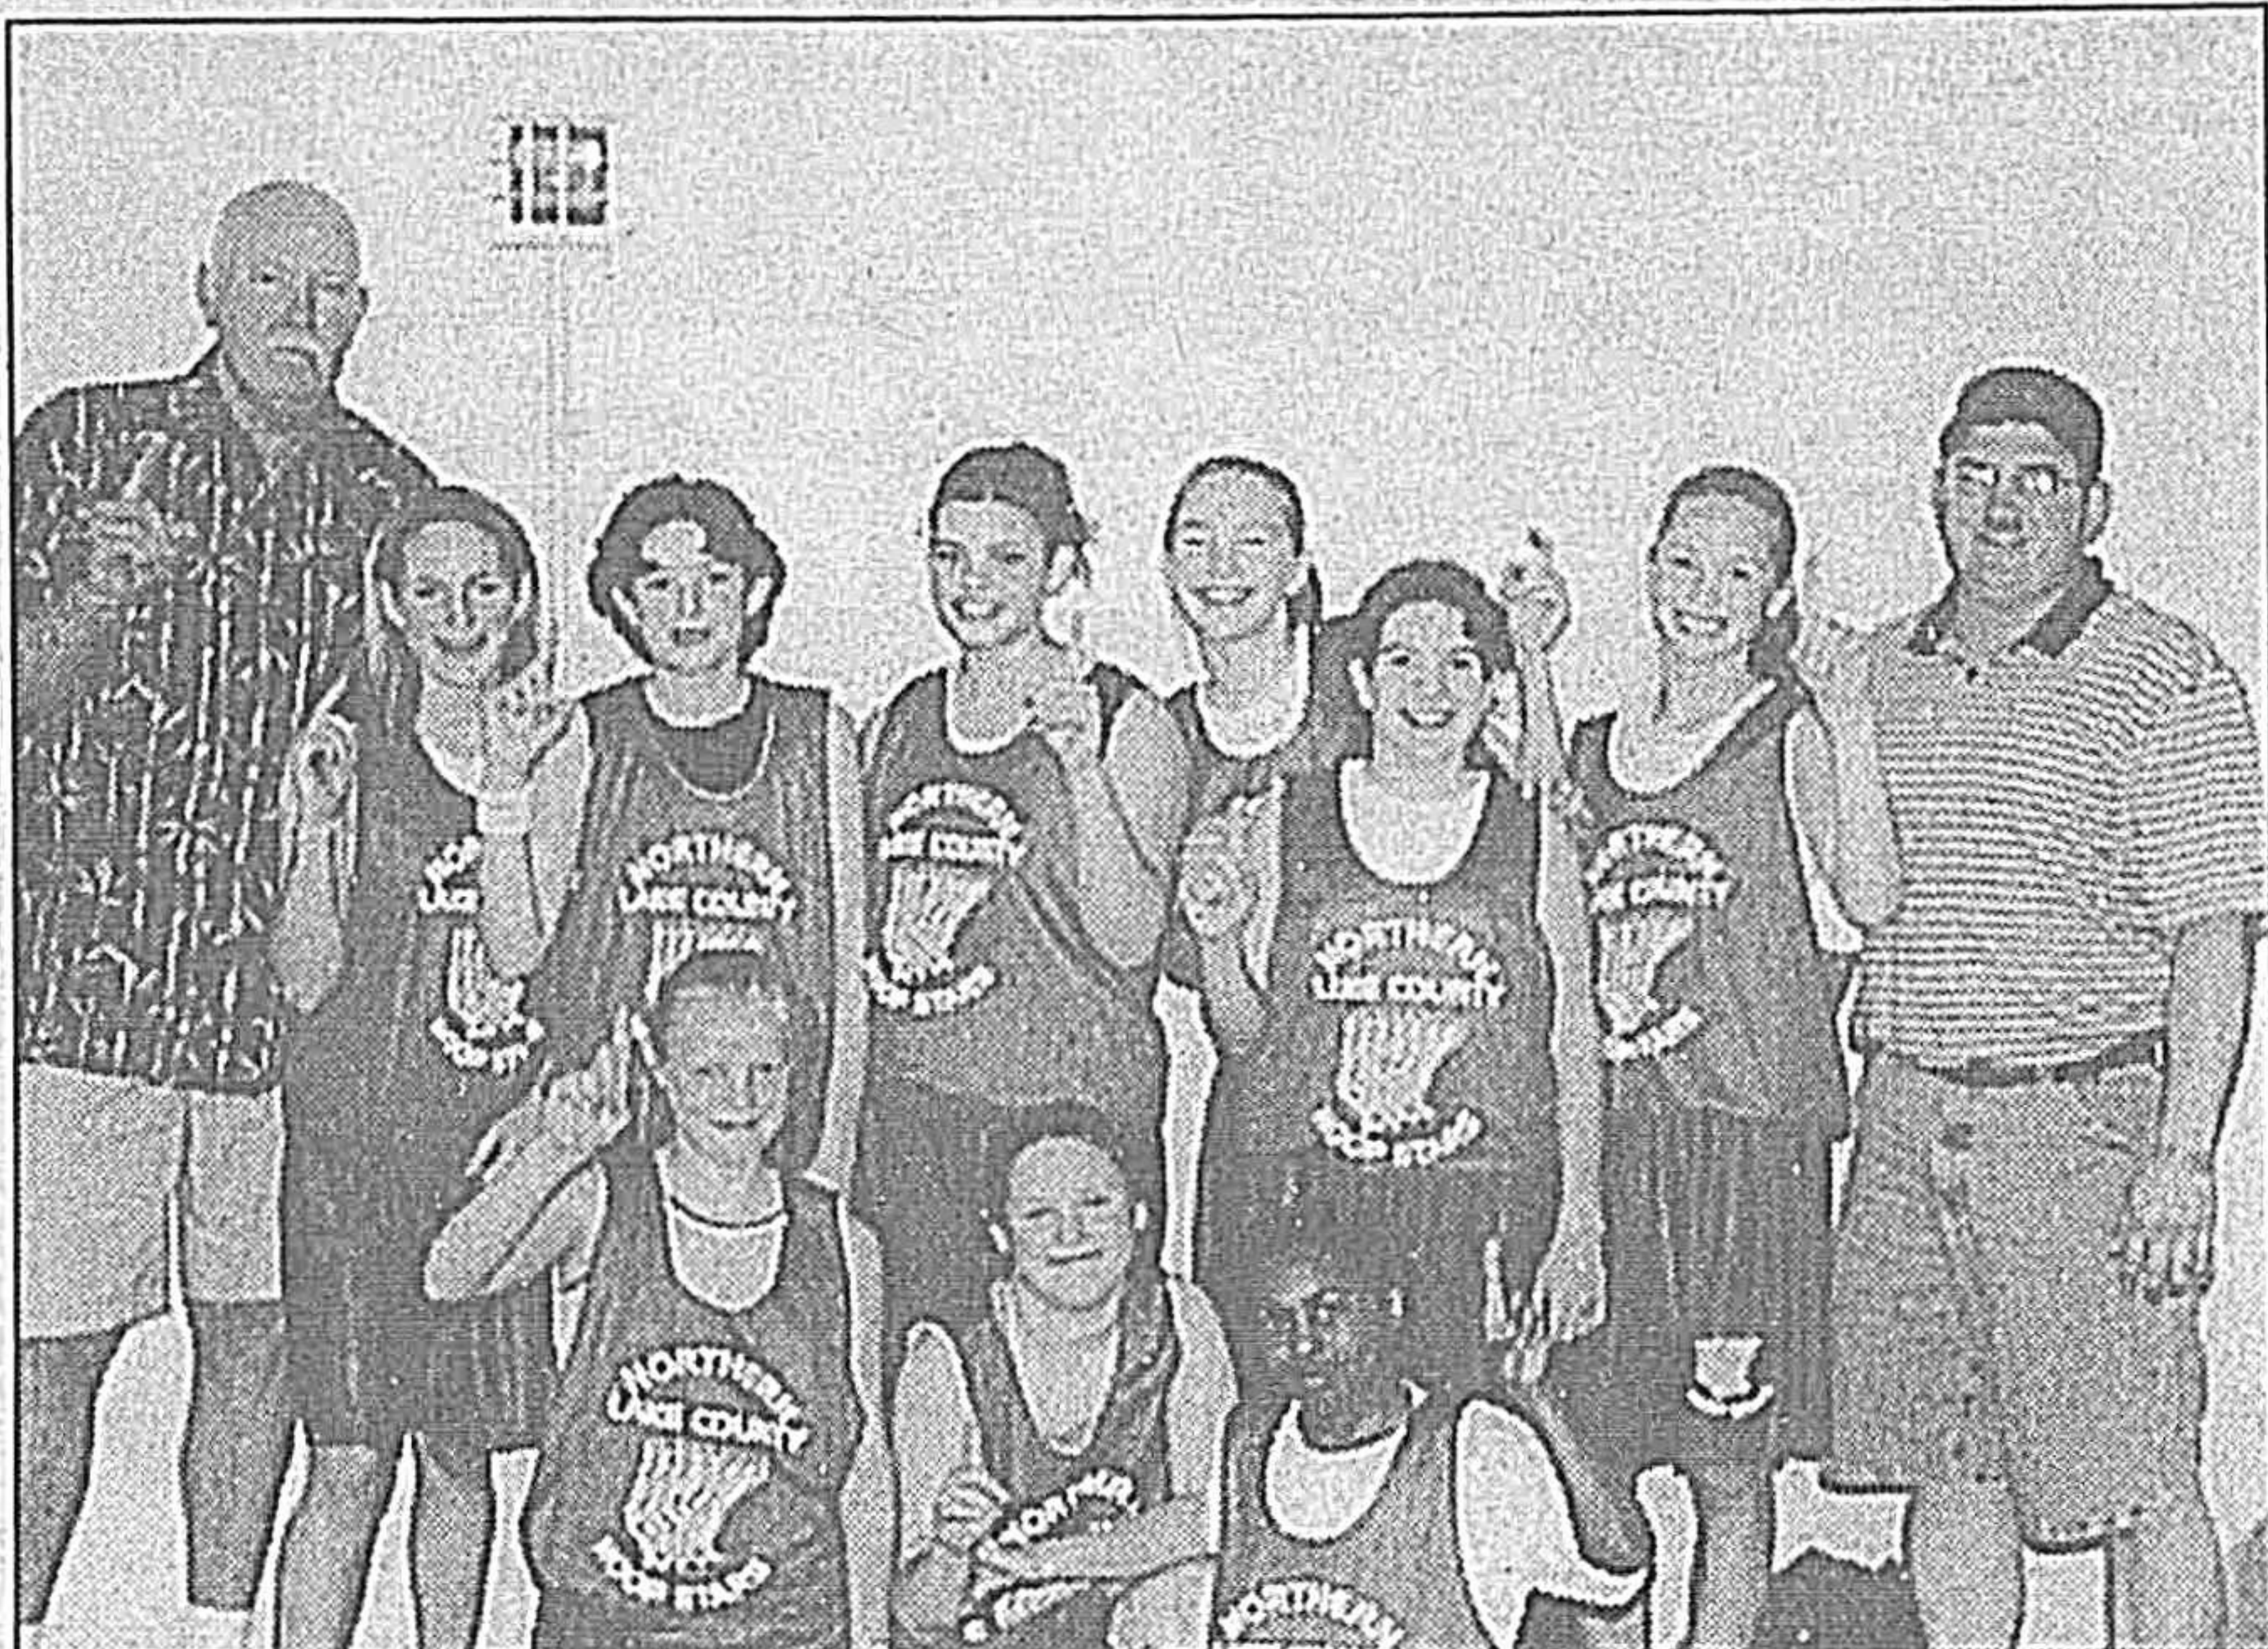

Anderson rounded out the scoring effort with a free throw. Even though the team lost the game, the coaches felt that the boys had a very strong performance.

The HoopStars, coached by Roger Clausen and Steve Furmanski, will be playing in the "Basketball Junkies Tour" held June 8-9 at the University of Wisconsin-Parkside.

Hoopstar Hawks

The Hoopstar Hawk seventh-grade boy's basketball team took home the consolation title in the Memorial Day Classic held in Waukesha, Wis. The Hawks currently stand at 8-5 in four tournament appearances.

The contest for third proved to be a test of wills as the Hawks held off several comebacks by the Warriors from Germantown-Menominee Falls, Wis.

The Hoopstars held a slim 26-24 advantage before halftime. But the second half would be different as the Hawks went up by eight points to start the third period. The Warriors would refuse to go quietly, storming back to take the lead 40-38 at the 5:50 mark.

But the Hawks finally slammed the door. Julian Penaranda, Justin VanSchaik, Brenton Sanders and Matt Rose combined for the games final 10 points in securing the victory. Sanders, Penaranda and VanSchaik led the team in scoring with 14, 12 and 11 points, respectively.

Drew Gedemer netted four while Mose,

Josh Moss and Casey Sackman each chipped in with two. Evan Jones also got into the scoring column.

On the boards, Sanders led the way with nine, followed by VanSchaik and Penaranda with four each, and Sackman three.

"We've improved a lot especially against the AAU-caliber competition the last couple of tournaments," said coaches Gene Woltjer and Gary Sackman. "The key for us will be to improve with every game."

The Hawks will compete in the Union Grove tournament at the University of Wisconsin-Parkside the weekend of June 8-10.

Illinois All-Star wrestlers finish second in nation

Thirteen national All-Star teams from nine of the best wrestling states in the country converged on Kingsport, Tennessee to see who the toughest team in the nation was. The teams competed in the 2002 AAU Wrestling Elementary National Duals Tournament for teams made up of kids aged 11- and-under. Each team was allowed 22 kids to fill out 18 weight classes, ranging from 40 pounds and under to 149 pounds and over. When the smoke had cleared, it was the toss of a coin that played the biggest role in a one-point match that saw the Illinois All-stars finish second to champion Team Iowa.

The two powerhouses each walked through their respective round-robin pools. Both teams crushed their opponents; the smallest margin of victory for Iowa was 29 points while Illinois' smallest margin was 35 points. The largest margins for the two teams came when Illinois beat the Tidewater All-stars 102-4 and Iowa beat the Hickory All-stars 91-4. It was evident by the end of the first day that the two teams stood out from what was an outstanding field of wrestling teams. Teams from Michigan, North Carolina, Illinois (a second team), Ohio, Virginia and Pennsylvania all placed in the top-8.

"The tournament was a real showcase of some of the finest wrestlers in the country," said Dave Unrein, a Lindenhurst native and head coach of the Illinois All-stars. "Many wrestlers who went undefeated all year long suffered losses this past weekend."

As the two teams progressed through the preliminaries and the first two rounds of the finals, they studied each other carefully, assessing each other's strengths and weaknesses. Both teams knew the coin toss before their championship match could be a big factor given the hole in Iowa's line-up at 148 lbs. The fact that Iowa won the toss allowed them to out-manuever Illinois in the line-up they put on the mat at the last three weights. Ultimately, Iowa was able to secure a one-point victory, 37-36 over their Illinois counterparts.

"We felt great about our team going into the tournament and we are tremendously proud of their efforts and their finish," said Unrein. "To finish as the National runner-up, especially by one point to a tremendous club like Iowa, is an accomplishment for these kids to take great pride in."

Many local area wrestlers played major roles in the weekend activities. Team members included Lindenhurst's Austin Unrein, Ingleside's Cameron Kennedy and Tyler Becker, Nick Fontenetta and Trevor Jauch of Crystal Lake, Tony Ramos of Johnsburg, Thomas Gier of Lake Villa, Matt Boggess and Ben Perna of Arlington Heights, Fox Lake's Lee Munster, and Antioch's Philip Cappitelli. Almost all of the wrestlers either won or placed high in the state competition, which was one of several factors considered in the selection process.

Illinois had the most individual champions of any of the 13 teams in the tournament. The gold medal winners from our state included: Trevor Jauch (55 lbs.), Marcus Peterson of Peoria (60), Tony Ramos (70), Matt Boggess (75), Mitch Alberstett of Davis (95) and Ben Perna (132). Second-place silver medalists from Illinois included Cam Kennedy (45 lbs.), Tyler Becker (90) and Tyler Miller of Dixon (100). Third-place bronze medalists from the team included Lee Munster (80 lbs.), Sherrod Nickels of Harvey (119) and Tony Cossidente of Tinley Park (148). Fourth-place medal winners included Unrein (40 lbs.), Nick Fontenetta (50), Joe Ladick of Algonquin (65), Cameron Vance of Port Byron (85) and Conner Evans of Jacksonville (heavyweight).

Other contributors included Thomas Gier (70 lbs.), Ryan Gilbert of Sterling (108), Grant Goebel of Hinsdale (90), Kevon Powell of Bellwood (45), and Cappitelli (95). Al Ramos of Johnsburg and Ken Mansell of Jacksonville assisted with coaching duties.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: I received a warning from my employer today which caught me off guard. I am writing this to you because I hope that you can tell me what I should do about it. I work for (name withheld). I have been with the company for close to two years. I work with a project team of 5 people who for the most part all get along pretty well. We spend all our working hours during the day together which almost daily includes our lunches and sometimes after hour socializing. I have to admit, that it is difficult to have all personalities get along all the time, and once in a while there may be some friction. We usually get over it pretty quick and move on. Recently I was involved in a slight argument with one of my co-workers over something that was not work related. While I have tried to keep this out of the office, it apparently trickled in and caused me to be called in to the managers office today, where I was also confronted by the head of Personnel. They informed me that my attitude toward one of my team members had become quite visible and that it was both disruptive and intimidating to the rest of the team. They told me that I was becoming a "water cooler topic" and I was basically told that if I didn't settle whatever differences I have with this person quickly, that I would be finding myself transferred out of the department or terminated from the company. I feel as though this was totally unfair and is none of their business to begin with since this has nothing to do with work. I don't think they can fire me for this, but quite frankly, I don't know whether or not I should even go back. I feel like I have been threatened. Please tell me what you think I should do, because the company did say "quickly", which I am taking to mean, now!

A: You didn't mention what your response was to the people who confronted you. Were they aware of the actual situation or merely talking to you in general that they have noticed an attitude problem. Did they talk to the other person involved? Did you become defensive or point fingers or did you remain calm and take it all in? Did they have you sign something outlining this warning? Whether or not you received a written warning that you had to sign or a verbal one, your company is giving you a heads up that they mean business. Obviously whatever the issue is that the two of you may have, it needs to be worked out, or one or both of you are going to possibly find yourselves unemployed. In your letter you stated that you work together as a project team. Team is the key to this. A team needs to perform like a well oiled chain. If a link fails in some way, then the chain fails. This disruption among your team is causing more than just a kink in the chain. Whatever or whoever the problem stems from, needs to be dealt with now. I would make an effort to approach the person and see if there is a time that you can sit down and calmly talk through this. If you can't come to some agreement and be civil to one another for 8 hours a day, then perhaps one of you should apply for a transfer or find another place of employment bore the decision is made for you.

Marinas around Chain of Lakes expect good summer

Coming off a season at the Chain-O-Lakes that many in the boating business felt was mediocre, hopes are high that this summer will be much different. According to area marinas, sales are already doing well, with the expectations that business will be even better during the summer months.

In April, the water level on the Chain-O-Lakes was about a foot shallow, leaving people hesitant to bring out their boats. But according to Jerry McBreen of King's Island Marina Inc, water levels are back to normal, and business is booming.

"Sales are way up," McBreen said. "There are a lot of buyers out there right now. You can see people spending much more cash than they have previously."

According to McBreen, a difference in boat styles can already be seen this season. The sizes of the boats are a little bit smaller, and everything is more posh than in previous years.

"There is also more people buying overall, and using more cash than credit," McBreen added.

Nancy Dogan of Spring Lake Marina in Antioch says that flooding is down on the Chain-O-Lakes from last year, and that there are more people around the area than usual.

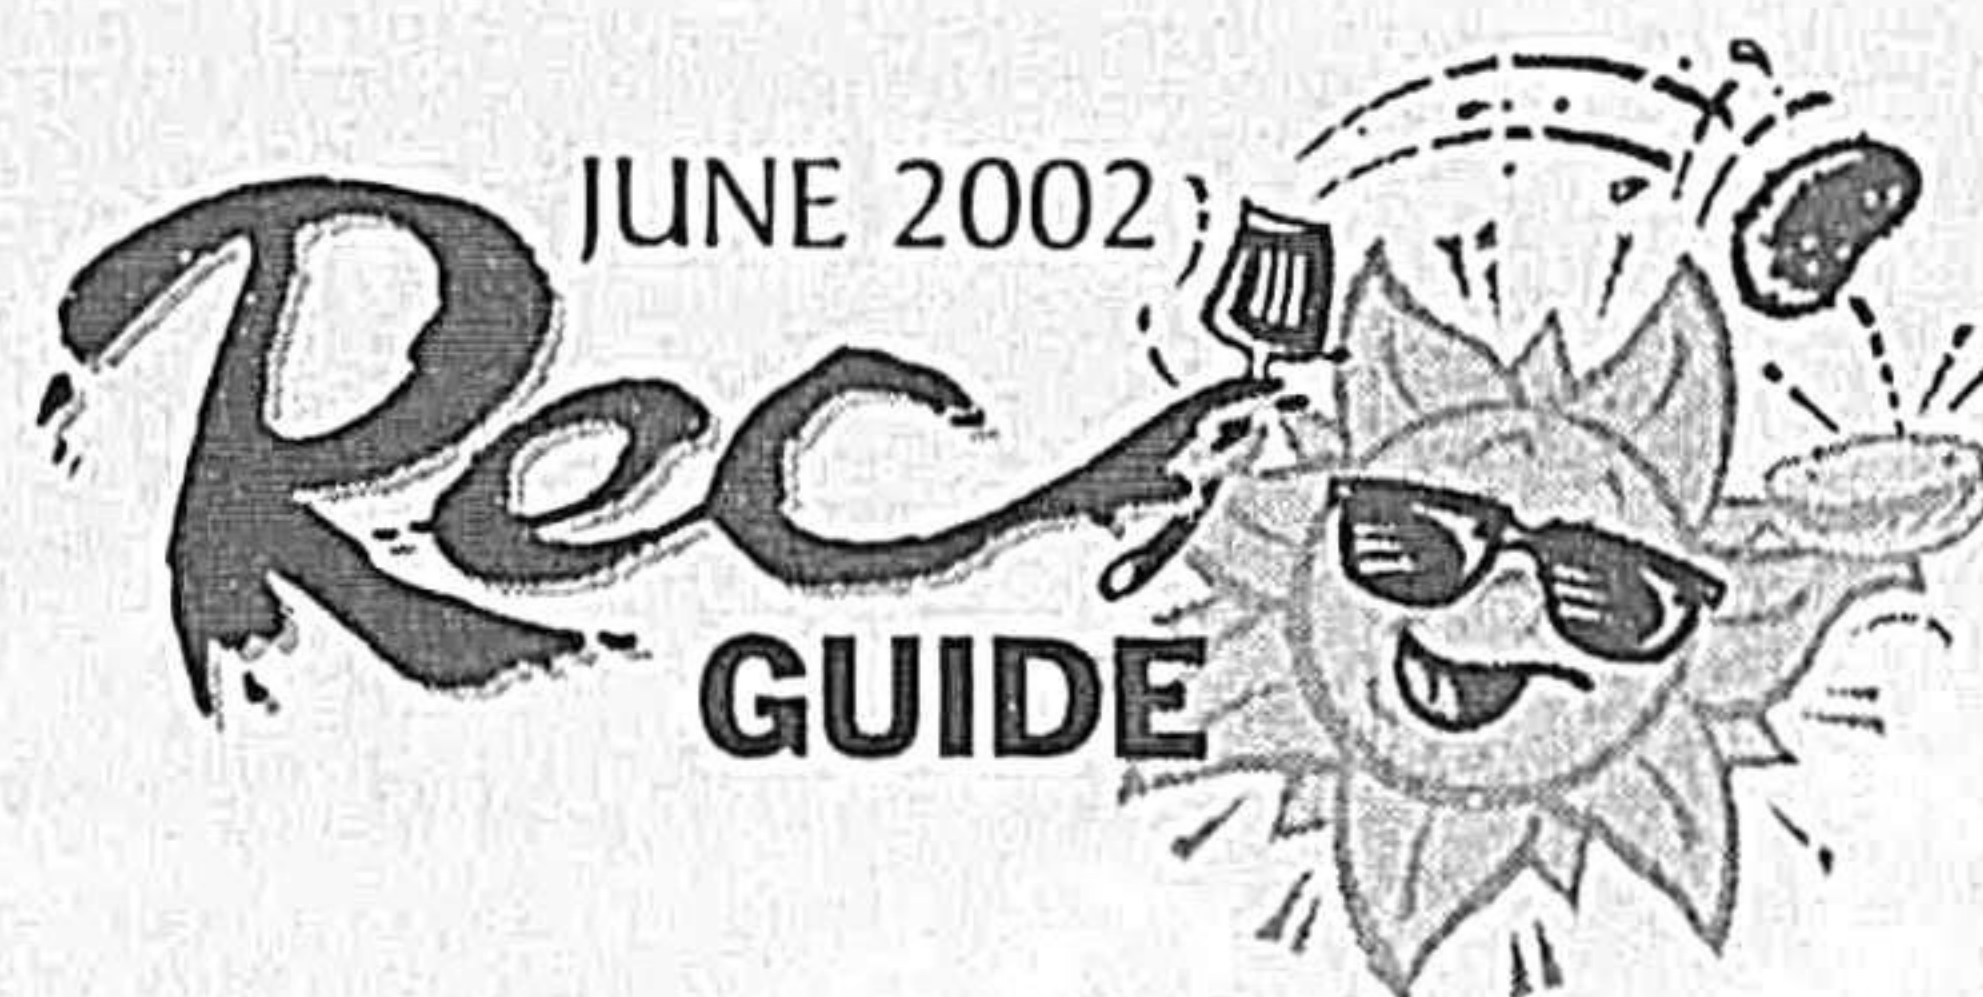

"We are expecting a better year, because there is a recession going on. When there is a recession, generally people stay close to home and kind of spend their money in the place they live in," Dogan said.

The Chain-O-Lakes, also known as The Fox Chain, was given its name because their nine lakes are connected by a series of channels, allowing boaters the chance to travel from lake to lake.

There are a number of different things to do on the Chain, including boating, canoeing, sailing, camping, swimming and fishing.

People planning to use their boat on the lakes will need to pay a user fee. Boats registered out of the State of Illinois will cost $10 to use for one day or $20 to use for five days. For more information on fees or any other boating questions, call Fox Waterway Agency at 847-587-8540.

Buoy identification

In 1998, the State of Illinois adopted the U.S. Coast Guard's Aids to Navigation System (USATONS). This system allowed the use of safe water mark buoy which is a red and white vertical striped buoy and uses a quick flashing white light on top. This buoy means safe water all around and is used to mark the mid channel of a waterway, and is commonly called a centerline buoy on the Fox Chain-O-Lakes. This buoy is currently being used on two lakes – Grass and Pistakee.

The use of this buoy has been a success in this system by giving boaters a wider channel to use, instead of funneling the traffic into marked fairway (reds and greens), which often created unsafe conditions due to the heavy congestion of boaters trying to fit in the marked channels. When approaching centerline boaters should pass to the right of the buoy - the easiest way to explain this to boaters is that the centerline buoy is similar to the yellow line on a highway.

The Fox Chain-O-Lakes uses the lateral system, not the cardinal system. The lateral system is used to mark the sides of channels and the common rules of red right return to port applies.

• Red and white vertical striped buoy

This buoy is a safe watermark used to mark the mid-channel, commonly called the centerline buoy. When approaching this buoy the vessel must pass to the right of the buoy, leaving the buoy on her port side. When lit, this buoy flashes a quick flashing or Morse Code A white light.

• Red buoy

When "returning from the sea" or heading upstream, red buoys must be on your starboard side. When leaving port or traveling downstream the red buoy must be on your port side. The red buoy when lit flashes a red light.

• Green buoy

When "returning from sea" or heading upstream the green buoy must be on your port side. When leaving port or heading downstream the green buoy must be on your starboard side. The green buoy when lit flashes a green light.

• White buoy with orange circle

Is a controlled area buoy, i.e. marks no-wake areas.

• White buoy with orange square

Is an information buoy, i.e. marina entrance, rest room one mile.

• White buoy with orange diamond

Is a hazard buoy, i.e. marks danger areas, shallows, and rocks.

• White buoy with orange diamond and cross through it

Is a restricted area buoy, i.e. swim area, no boats.

The new extension of the Des Plaines River Trail at Route 120, east of Route 21, will fill the gap and give patrons a continuous trail from Lake-Cook Road to the Wisconsin border.— Photo by Sandy Bressner

Wadsworth now connected to Lincolnshire

Bike enthusiasts can now ride from Wadsworth to Lincolnshire along a 29-mile trail that is adjacent to the Des Plaines River. The northern leg of the path, from Wadsworth to Washington Street in Gurnee, opened in 1989. The entire bike path has been planned since the 1970's.

The 14-mile southern portion of the path runs from Independence Grove Forest Preserve in Libertyville to Half Day Road in Lincolnshire. The latest leg of the path is a 4-mile stretch connecting Washington Street to Independence Grove.

The path joining the two legs is a 14-foot wide gravel path and includes a 500-foot wooden boardwalk along the riverbank at Route 120. The boardwalk is nearly complete.

Two underpasses needed to be built, one under the Tri-State Tollway and the other under Route 120, in order to connect the two legs. The underpasses will allow riders to ride the path without having to encounter vehicular traffic.

Voters approved a Forest Preserve District bond issue and the bond provided the funding necessary for the final 4-mile leg of the project. Hikers and bikers alike will be able to enjoy the scenery along the Des Plaines River throughout the county.

A future 4-mile leg is planned to continue the path from Half Day Road to the Lake-Cook boundary.—By Steve Skinner

The Northern Chain-O-Lakes

The Chain-O-Lakes are located approximately 40 miles northwest of Chicago, just south of the Illinois/Wisconsin border.

The Chain-O-Lakes, also called "The Fox Chain," consists of nine major lake basins thereby making it the largest inland recreational water area in all of northeastern Illinois. The majority of the lakes reside in western Lake County and partially in McHenry County. They were given the name "Chain of Lakes" as they are connected by a series of channels, which allow travel from lake to lake.

The Chain-O-Lakes area was inhabited by central Algonquin tribes when Europeans first arrived in the mid-1600s. The predominant tribes in the region at that time were the Miami, Mascouten and Potawatomi. These Native American groups led a semi-mobile lifestyle and grew corn, hunted, fished and gathered wild plant foods. Joliet and Marquette passed through what today is Chain-O-Lakes State Park in 1673, as they traveled the Fox River during their Illinois explorations.

The Northern Section of the Chain-O-Lakes is located entirely in Lake County. Lake Catherine and Channel Lake are the northern most and are bordered on the north by the Illinois/Wisconsin state line. Grass Lake is the southern most (and largest) with direct access to the Fox River and the Chain-O-Lakes State Park. Totalling 2,433 acres with a deep point of 42 feet in Channel Lake, the Northern Section is comprised of Bluff Lake, Channel Lake, Grass Lake, Lake Catherine and Lake Marie.

For more information on the Chain-O-Lakes, visit the website at www.lake-online.com/chainolakes

Gurnee Theatre Company successful with first performance

Doug McDade and Mark Heller, co-founders of the new Gurnee Theater Company, tour their new home at Gurnee Mills. The 10,000 square-foot space, formerly Champs Sports, will be rented from the outlet mall for a reduced price. — Photo by Sandy Bressner

With their spring production of Moss Hart's "Light Up The Sky" behind them, the Gurnee Theatre Company is gearing up for what they hope is a successful run in the theatre industry.

The GTC's founders, Doug McDade and Mark Heller, have brought instant credibility to their show's productions with an extensive and impressive resume that has spanned over two decades. Heller has been a professional actor and director in Chicago and Lake County for 25 years, while McDade has over 50 stage credits to his name.

The theatre was opened in January of this year after Gurnee Mills provided a temporary lease that enabled McDade and Heller enough time to get the company off its feet and open "Light Up The Sky" in April.

"They offered us a great deal, and at the time we didn't have anything else," Heller said. "It was a situation of being in the right place at the right time."

Gurnee Mills has helped in the early success of the theatre, including GTC in their radio and print advertisements.

After settling on the Gurnee Mills location, their next problem was trying to find a way to seat the patrons attending the performances. At the time, the company had risers that would accommodate 200 people, but after the risers didn't meet the fire code-compliance, the duo was forced to look elsewhere.

"We handled the situation pretty well," Heller said. "We were able to get some nice risers on loan from a school and the park district loaned us some chairs. Everyone who went to the shows got a nice seat."

The four-week run of "Light Up The Sky" was deemed a success, getting good reviews from a number of critics and leaving Heller feeling positive about the future.

"We did real well in terms of the response that we got," Heller said. "We had over 1,000 people come out to see it. We feel like we got off to a real good start."

The GTC will focus much of their efforts on comedies, and hope to produce plays from the golden age of Broadway, which are rarely seen on the stage today.

The next big production is slated for this fall, when George Bernard Shaw's "Devil's Disciples" hits the stage.

This summer, the theatre will be having a Fourth of July presentation for the village of Gurnee, where there will be a staging of the Declaration of Independence. The GTC will also have a children's theatre academy during the summer. There will be workshops for the children, who at the end of the program will perform live at the theatre. All the classes will be held at Gurnee Mills Mall. For more information or to request a registration form, contact the GTC at 847-775-1950. —By Scott Venci

Berry happenin'!

Strawberries mean summer in Wisconsin, and that means its time to celebrate the most luscious fruit of the season during Historic Cedarburg's 17th Annual Strawberry Festival, Saturday, June 22, and Sunday, June 23. Hours are 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Sunday.

Ripe, juicy berries are king, featuring strawberry pie, strawberry slush, strawberry schaum-torte, chocolate-covered strawberries, strawberry ice cream, Cedar Creek Winery's Strawberry Blush wine and Fechter's delectable homegrown berries-by-the-quart. When you've overindulged in succulent strawberries, there are plenty of savory food courts all over town to enjoy.

Cedar Creek Settlement hosts the famous Sunday Morning Strawberry Pancake Breakfast from 8-10:30 a.m., drawing hundreds of families outdoors for an all-you-can-eat summertime treat.

Festival-goers will enjoy strolling through the Strawberry Festival country Craft Fair at the Community Center, the Fine Art Fair at the Cedarburg Cultural Center, the Poet's Corner and Flower Market, and, the blockbuster event of 2002, The Plein Air Painting Competition and Auction. Saturday, the Ozaukee Humane Society's Pet Talent Show takes stage at Cedar Creek Settlement at 11 a.m.

Lively music all over the Festival's Historic District will feature reggae, top 40, bluegrass, jazz, '50s & '60s rock and Dixieland. Strawberry contests include strawberry pie eating, strawberry bubblegum blowing, and the Berry Bob both days.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Ozaukee County sponsor the Berry Big 5K Run/Walk/Roll on Saturday morning at 9 a.m. Cedar Creek Winery offers winery tours and tastings all day, while the Pig Roast is a favorite at Morton's. The Marketplace is a fun place to shop and there will be plenty of free fun things for kids at the Kid's Stage at Cedarburg Cultural Center, then hop aboard a hay-wagon for a bird's-eye view of the festival and Cedarburg's historic downtown.

Come celebrate the Strawberry Extravaganza in Historic Cedarburg, just 20 minutes north of Milwaukee. Take I-43 North, exit 89. Go west on Highway C. Turn right at Washington Avenue to the Historic District.

For more information, call 262-377-9620, 800-237-2874 or 800-827-8020, or visit the web site at www.cedarburgfestivals.org.

The Organic Food hosts tours

Organic farm tour and potluck picnics fill the Organic Food Network's summer calendar as the network goes traveling!

On Sunday, June 16, the Organic Food Network will host a tour and potluck picnic from 1 -6 p.m. at Underwood Gardens in Woodstock. Members of the network will get a rare behind the scenes tour of the grounds, greenhouse and other buildings where Underwood Garden's mother and daughter owners save and package organic and rare heirloom seeds for sale to organic gardeners across the country. Those attending will be able to buy seeds and organic plants for their own organic gardens.

In July, the network travels to Prairie Crossing Community-Supported Garden in Grayslake for a tour and potluck picnic on Sunday, July 21 from 1-6 p.m. Fresh food demos will be offered as well as the opportunity to purchase organic produce and flowers from the farm.

The Organic Food Networks wraps up its summer potlucks at Blackwell Forest Preserve in Warrenville on Sunday, Aug. 18. A picnic highlighted by fresh food demos and games will be held at the East Shelter starting at 1 p.m.

All are asked to bring an organic, vegan, uncooked dish to share along with the recipe and a reusable place setting

Stonewall Orchard rated one of the best

Stonewall Orchard, which opened in the summer of 1999, is ranked as one of the 10 best public golf courses in the Chicago area.

Located at 25675 West Highway 60 in Grayslake, the golf club features two different courses that offer serious challenges. There is a 4,968-yard junior short course, along with a 72 par, 7,074-yard championship course that's the home of annual Illinois PGA golf tournaments. The club just played host to the Illinois PGA stroke play in early May, and come September will be the home to the Illinois Senior Championship.

One of the best features for golfers is the price. A round of 18 on Monday and Tuesday costs just $69 to walk, with the rest of the week priced at $72. Depending on the time of day, golfers can pay as little as $39 for 18 rounds of golf.

"A lot of people are telling us that to play a course like the quality of ours costs over $100 with a cart," said course owner Bob Malpedi.

Malpedi settled on the location of the course after an extensive search. He was pleased with the quality of the land from the moment he laid eyes on it.

"It had all the features I was looking for," Malpedi said about the property. "It already had mature trees and a beautiful wetland. And it had space."

Malpedi's favorite part of the course isn't the greens or the notoriously tough hole six. It's the scenery of the property. The land has over 65,000 pine and oak trees, with acres of wetlands, wildlife and hills.

For reservations or more information, call 847-740-4890 or visit the Stonewall Orchard's web site at www.stonewallorchard.com. -By Scott Venci

Improving your golf game

Golf season is here and as you look ahead do you wish you could improve that score just a little? Of course you do! Every golfer is on a quest for improved performance. Combining professional lessons with more practice is the most common approach and seems very logical. However, few golfers recognize the need for adding proper physical conditioning to their regimen.

According to Paul Chek, author of The Golf Biomechanic's Manual, "Amateur golfers achieve approximately 90 percent of their peak muscle activity when driving a golf ball. This is the same intensity as picking up a weight that can only be lifted four times before total fatigue. Yet golfers fail to consider that they strike the ball an average of 30 to 40 times before total fatigue. Yet golfers fail to consider that they strike the ball an average of 30 to 40 times a game with comparable intensity!"

This degree of muscular exertion is equal to such sports as football, hockey, and boxing. These athletes, however, include conditioning for such physical demands of their sport. The key conditioning factors necessary to improve ball flight (club face alignment, swing path, angle of attack, and speed) for every golfer are: (1) muscle balance and flexibility, (2) postural stability, (3) strength, and (4) power.

All golfers agree that flexibility is a key component. It is the number one ingredient necessary for all aspects of golf conditioning. Once necessary flexibility is gained and muscular balance is attained, stationary (static) and moving (dynamic) postural stability can be developed. This will provide a foundation for related movements such as back swing and follow through, and gold specific exercises, as well as reduces incident or risk of injury. Strength training will follow stability work with functional exercises adaptable to the golf game. This can improve many muscular functions. Progressing to power the final phase of conditioning, this can help produce a farther drive.

To truly improve performance in your golf game, you must first correct any underlying causes of injury. Although assessment often discovers these hidden problems and corrective exercise program focusing on balance, flexibility, stability, strength, and finally power can be implemented.

Keep in mind, the fastest way to improve your golf score is to improve you, the golfer. As stated by Chek, "It should come as no surprise to the reader that these very principles apply not only to every athlete, but every human being; they are universal."

For additional information on golf conditioning programs or to purchase Paul Chek's book The Golf Biomechanic's Manual contact John McNulty Personal Trainers, Inc. in Lake Forest at 847-816-0250, fax 847-548-1565 or on the web site at www.jmpersonaltrainers.com.

Beach Boys among performers at Ravinia this summer

With a list of superstar performers, Ravinia festival in Highland Park is expected to be as hot as the weather this summer. Bernadette Peters is scheduled to appear June 7, with Smokey Robinson playing for his devoted fans on June 12. Others on tap for the summer include: Trisha Yearwood (June 12), The B-52s (July 3), Peter, Paul and Mary (July 24), The Doobie Brothers (July 31), Tony Bennett (Aug. 15, 16) and the Beach Boys (Sept. 8).

Tickets can be purchased By visiting Ravinia's web site, www.ravinia.org, customers can place an order for tickets from the comfort of their home. A $5 service charge will be added to any online orders.

It's also possible to fax a request by printing and filling out an order form at the web site. The fax number is 847-266-0641. Like the online orders, a $5 service charge will be included.

Tickets ordered more than 10 days before a performance will be mailed to the customer. Those ordering tickets within 10 days of the show will be required to pick them up at the Ravinia Festival Box Office. The Ravinia's box office opens on Saturday, May 25, at 9 a.m. Customers who order their tickets directly from the box office that day will save 20 percent on all reserved-seat tickets, except for the July 22 Rachmaninoff Vespers performance. In addition, a limited number of seats to sold-out shows will be offered to those who buy their tickets in person.

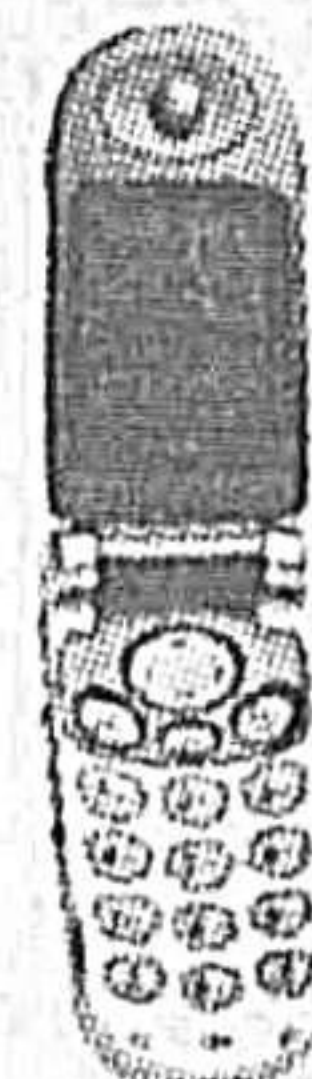

Opening day at the Ravinia's box office will be broadcast by Chicago's fine arts station, WFMT, 98.7 FM, from 9 a.m.-1:30 p.m. For more information, contact Ravinia at 847-266-5100.—Scott Venci

Keeps patrons laughing

Jackie Mason has been there. So has Andrew Dice Clay. Ditto for Pauly Shore and Bobcat Goldthwait. They have all performed at one time or another at Zanies comedy club in Vernon Hills. Zanies prides themselves on bringing the world's best comedians to their comedy club, having attracted entertainers like David Brenner, Richard Lewis and Tommy Chong in the past.

This summer will be no different. Goldthwait will be appearing on Aug. 3, with the legendary Mason set to perform Aug. 16-18.

Located at 230 Hawthorn Village Commons, Zanies is open Wednesday-Saturday, with two shows on both Friday and Saturday.

Zanies suggests getting tickets well in advance for the bigger names, as they usually sell out quickly. For more information, contact Zanies at 847-549-6030 or visit their web site at www.vvh.net/zanies.
